Situation continues to worsen

Gas cutbacks facing homes this winter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Natural gas shortages this winter could affect residential consumers and small businesses for the first time, according to the attorney for a major natural gas pipeline company.

Thomas Ryan, attorney for the Transcontinental Gas Pipeline Co. (Transco) told a Federal Power Commission hearing Wednesday that the firm will be forced to impose natural gas curtailments this winter to its distributors of about 40 per cent compared with a 26 per cent cut last winter.

Unlike past curtailments, these cuts may not be able to be borne completely by industrial customers and other relatively low-priority gas users, Ryan said.

Transco is the first interstate pipeline to state publicly that its curtailments might affect top-priority users. The firm sells gas in states from Texas to New York. In at least two states, North Carolina and Delaware, Transco is the only supplier of natural gas.

The distributors — natural gas companies which buy gas from pipelines and then resell it to the public — in certain instances may have no choice but to pass these curtailments on in some degree to their residential and small business customers, Ryan said.

He said preliminary figures by Transco accountants showed that as much as 2.5 per cent of the gas earmarked for residential and small business customers may have to be curtailed this winter.

"The only thing that can be done to help this pipeline this winter and other pipelines is to get more gas into the system," Ryan said.

Meanwhile, Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., a leader of the congressional effort to develop an energy program, said Wednesday the scheduled expiration of domestic oil price controls Aug. 31 would drive gasoline prices up to as much as 90 cents a gallon.

The nationwide average cost of gasoline at the pump now is about 58 cents a gallon. The Ford administration has predicted the end of price controls would boost the price by about 3 cents a gallon after Aug. 31.

Before beginning its August recess, Congress sent President Ford a bill extending the price controls for six more months. Ford has said he will veto the extension.

In the natural gas picture, FPC rules provide that homes and small businesses get the highest priority of gas users and may not have their supplies interrupted until all other categories are cut off.

Ryan later told reporters that the possibility that some top-priority users might have to have their gas curtailed is theoretical and based on Transco projections of anticipated supply and demand.

Paul R. Bigley, senior vice president of Columbia Gas Distribution Companies, which includes Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., said industries face at least a 65 per cent cutback.

In testimony before the legislature's Joint Select Committee on Energy, Bigley said Columbia's present curtailment plan calls for stopping all natural gas going to large volume boilers and to large industrial users who can use other fuels.

But even then, he said, industry can expect a 65 per cent curtailment and large commercial users a 40 per cent curtailment.

Bigley blamed the federal government for setting artificially low prices for natural gas in interstate pipelines, thus discouraging exploration and investment.

"When Congress moves to deregulate the price of new gas at the wellhead, something it has balked at for three years now, then we expect to see exploration and drilling resume and gas production rise," he said.

But he added that it would require three to five years to build up new gas supplies.

Another Columbia executive told the committee the Ohio consumer has been treated well by utilities in the past, a point which he said should not be forgotten when considering changes in utility law.

Ralph N. Mahaffey, Columbia Gas vice president for governmental affairs, said natural gas shortages now result from problems beyond the utility companies' control.

"It seems to me that the consumer has fared well under the statutes enacted in previous sessions of the General Assembly," Mahaffey said. "Rates for utility service are low in Ohio compared to other states. The quality of service is good.

"For many years we have furnished natural gas on the coldest days to heat residences in Ohio and to provide natural gas for the requirements of Ohio's many industries for which natural gas is essential.

"Now, our industrial customers are suffering, but this is not because of Ohio law," he said.

"The reason for this deficiency in supply is overregulation by agencies of the federal government and a lack of action by the Congress of the United States to take affirmative steps to provide proper incentives for exploration and production in areas where there should be natural gas," he said.

After phasing out Dayton facility

By SANDY FOSSON

The Dyna Corp., a small manufacturing company which produces electrical motors and bench grinders for industrial use, has moved the complete operations of the firm to the Washington C.H. plant at 1110 Lakeview Ave. after phasing out its Dayton factory.

Joe Daugherty, plant manager of the Washington C.H. firm, said the last 25 to 39 machines being moved this week from the Dayton plant after nearly a year of gradual phasing out of the Dayton firm was primarily an economic decision but it also "put control of the business under one roof."

The Dayton plant, where the company originated some 50 years ago, had only been conducting a portion of the manufacturing for the past seven months, Daugherty said, and the company was finding it quite expensive to trasport materials between the two plants.

The Dyna Corp., which started production in Washington C.H. in 1946 under the name of the Brown and Brockmeyer Co., had at one time a work force of 80 with plans of increasing the employment to 100 in 1967 when the company expanded the floor space of the plant with a major addition.

However, the economy began to hit the company gradually in recent years and the total employment has now dropped to 16 active workers on a 40-hour work week with 20 employes currently on furlough.'

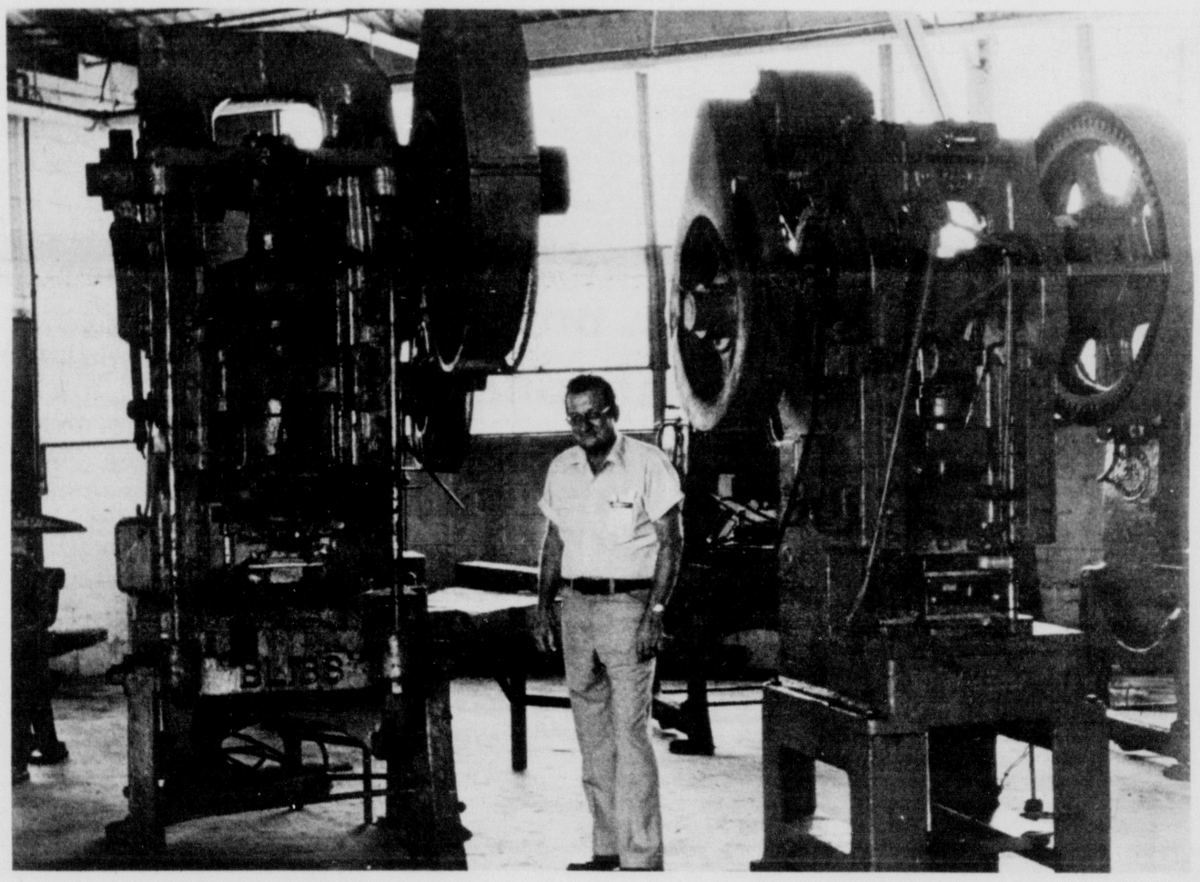
Daugherty said that while the addition of the extra equipment from the Dayton plant would probably necessitate some additional help, he could not say if all 20 workers on furlough would be called to return to their jobs.

Daugherty said he was not at liberty to release any information regarding the amount of production or sales by the company annually.

The Dyna Corp. specializes in the complete assembly of electric motors and bench grinders primarily used by industries and ships its products throughout the United States and several areas abroad.

Daugherty, who has been plant manager for 23 years and an employe of the Dyna Corp. for 34 years, said the company office workers from the Dayton plant would be relocated to the subsidiary plant in Wilmington, the National Gear Co., but would not state whether supervisory and production employes from the Dayton facility were being transferred to either of the other two plants.

Daugherty said the move of the additional machinery to the Washington C.H. firm "is bound to help business here" and will "give better control of the business."



NEW DYNA CORP. EQUIPMENT — Joe Daugherty, plant manager of the Dyna Corp. in Washington C. H., is dwarfed by the large punch presses moved to the local plant this week in the final shutdown of the Dayton plant. The machines will punch out steel parts for use on the electrical motors produced at the plant.

Kissinger attempts to pin down Mideast pact

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

The Israeli government mounted the strongest airport guard in its history today to ward off hostile demonstrations and terrorist attacks during the arrival of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, who is trying to pin down a new Sinai agreement between Israel and Egypt.

Border troops, other soldiers and police took up stations at Ben-Gurion International Airport long before Kissinger arrived. Officials said security was tighter than when former President Richard M. Nixon visited Israel in 1974.

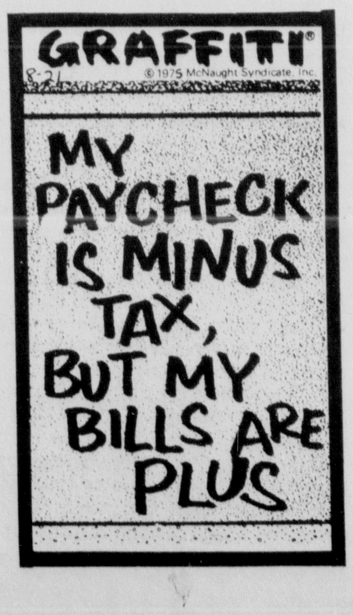
The Israeli government's concern for Kissinger's safety was heightened by the interception of three Arab guerrillas near the Lebanese border Wednesday and angry anti-Kissinger demonstrations in Jerusalem and Haifa.

Israeli planes flew deep into Lebanese air space Wednesday to attack a Palestinian guerrilla base in northeast Lebanon in retaliation for the abortive guerrilla raid.

Israel's ambassador to Washington, Simcha Dinitz, arrived in advance of Kissinger and said a new Israeli-Egyptian accord "was certainly not in the bag" yet. He said a number of major points require clarification, but "much progress" had been made toward agreement.

Former Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, who was on the same plane with Dinitz, reiterated his opposition to the proposed agreement "as I now know it."

Diplomatic sources in Washington said that Kissinger still lacks the 90 per cent certainty of success that he said he would need to resume back-and-forth "Shuttle diplomacy" between Jerusalem and Cairo to put a new Israeli-Egyptian agreement into final form. But they said he has the major outline of a pact in sight, including Israeli evacuation of the Gidi and Mitla mountain passes and the Abu Rudeis and Balain oilfields.



Leaving Washington Wednesday night, Kissinger said he would spare no effort to obtain an agreement during his visit, which is scheduled to last 10 days. "No area is more in need of peace than the Middle East," he said.

President Ford and Kissinger have warned of renewed warfare in the region if the negotiations fail and, according to Ford, an inevitable Arab boycott like the one after the 1973 war that led to fuel shortages in the United States, Western Europe and Japan.

Despite mounting opposition among the Israeli people, Kissinger believes Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin's government is on the verge of doing what it wouldn't during his last visit in March — agreeing to give up the Sinai gateways without obtaining a non-belligerency pledge from Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

However, Egypt is reported ready to give assurances at yearly intervals for a three-year extension of the U.N. pacekeeping force in Sinai and to promise not to use force unless Egypt or its allies are attacked by the Jewish state.

Demonstrations against Kissinger's visit and the proposed Sinai accord broke out in Israel Wednesday for the third day.

Police said they detained seven protesters in Jerusalem following two demonstrations by hundreds of right-wing youths inside the capital.

In Haifa, Israel's chief port, hundreds marched through the streets, many of them dressed in black, carrying black umbrellas and chanting "Munich, Munich, Munich" to recall British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's abandonment of Czechoslovakia to Hitler.

Five demonstrators broke into Foreign Minister Yigal Allon's residence in the ancient Jewish quarter of Jerusalem. Police evicted them by force and scattered a crowd of about 200 outside.

The Israeli military command said its planes attacked the El Ham base of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine about 35 miles east of Beirut. It was the deepest Israeli penetration of Lebanese air space since the 1973 war except for reconnaissance flights.

Consumer prices rise again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soaring prices for food, gasoline and used cars pushed consumer prices up 1.2 per cent in July, the biggest monthly rise in inflation this year and the first in double figures since last September, the government reported today.

Last month's increase compared with a rise of eighttenths of a per cent in June, providing further evidence that inflationary pressure remains a serious problem for the economy as it recovers from its worst recession since the 1930's.

The Labor Department said food prices rose 1.9 per cent in July, the biggest increase since a 2 per cent jump in August 1974. Gasoline prices jumped 4.3 per cent and used cars were up nearly 4 per cent. Officials said these increases accounted for three-fourths of the July increase.

Despite the grim news on the price front, the government was expected to report later in the day that revised figures for the Gross National Product would show that growth resumed during the second quarter of the year following several months of decline.

Ford administration economists have been bracing consumers to expect a sharp increase in the inflation rate, but they contend it will be only temporary and not foreshadow a return to the sustained double-digit inflation that prevailed most of 1974.

The Consumer Price Index stood at 162.3 last month, 9.7 per cent higher than a year ago. That meant it cost $16.20 to buy a variety of goods and services which could have been purchased for $10 in the 1967 base period.

With the new surge in inflation, the pay of American workers failed to keep up with rising prices. Real spendable earnings — what's left after adjustment for taxes and inflation — dropped five-tenths of a per cent in July. Over the year, real earnings were down threetenths of 1 per cent.

Prices of most foods rose in July, with fresh vegetables, poultry and pork leading the way. Beef prices also were up but less than in May or June. Dairy products jumped in price for the first time this year. Egg prices, after two months of decline, also rose.

About the only good news in the food price picture was a 14.5 per cent drop in sugar prices.

Ohio State Fair opened by Rhodes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes and his wife cut a ribbon at 6:12 a.m. today to open the 12-day 1975 Ohio State Fair.

Then Rhodes hopped onto a tractor pulling a shuttle bus and drove some state fair officials to a breakfast on the fairgrounds.

Two million persons are expected to visit the exposition between today and Sept. 1.

The governor is traditionally among the first to be admitted to the fair each year.

Teacher Ray Hammack, who designed the 1975 fair theme of "Your Ticket to Fun" for a slogan contest and was chosen from among 8,000 entries, was selected to join the governor. He also receives a $150 check and accommodations at a motel during the fair's first weekend.

The fair, on 360 acres just off I-71 in Columbus, remains open from 6 a.m. to nearly midnight Thursday through Sept. 1. Admission is $2 for adults, 50 cents for children under 12 with children admitted free until noon every weekday. Parking costs $1.

A free grandstand show is held each day at 4:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. with such stars as Mac Davis, Merle Haggard, Roger Miller, Paul Anka, Pat Boone, Tanya Tucker, Bob Hope and The Osmonds entertaining.

On opening day, WTVN Radio Day, Mac Davis will begin a two-day engagement in the grandstand. Davis, making his fourth consecutive fair appearance, is credited with "Baby Don't Get Hooked on Me," "I Believe in Music," "Watching Scotty Grow," "In the Ghetto," and "Something's Burning."

Also at the fair Thursday, the gates will open with music by the All-Ohio State Fair Youth Choir, formal ribbon cutting by the governor and flag raising by the Ohio State Fair Junior Fair Board.

At 10 a.m., the "Fair Within a Fair," recreating an 1850 state fair, opens at the Ohio Historical Society for a 12-day run.

Also scheduled Thursday is a 4-H tractor operator's contest, FFA chapter queen contest, Appalachian Green Parks Project (a folk singing group), circus marching band festival, draft pony hitch class, and All-Ohio State Fair band.

Friday is Crippled Children's Day and Agricultural Hall of Fame Day. At 8 a.m. Friday, a junior fair barrow showmanship exhibition, junior fair market lamb show, and draft horse show are scheduled.

And on Friday, the Agricultural Hall of Fame breakfast, junior fair barrow show, Ohio State Grange talent contest, baton twirling contest, 4-H woodworking day, auto thrill show, All-Ohio State Fair girl's band, junior fair Guernsey and Jersey show, junior fair poultry judging, 4-H safety speaking contest and Miss COEA Queen contest.

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— The only two-time winner of the Ohio Lottery, mumbled from his wheelchair, it was a "curse."

William Chisley has seen nothing but trouble since winning $15,000 Oct. 3, 1974 and $60,000 more two weeks later.

The Ohio Lottery Commission said Chisley is the only person to have been a finalist twice.

Chisley was in good health a year ago. He predicted he'd buy a new house and do anything he wanted for the rest of his life with the $75,000.

Today, he sits in a nursing home watching television, playing bingo and waiting to return to the hospital where his foot will be amputated.

A month after winning the lotteries he entered Cincinnati Veterans Hospital with heart trouble. Complications followed that kept him in and out of the hospital for nine months, suffering from low blood sugar and bleeding ulcers.

His dream of a new home faded as he had to sell his old modest frame house and moved to a nursing home for special treatment.

His foot must be amputated because it became infected and gangreneous.

Chisley is now unable to speak more than a few barely audible words at a time and most of his story had to be told by his daughter, Mrs. Carrie Thomas.

"After he won, he would get threatening phone calls," she said. "They would say they wanted some of his money or else something would happen to him.

She said people would break into his house and ransack the place looking for his winnings.

The winnings so far are checks for $15,000, mailed yearly, said Mrs. Thomas. She has taken over management of his winnings.

Most of the first check has gone for medical expenses. "I don't know how I would have been able to afford the bills if we didn't have the money he won," said Mrs. Thomas.

Speaking slowly, Chisley said it looks now like the lottery was "a curse" because nearly a year after the day on which he should have been able to afford to do anything he pleased, he can do nothing.

Brown probes investigation shutdown

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio Attorney General William J. Brown Wednesday asked why the Ohio Department of Liquor Control didn't pursue its 1968 investigation into activities of Edward W. Payne, a former Cleveland liquor agent.

Brown made the remarks in reference to a Cleveland Plain Dealer story which said that a former self-confessed bagman passed a lie detector test administered by state liquor agents in which he alleged that he made payments to Payne.

Payne, who then was a state liquor agent, resigned and later became warden of the Cuyahoga County Jail and a key aide to Sheriff Ralph E. Kreiger.

"It's true that the results of lie detector tests are not admissible (in court)," Brown said. "but the question in my mind, as it would be in any lawyer's mind, is why didn't they pursue it with that information in hand."

The investigation ended three months after Kreiger's election. The file collected on Payne has never been made public.

Max Lambert, administrative assistant to the state liquor director, told the newspaper the investigation was discontinued because "we could not see that we had enough for prosecution."

However, Highway Safety Director Donald D. Cook, who in 1968 was state liquor director, said the investigation ended because Payne resigned his job.

The Plain Dealer also says it has a sworn affidavit from a cheat spot operator who alleges that he paid Payne $100 a month for a year to avoid being raided.

In reply to the newspaper's stories, Marion Koszweski, chief administrative assistant to the Kreiger, said that the investigation against Payne was dropped because of lack of evidence. He added that the proper place to test the validity of the charges is in the courts and not in the mass media.

Police find hydrant ablaze

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Just before dawn a police dispatcher sat straight in his chair and asked: "What did you say was on fire?"

The patrolman's voice came back over the police radio loud and clear. "I said there's a fire hydrant on fire."

There were laughs in the quiet police radio room as the dispatcher came back on the air to say, "A fire hydrant, huh? Can't you turn on the water?"

"I don't have a wrench," the patrolman responded. "It's burning pretty good. Better notify the fire department."

Now it was the fire department's turn.

"What did you say was on fire?" asked the fire department dispatcher.

The police dispatcher explained that a hydrant had been doused with a flammable liquid and was burning on the east side. "A patrolman is standing there watching it," he added for authenticity.

A fire truck arrived about 4:30 a.m. and put out the blaze, fueled by a mixture of glue and paint on the hydrant.

U.S. eases some parts of embargo

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will announce today a partial lifting of the American economic embargo against Cuba, State Department sources disclosed.

The sources said the announcement will permit American firms operating in third countries to sell goods to Cuba for the first time in well over a decade.

The move is more of a gesture toward third countries than toward Cuba, the sources said, but they acknowledged it probably will be interpreted as a softening of the American position toward the Havana regime.

The decision will not affect two-way trade with Cuba, which has been banned by law since 1962. The State Department has asked Congress not to repeal that legislation, reasoning that it should be subject to negotiations with Cuba once bilateral talks on a normalization of relations begin.

Foreign countries have long complained about the restraints on sales to Cuba by American corporations operating within their borders.

Argentina and Canada, for example, have argued that the United States has no business trying to regulate the sales of American firms incorporated under the laws of those countries.

In April 1974, the State Department, in a major departure from previous policy, announced it would grant three U.S. auto manufacturers in Argentina licenses to export vehicles to Cuba.

Argentina had threatened the corporations with nationalization unless the deal were allowed to go through.

Kissinger plot figure arrested

JERUSALEM (AP) — Police have detained an Israeli man on suspicion of conspiracy to assassinate Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, a spokesman said today.

The man, who was not identified, was picked up Wednesday night, less than 24 hours before Kissinger was due in Israel on his latest peace mission.

No other arrests have been made in connection with the case and further details were withheld.

Stock list plummets

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up about 4 points after the first hour, was down 1.10 at 792.16 by noon. Losers led gainers by a 4-3 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

As trading began, the government reported that its Consumer Price Index surged ahead at a 14.4 per cent annual rate in July, with both the food and non-food sectors registering two-digit increases.

Brokers traced the early upswing to some cautious bargain-hunting and short-covering—the repurchase of borrowed shares sold earlier in hopes of profiting from price declines.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks was off .10 at 44.20.

O'Brien questioned on Hoffa

DETROIT (AP) — Charles L. O'Brien was interviewed by investigators for five hours about the disappearance of Jimmy Hoffa, O'Brien's attorney says.

O'Brien, the foster son of the former Teamsters union boss, has been under pressure from the Hoffa family to take a lie detector test about his possible role in Hoffa's disappearance.

Attorney James Burdick said Wednesday that O'Brien spoke with a Michigan State Police officer and two FBI agents at the State Police office at Detroit Metropolitan Airport on Monday.

He said the question of a lie detector test was discussed but that O'Brien would not take one.

Burdick said the interview covered "very specific details on Mr. O'Brien's whereabouts" over a period of three or four days around July 30, the day Hoffa disappeared. He declined to elaborate.

The FBI refused all comment.

Meanwhile, Robert Ozer, head of the U.S. Justice Department's Organized Crime Strike Force in Detroit, said preparations to take the case to a federal grand jury were on schedule.

Federal officials hope the grand jury action will help them gain information from reluctant witnesses about Hoffa's fate.

Chase ends in arrest

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Jerry Lee Bittner, 31, Richmond, Ind., was scheduled to be returned to Cincinnati authorities today on charges of kidnapping and aggravated robbery following a wild road chase through southwestern Ohio Tuesday night amid numerous shots.

A total of 17 police departments were involved in the chase. Bittner was wounded in the leg after running a fourth roadblock, police said.

Hamilton police said Bittner forced his way into the car of Diane Jones, 21, of Hamilton at gunpoint in a parking lot and drove off after she jumped from the car.

Police charged a similar incident in Cincinnati in which Debra Malof, 19, was abducted in her car later. She escaped in suburban Glendale at a construction site.

Police forced Bittner off Ohio 4 after the car crashed through four road blocks after being chased for speeding, police said.

I would like to thank my family, friends, and neighbors, for all the cards, flowers, gifts and visits and their prayers, Rev. Hodgens for his visits.

And thanks to all the nurses and girls in housekeeping. A very special thanks to Dr. Herbert, Dr. Shaw, Dr. Roszmann, while I was a patient in Fayette Memorial Hospital.

Tiny woman has baby

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A tiny woman with a big heart gave birth here Wednesday to a baby almost as big as herself.

The mother, Gloria Hurd of Orlando, Fla., a 23-year-old, 29-inch dwarf, became the mother of an 18½-inch son weighing 5 pounds, 9 ounces whom doctors said is normal.

"When Gloria came into the hospital," said her mother, Mrs. Fred G. Hurd of Cleveland, "she was all baby. She was as wide as she was tall."

The baby, Anthony Timbatchu, and the mother were reported in good condition.

Although dwarfs can give birth to normal-sized babies because of improved medical care, doctors attending the mother said, they termed it an unusual case.

Patronite sees lottery boost

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Gerald Patronite, acting director of the Ohio Lottery Commission who said his biggest current job is boosting sales, reports figures rose 9.43 per cent as the lottery began its second year.

Patronite said unofficial figures for the past week showed purchases totaled $2.39 million, or the equivalent of 4.79 million 50-cent tickets, adjusted to include the $1 Lucky Buck sales.

Earlier this week amidst a continuing controversy over allegations of irregularities, Patronite said in response to a question that his main effort now is to surpass Michigan's $143 million annual sales and Pennsylvania's $117 million.

No easy economic decisions by anyone

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Those in positions of leadership today know there are no easy decisions, no clear-cut answers, no sharply defined routes to follow, no positive actions that do not spin off some negative consequences.

They wish those who aren't in positions of power would understand this. At least that seems to be the lament, the frustration, of public officials. They might not express it publicly, but they do so in private.

Consider a few decisions and their ramifications:

—Sell more grain to the Soviet Union. It would further detente. It would help improve the U.S. trade balance and keep the U.S. dollar healthy. It would give U.S. farmers a good price for their labor and ingenuity.

But, it might also raise domestic food prices. It might arouse domestic strife because the AFL-CIO is angry about the lot of common people in the Soviet Union and highly disturbed about U.S. food prices.

—Pursue an easy money policy.

It would speed recovery from the recession. It would put people back to work. It might lower interest rates. It would help business finance its needs. It would, for a while at least help the stock market. It would help housing.

But, it probably would cause an acceleration of prices, a return to the very inflation that caused so many problems. And, it is feared, such a move would trigger a new recession in a year or so.

—Lend federal money to New York City.

It would help save financially distressed municipality. It would restore confidence in the municipal bond markets. It would give the city a chance to put its house in order.

But, it would also set a precedent — and there are fears that precedent would be followed widely. It wouldn't solve New York's problems or those of any other city — just postpone them.

"Out and About" with Mark Thellmann

Dear Readers,

Bill Metais, in the Record-Herald's ad department, has been spaced-out all week and in case you run into him on the streets, I think you should know why. Bill, who holds a bachelor's degree in music from Ohio Northern University - his main instrument being trumpet, went to see Maynard Ferguson perform with his orchestra at the Grandview Inn in Columbus last Saturday night.

Says Bill, who smiles reminiscently and takes a moment to answer when you ask him about the show, "It was one of the finest experiences I've ever had musically! Maynard has set forth a whole new dimension in the realm of jazz-rock both compositionally and performance-wise. One of the tightest groups I've ever hard!" Bill then mentally drifts back to the concert and mutters "wow" under his breath and you know you've lost contact.

Ferguson plays around the Ohio area frequently and we'll let ya know next time.

Love,
Mark

WILMINGTON, Ohio — Wilmington College will present another evening of free movies under the stars at 9 p.m. Friday, Aug. 22.

The movies will be shown outdoors on the college's Collett Mall, near the carillon. Admission is free and guests are urged to bring their own folding or lawn chairs or blankets to sit upon.

The feature film of the evening will be the Bette Davis, Joan Crawford chiller, "What Ever Happened To Baby Jane?"

When the film first came out, Time magazine called it "the year's scariest, funniest and most sophisticated chiller."

The story is about a has-been child star, "Baby Jane Hudson," whose cuteness has grown grotesque as she has grown older. Tension builds as the taut drama unfolds, building to a shocking climax. The film was nominated for five Academy Awards and won one.

Also shown that evening will be three humorous short films: "Pigskin Capers," "The Great McGonigle," and "Them Thar Hills."

Laurel and Hardy are featured in "Them Thar Hills," W. C. Fields stars in "The Great McGonigle," and the Marx Brothers romp through "Pigskin Capers."

Country music California style

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

There's a part of the Nashville music community that doesn't like the music in this season's hottest new movie, "Nashville," because they think it isn't really country music, says Richard Baskin. Baskin, who is 26, born in Pasadena and without previous experience in country music, chose the songs for the movie, wrote about one-third of them and arranged and produced them all for the score and the soundtrack album on ABC.

"They really don't like it because Californians came into Nashville and knocked this movie off and we're getting the big response we're getting. They want everybody to think country music is a secret. We didn't use any Nashville songwriters. We had fun with it and did just as well as they do and maybe better. There's a certain segment that can't handle that.

"But country music is much bigger than Nashville. It's Roy Acuff and Linda Ronstadt. It's a fusion of styles. It's made all over the world."

The music was written in a way which seems remarkable to some observers but to Baskin is very matter of fact. "Singers all write their own songs these days, so we let our singers write their songs." But the movie's singers in the main aren't singers; they're actors playing singers. "Well, we wanted some kind of reality for these poeple. What could be more identifiable to themselves than their own songs? It made a lot of sense.

RICHARD BASKIN

"People are machines of creativity," Baskin says. "Everybody can write a good song. Not everybody can write a great one."

Everybody in the film wanted to write, he says, and everybody tried. If it didn't work out, Baskin knew he could write songs and if his didn't work out, they could commission some Nashville songwriters. The latter was never done and Baskin says he didn't write as many as he could have because the ones he received from other people were so good.

Baskin knew he wanted a Bicentennial song and he wanted Haven Hamilton to sing it in the movie. He told Henry Gibson, who'd never written a song before, who was playing Haven, and two weeks later Gibson walked in with the words to "200 Years."

That was the only song meant to be bad, Baskin says. "It's meant to be the ultimate B record. If you listen to the album, there's too much echo on it and there's something not quite good about it.

"I didn't want any of them to be terrible. I looked for three things in a song. It should be a decent song and have something to say. It should tell something about the person singing it and why they were singing it. It should score the picture. We score it live; all the songs were recorded when you see them being sung in the picture. It's the first time that's ever been done in a theatrical feature."

Even director-producer Robert Altman got in the song-writing act, putting finishing touches to Baskin's "The Day I Looked Jesus in the Eye," which in the movie is heard played on a radio.

The whole movie idea arose, Baskin says, quickly adding that he wasn't around at that time, when Altman heard a song written by Keith Carradine, "It Don't Worry Me." Carradine now is going to make an album, as a result of the movie.

Actors were told to look for songs and Baskin got into it when Gwen Welles, who had been in Altman's "California Split" and who knew Baskin's sister, got in touch with him through his sister. Miss Welles plays Sueleen Gay in the movie and Baskin says yes, she's really singing as well as she can.

Baskin and Altman met in May of last year and hit it off immediately. Baskin knew Ronee Blakley, a singer-song writer with one album out. He knew he wanted to use some of her country-flavored songs. "When Susan Anspach didn't work out, Altman took a chance and gave her the part of Barbara Jean. We knew it wasn't a chance at all. There's nobody in the world could have played that part better than Ronee Blakley." His favorite song in the movie is one she wrote, "Tapedeck in his Tractor."

When Baskin was first given the job of selecting songs, he bought a lot of country records, but he soon discovered that he didn't need to imitate them. The songs he was getting were good enough and the musicians — all Nashville musicians, including the regular Grand Ole Opry band — were splendid.

When the movie was finished it was eight and a half hours long with 47 songs. Tom Walls cut it to about two and a half hours. Baskin says it'll be shown at full length on TV sometime, on four nights.

His own appearance, as the pianist Frog, went from 10 scenes to one. But he'll be Frog again in Altman's "Buffalo Bill and the Indians." Then he'll star in a movie made from a debut album he was cutting at the time "Nashville" came up, "City of the One-Night Stands," which will be produced by Altman and directed by Alan Rudolph.

The single from the soundtrack album will be Carradine's "I'm Easy." Baskin is sure that singers will want to record songs from the picture, in fact some wanted to before the picture was out but they were turned down so that the soundtrack LP would come out first. "You know who'll want to record them — some of the same people that say they don't sound country."

The two hours plus that you may spend watching Robert Altman's new movie "Nashville" will guarantee you a look behind the scenes into the world of country and western music. With political overtones woven into all that goes on in the city of Nashville, capital of country and western recording world, there is a bountiful mixture of comedy, drama, sex and what most people may find as "shock" appeal. The cast is carefully chosen and if you like minute concentration on "true to life" dramatization it is all there. The producer-director Robert Altman has turned the cinemascope color cameras on "behind the scenes" of a political campaign manager; some would-be hopeful country and western recording artist; at least two established C&W recording stars after they have acquired their mansions and private planes; managers; musicians; and the usual hangers-on to such people, in the same way he did "Baby Jane." The film will make a lot of money for Paramount and Altman but it is not for children. It is a modern "Say of the Locust" look at Nashville just as "Day of the Locust" looked at a sick 1930's Hollywood!

For entertainment with a capital "E" someone should bring "Benji" back for more. If you missed it you should not have! If there is any justice in the Academy Awards this pictrure should win several. It is heart-warming, delightful and the pitomy of what movie making should be. While the story line is kept simple, the action to a minimum and pathos low-key, the film is highly recommended to every person of any age. Certainly the writer, director, producer, camerman, composer, and especially the animal trainer should receive an Academy Award but especially the two main characters: Benji and Tiffany! The camera angles and sound recording from the dog's point of view are unique if you are technically minded, but if you just want to be thoroughly entertained this is the picture to see. If you complain about bad movies all the time then this will prove you never go see what you complain about!

"Tom Sawyer" should not be a musical, although it was in this recent adaptation. The music is good and the production excellent for it was all photographed in natural surroundings along the Mississippi River in Missouri. However, "Tom Sawyer" is a Mark Twain classic and there just isn't time to put Tom, Aunt Polly, Beckey, Indian Joe, Huck Funn, and all the episodes of the complete "Adventures of Tom Sawyer" to music and into one picture. Children who have never read the book will enjoy it and adults will be reminded of their childhood throughout the movie, but will miss the details that made Mark Twain a great author. The picture is still being played in the area and probably won't make it to the TV audience for several years.

"Baby Snooks" was a real radio fan's favorite of the 1930's. However "Funny Lady" does not deal with the Baby Snooks part of Fanny Brice's life. This is the sequel to "Funny Girl" and this picture is built around the part of Fanny Brice's life that she spent with Billy Rose (James Caan). Billy Rose made the Acquade famous and was producer of such Broadway musicals as "Jumbo." a complete circus on the theatrical state.

Barbara Streisand sings some of the songs Billy Rose wrote and the music is impecably performed. If you enjoyed "Funny Girl" then you will welcome this sequel although it does not have the detailed attention required by an Academy Award winning picture.

Beach Boys far from washed up

BY MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Mike Love of the Beach Boys would like for the group to go on a world tour during the Bi-centennial with Stevie Wonder and another American group.

"We are so mid-stream, mid-America. No other group typifies that as much as we do, I think. I want to make a Bicentennial album. I want us to sing 'America the Beautiful' a-capella, in four-part harmony.

"I'm very nasty, snide and caustic about America's faults and failings but we're a most positive and creative country." One of Love's criticisms is that, since politicians do what their constituents want them to, the general public hasn't been vigorous enough about insisting on progress to combat evils such as pollution and alcoholism.

"Our albums have always been positive. Our philosophy has been to project good fun, entertainment, good times. I've always been of the feeling people will be attracted to what makes them feel good. Our music in general has grown more positive."

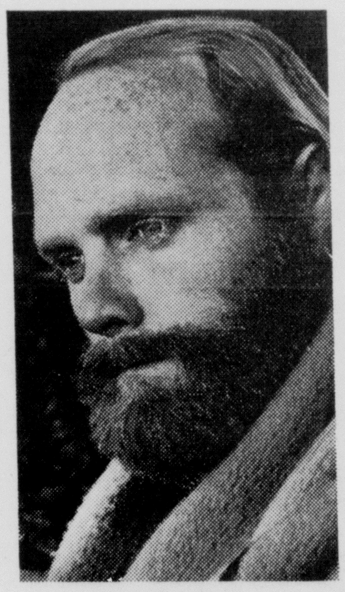
Love explains that the group went from superficial to meaningful in subject matter, staying positive and growing. "Musically we made the transition in 1965-66. We started singing about other things besides surfing, cars and girl friends. Capitol Records thought we were overstepping our nice Southern California sunny-sideup profile.

" 'Pet Sounds' in 1966 was the climax of our new group awareness of more positive and emotional issues. Capitol wanted 'Shut Down Vol. 5.' They released 'Pet Sounds' but they didn't promote it very strongly."

Love considers "Pet Sounds" and "Smile," which never has been released, as the group's two best albums. "We intend to release 'Smile ' someday. Capitol wouldn't promote us as a group with an evolving consciousness. In 1968 they were still promoting us as the No. 1 surfing group in the U.S.A."



MIKE LOVE

At present, the Beach Boys' LP, "Spirit of America," on Capitol, is No. 16 on the chart and "Sail on Sailor," on Reprise, is No. 70 on the singles chart.

"Up to 1967 Brian Wilson was overwhelmingly the musical writer and arranger and he wrote a significant amount of lyrics. Now each guy in the group writes songs and is creative individually. It's much broader. Brian still is best at harmonies. He left touring around 1963 or '64. No law states you have to go and be a rock star."

Love's main personal concerns now are diet — he has been a vegetarian around seven years — and transcendental meditation. He learned that in 1967, took training and has been teaching it since early 1968.

"The 'Surf's Up' album of three or four years ago had a lot of stuff to do with pollution and consciousness on it. All of us have learned meditation.

"I figure the main two causes of disease that kill people are tension and stress and inner and outer pollution. By meditation you can gain deep rest and relaxation to support your activity — which we have plenty of."

The Beach Boys play benefit concerts for causes they believe in, one of which is the National Council on Alcoholism.

"Transcendental meditation can dissolve feelings of stress that cause some people to go into drinking. If you limit the amount of causes, you can lessen the problem. Alcoholism is a bigger problem in this country than drug addiction." Love adds that he's down on drugs, too. "We played a concert recently and people were smoking hash and blowing out. It bugs me. I hate it. I don't even smoke."

Love also admits that he thinks he has an addictive personality. "When I used to drink, I drank a lot. Now I meditate a lot. If you're going to be addicted to something, it's better for it to be something good."

Gold LPs by the group are "All Summer Long," "The Beach Boys in Concert," "Surfer Girls," "Surfin' U.S.A.," "The Beach Boys in Concert," "Shut Down Vol. 2," "Little Deuce Coupe," "Best of the Beach Boys," "Endless Summer" and "Spirit of America."

"The last few years have been amazing," Love says. "The lowest point in terms of popularity — we never had one in terms of creativity — was 1968-71. Things have worked their way back now to where we're doing really well. The attitude at concerts is so positive. I look forward to performing. Everybody has a good time.

"I remember the first show we got paid for as the Beach Boys. It was a Richie Valens memorial. They said all his friends would be there; we'd never met him. It was at the Long Beach Municipal Hall; we'd just recorded "Surfin' " on New Year's Eve 1961 and the group had got together a few months before that. We got $300. My uncle, our manager, didn't take a cut. We each walked up to the box office and got $60 cash — no mailing it to us later.

"I was a sheet metal apprentice at that time and gas, oil and check-the-tires attendant at a gas station. I was married at the time and needed money for cribs and things. My Dad asked me what I'd do if the group didn't work out. I told him I'd be back bending metal. I haven't bent any metal since."

R-H weekly carrier series

We salute

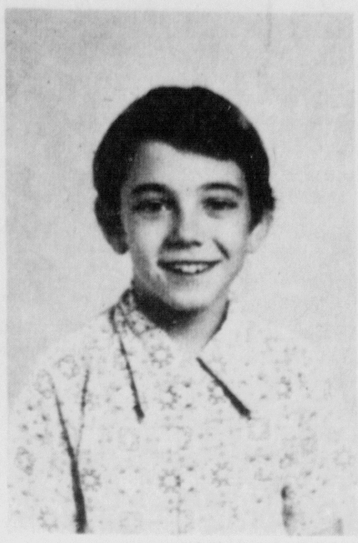
The son of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Powell, 137 McKinley Ave., Jonathan has been a Record-Herald newspaper carrier for the past six months. He has a total of 69 customers on his route.

Jonathan, who will be a fifth grader this fall at Cherry Hill Elementary School, enjoys collecting half dollars as a hobby. His favorite subject in school is spelling and his favorite foods are pizza, lasagna, chocolate pudding and scalloped potatoes. His favorite sports are baseball and football and in his spare time Jonathan rides bicycles, mows yards and paints with his father.

"I put most of my money earned on my route in the bank and save the half dollars at home," Jonathan said. He said he has purchased a golf bag, a set of walkie-talkies and helped pay for his glasses with money earned from the paper route.

"Folding papers, having to go back lots of times to collect from some customers and delivering papers in the rain," are the only dislikes Jonathan has about being a Record-Herald carrier.



JONATHAN D. POWELL

"Jonathan is a very satisfactory paper boy. He always puts the paper on the porch and we like him very much," said Tom Haynie, 812 Clinton Ave., one of the customers of Jonathan's route.

"Jonathan is a very pleasant paper boy and we like him a lot," said Carolyn Toppins, 720 Clinton Ave., another of Jonathan's customers.

Robert Grim replaces Wilson

A new Fayette County Junior Achievement center manager was named Wednesday by the Junior Achievement board of directors during their regular monthly meeting held in the Washington Inn Restaurant.

Grim replaces Ernie Wilson of Washington C.H. as the Junior Achievement center manager. Wilson resigned from the position after serving for a two-year period.

During the meeting conducted by board president Curtis E. Fleisher, it was announced that the annual fund-raising campaign is in the process of being completed.

Fleisher also a number of exterior improvements including installation of new carpeting have been scheduled.

Recruitment of students to participate in the Junior Achievement program here was discussed by Bruce Beery, of Columbus, a representative of the Central Ohio Junior Achievement organization.

Fleisher, principal at Miami Trace High School, and Washington Senior High School principal Fred Jones said recruiting of Junior Achievement participants has been scheduled. The recruiting campaigns will be held Wednesday, Sept. 24 in both Washington Senior and Miami Trace high schools.

Beery also commended the local Junior Achievement organization. Although the local organization has only three companies, compared with 56 in the entire district, the awards and scholarships received locally has been outstanding, Beery said.

It was noted that the past year was extremely successful for the Junior Achievement program here. A larger number of students participated and more students finished the program than in past years.

Three companies will be operating under the Junior Achievement program this year. They will operate one night per week beginning the first full week in October.

Alan Witherspoon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Witherspoon, 606 Charlotte Court, attended the meeting to report to board members on the national junior achievement convention held recently. Witherspoon, who will be a senior this fall at Washington Senior High School, served as a delegate-at-large from the Columbus district during the convention held at Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind.

Witherspoon served as vice president in charge of purchasing for the Armco Steel Corp.-sponsored company in the Junior Achievement program here last school year.

Partly cloudy skies and patches of fog prevailed elsewhere over the state, with heavy fog reported along the Ohio River in southeastern counties. Morning lows were mostly in the 60s.

A warm front extends from southern Virginia through southwest Ohio and northwest Indiana to a low pressure center in Minnesota. The low is moving east and expected to be in the lower St. Lawrence Valley by early Friday.

MT sets free lunch policy

Guy M. Foster, superintendent of the Miami Trace School District, today announced a policy for free meals and free milk for children unable to pay the full price.

"Eligibility determinations are made on a family basis, that is, all the children in the same family attending schools under the jurisdiction of this school food authority receive the same benefits, free meals and free milk," Foster said.

He said to receive free meals and free milk, the family income after deductions for special hardship conditions applicable to family size must be equal or less than criteria established by school officials.

Children from families whose income is at or below the levels established will be eligible for free meals and free milk. In addition, families not meeting the criteria but with other unusual expenses due to unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 per cent of income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, and disaster or casualty losses, are also urged to apply, according to the school superintendent.

Application forms are being sent to all homes in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. The information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility, Foster said. Applications may be submitted at any time during the school year.

"In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits," Foster stated. "If a family has foster children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals and milk, they should contact the school."

Foster said in the operation of child feeding progams, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color or national origin.

Under the provisions of the school's policy, Elmer Haymaker, visiting teacher, will review all applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he may make a request either orally or in writing to Guy M. Foster, superintendent, 414 E. Court St., Washington C.H. for a hearing to appeal the decision. The policy contains an outline of the hearing procedure.

Each school and the board of education administrative office has a copy of the complete policy which may be reviewed by any interested person.

Local school officials have adopted the following family size-income criteria for determining eligibility in the program:

Family size	Income scale
1	$3,230
2	$4,240
3	$5,250
4	$6,260
5	$7,190
6	$8,110
7	$8,950
8	$9,790
9	$10,550
10	$11,310
11	$12,060

DAYTON — Dayton Power and Light Co. president Robert E. Frazer stated today that promising lower utility bills by changing the type of rate base cruelly misleads the general public.

He said that such action would not lower the costs of providing service. In fact, the financial community is so aware of the decline in the earnings of Ohio utilities that a change in the type of rate base would actually increase interest rates and raise utility costs to consumers.

In testimony given to the Joint Select Committee on Energy (Carney Committee) in Columbus, Frazer said, "Utility costs have gone up, not because of the type of rate base, but because of four distinct developments: inflation, shortages of fuel, environmental protection requirements and regulatory delays in the state of Ohio. The existing rate base worked well when DP&L was able to reduce electric rates four times during the 1960's."

Ohio needs additional legislation which would allow increases in rates on a timely basis. Current Public Utilities Commission of Ohio procedures cause long delays in the recovery of inflated operating costs. This has deteriorated the financial condition of the state's utilities, ultimately forcing large increases in consumer bills. Frazer said, "Let's have a system that adds pennies to the bills periodically, similar to the way the corner grocery store adds a few cents now and then to a loaf of bread or a quart of milk. Consumers, especially the poor and those on fixed incomes have difficulties with large increases, as experienced in 1974 and 1975, when double digit inflation attacked the entire family budget. We know rates will go up as new facilities are built to meet consumer demands and as inflation continues. It is important that we, industry and government, be honest with the consumer and tell him this."

Highland, Clinton counties agree on boundary revision

HILLSBORO — Land surveys along the Highland-Clinton county line will be much easier now, thanks to a joint resolution signed by county commissioners of the two counties.

The resolution provides for re-establishment and marking of a segment of the county line between the villlages of Highland and New Vienna.

The move was made because there has been no marked points in the area for surveyors to use. The absence of such points created problems whenever surveys were made on land abutting the county line.

Richard Hill, a member of the Highland County Board of Commissioners, said that the boundary revision does not make any changes in where anyone will vote or pay taxes.

The boundary line was recommended by county engineers Lowell McCarty of Highland County and James Nimz of Clinton County.

Work was launched on the project last year. Total cost was $4,500, each county paying $2,250. A private engineering firm handled much of the detailed work.

Armco cuts price hikes

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Armco Steel Corp., the nation's fifth largest producer, announced price revisions identical to those announced by U.S. Steel Corp. Aug. 9.

Armco earlier hiked carbon steel by 9 per cent but withdrew the increases following the U.S. Steel announcement raising some prices and lowering others.

Wednesday's announcement raises flat rolled steel used in the auto industry by 5.7 per cent effective Oct. 1 and varied rates on plate, structural and tubular products Sept. 1.

"We are competitive with U.S. Steel," and Armco spokesman said.

The firm had sought the increases blaming rising costs of salaries and raw materials plus losses.

Health service plan accepted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's proposal for dividing the state into health services areas has been accepted by the federal government with minor changes, the Department of Health said Wednesday.

Gov. James A. Rhodes' request that the nine-county area around Lima be made a district although it doesn't meet federal populations requirements was granted.

The U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare put three Kentucky counties into the Ohio plan rather than six that Rhodes proposed.

The department said health service areas will be used in the evaluation of various state and federal health care programs. Individuals will be free to go outside an area for health services if they desire, the department said.

Wedding set for October

MISS VERA E. CORNELIUS

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. William L. Cornelius, of Glen Burnie, Md., of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Vera Ellen Cornelius, to Mr. George Phillip Spilker, of Arnold, Md., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Frederick Spilker of 426 Woodland Drive, Washington Court House, Ohio.

The bride-elect, a 1973 graduate of Glen Burnie High School, attended Anne Arundel Community College. Her fiance was graduated in 1972 from Piscataway Senior High, Piscataway, N.J., and attended Anne Arundel Community College.

The wedding will take place in October.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Orangutan seeks ride: object-'matrimony'

DEAR ABBY: Because you have always been a good friend to the Como Park Zoo, I am asking a favor of you.

We have a 5-month-old orangutan named Joy who has been invited to the Los Angeles Zoo on a "breeding loan." They have a male orangutan named Guy whom they would like to mate with Joy.

Do you know anyone who has an air-conditioned automobile who would be willing to drive Joy and her foster parents (Arlene and Joe Scheunemann) to Chicago to board an airplane to transport Joy to L.A.?

Joy is small enough to be held in one's arms, she has good manners, and she would do no damage to the automobile.

JOHN FLETCHER, DIRECTOR
ST. PAUL COMO PARK ZOO

DEAR JOHN: If Joy is a "liberated" organutan, she may not like the idea of going to L.A. to accommodate the male. If Guy wants a date with a sure thing, why doesn't HE fly to St. Paul?

On the other hand, If Joy WANTS to meet Guy in L.A., I will provide the child bride with air-conditioned transportation. And I hope she returns "heir-conditioned."

DEAR ABBY: My husband does sheet-rock work for a living. He makes good money, but he's always wanted to be an accountant, so he's been going to night school. He's young and will finish his accounting course next year.

The problem is that everyone we meet asks Carl what he does for a living, and when he tells them he does sheet-rock work they say, "Oh, come and take a look at this hole in my wall," or, "I've been looking for someone to do that kind of work for me."

Carl and I both work five days a week, and we like to have our weekends free to maybe go someplace together, but with all these sheet-rock jobs he has to do for friends, he's tied up.

How can Carl turn these people down in a nice way?

CARL'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Carl should simply tell them that he's sorry but he doesn't have the time. And he'd better start practicing that line while he's still in sheet-rock because when he becomes an accountant, he'll have even more "friends" imposing on him for favors.

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to your column item about the person who loved to travel, but who invariably had a seat next to some longwinded bore.

I pretend I don't speak English!

It is a nearly fool-proof method I have used for years. When someone cranks up, I say: "No hablo ingles" or "J'n parle francaise," etc.

Of course I have to be careful that when the stewardess or bus driver comes by, I don't respond in English! I also have to be careful to conceal an English language book or newspaper, which is a dead giveaway. With these precautions, it works nearly every time.

One of my female friends discourages would-be conversationalists by removing her partial upper plate. A big, toothless grin in the direction of the offender is usually sufficient.

Miss McCoy, Mr. Creamer wed in Southside Church of Christ

On Saturday, Aug. 2, Miss Sue Ann McCoy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Langdon McCoy, 2969 State Route 753, SE, became the bride of J. Randall Creamer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Creamer, 4268 Washington-Waterloo Road.

The sanctuary of the South Side Church of Christ was decorated with altar vases and a pedestal basket of peach, mint green and white Kilian daisies, white gladioli and cathedral candles for the 1:30 p.m. ceremony. Mr. James (Pete) Creamer of the Allensburg Church of Christ and brother of the bridegroom, read the wedding vows written by the young couple for their exchange of wedding bands.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of ivory satin organza and Brussels lace with empire waist and sheer lace yoke. Long tapered sleeves ended in lace ruffles at the wrist, the lace also edging a flowing flounce panel. Her veil was fashioned by the bridegroom's grandmother of bridal illusion falling from a tiara of lace embroidered with seed pearls. Her bouquet was a cascade of ivory daisies, stephanotis and sweetheart roses tied with streamers of ivory satin ribbon and ivy.

Miss Jo Lynn McCoy, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, Mrs. James Creamer of Allensburg, matron of honor, and bridesmaids, Miss Donna Athey and Miss Marilyn Creamer, led the bridal procession down the center aisle lighted by hurricane lamps entwined with greenery and mint green ribbons. Their floor-length gowns of flower-printed voile were fashioned with square necklines and empire waists in shades of peach and mint green matched in their flowers-single blossoms of daisies tied with picot ribbon streamers.

Attendants for Mr. Creamer were Scott Tipton of Shreve, best man, and groomsmen, Greg Rector of Barberton, Randy Wood of Chesapeake, Jerry Sears of Cookston Hills, Ark., and Michael McCoy of Bloomingburg.

Mrs. McCoy, the bride's mother, chose an afternoon gown of primrose yellow chiffon over taffeta with the full cuffed sleeves embroidered with daisies. Mrs. Creamer's gown was of peach chiffon with cap sleeves extending into a waist-length cape. Both mothers wore corsage bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses and white daisies.

Grandmothers of the couple, Mrs. Geneva Allemang, Mrs. J.G. Jordan and Mrs. Rex Creamer, had corsages of white daisies.

Miss Judi Wise and Miss Lauri Mulkins, Norton of Ohio, Miss Debbie Barker of Nw Richmond, Mrs. Michael McCoy and Mrs. John Jordan served as hostesses for a reception in Fellowship Hall following the ceremony and presided at the punch bowl. The bride's table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake topped with a silver cross and set in a garland of peach and green Marguerite daisies, lighted by yellow candles.

Miss Carolyn Waiz of Speed, Ind., and Miss Marilyn Peak of Cynthiana, Ky., presided at the gift table and Mrs. Michael Whitacre of Columbus, presided at the guest book.

After a motoring trip to the East coast, Mr. and Mrs. Creamer are residing in Grayson, Ky. The bride will be graduated from the College of Nursing at Morehead State University in December. Mr. Creamer is a divinity student at Kentucky Christian College, Grayson, Ky., and presently serves as senior youth minister in the Hillsboro, Ohio Church of Christ.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Creamer were hosts to the bridal party for a rehearsal dinner at their country home on the eve of the wedding.

Telephone company group continues to assist deaf

BY SANDY FOSSON

Local members of the Telephone Pioneers of American, a non-profit social organization of Ohio Bell Telephone Co. employes, have obtained five additional telephone-typewriter communications systems (TTY units) with two more on the way for use by area deaf residents.

The Ohio Bell Telephone Co. in Washington C.H. has donated the machines (estimated valued at $2,600 each) to the Telephone Pioneers of America to be distributed through the local D.E.A.F. corporation to families with a deaf member in Fayette County as an emergency communications system.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department installed an emergency TTY unit in the sheriff's headquarters just two weeks ago to offer a communication link between deaf or mute persons and emergency personnel and the interest has grown tremendously.

Miss Janet Duvall, president of D.E.A.F., Inc., a non-profit organization to assist the deaf, said she was surprised and very pleased to hear the Telephone Pioneers had obtained the additional TTY units. She said one family in Fayette County has a TTY unit installed in their home while two others are waiting for their systems.

Persons having a TTY unit in their homes can call the Fayette County Sheriff's Department, then type the message needed on their teletype machine, which is printed out on the sheriff's department's receiver machine. The deputy on duty can then relate the message to the needed emergency department, whether it be the fire department, police, sheriff or doctor.

Miss Duvall said that because the machines were being donated to the organization by the Telephone Pioneers of America, the D.E.A.F. organization would not charge for the use of the machines in the homes. She said the only cost to the deaf or mute persons would be for the accoustic coupler needed to attach to the machine for transmitting the message into the Sheriff's office. Couplers generally cost $125, according to Robert Woods, president of the local Telephone Pioneers group and a lineman for the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

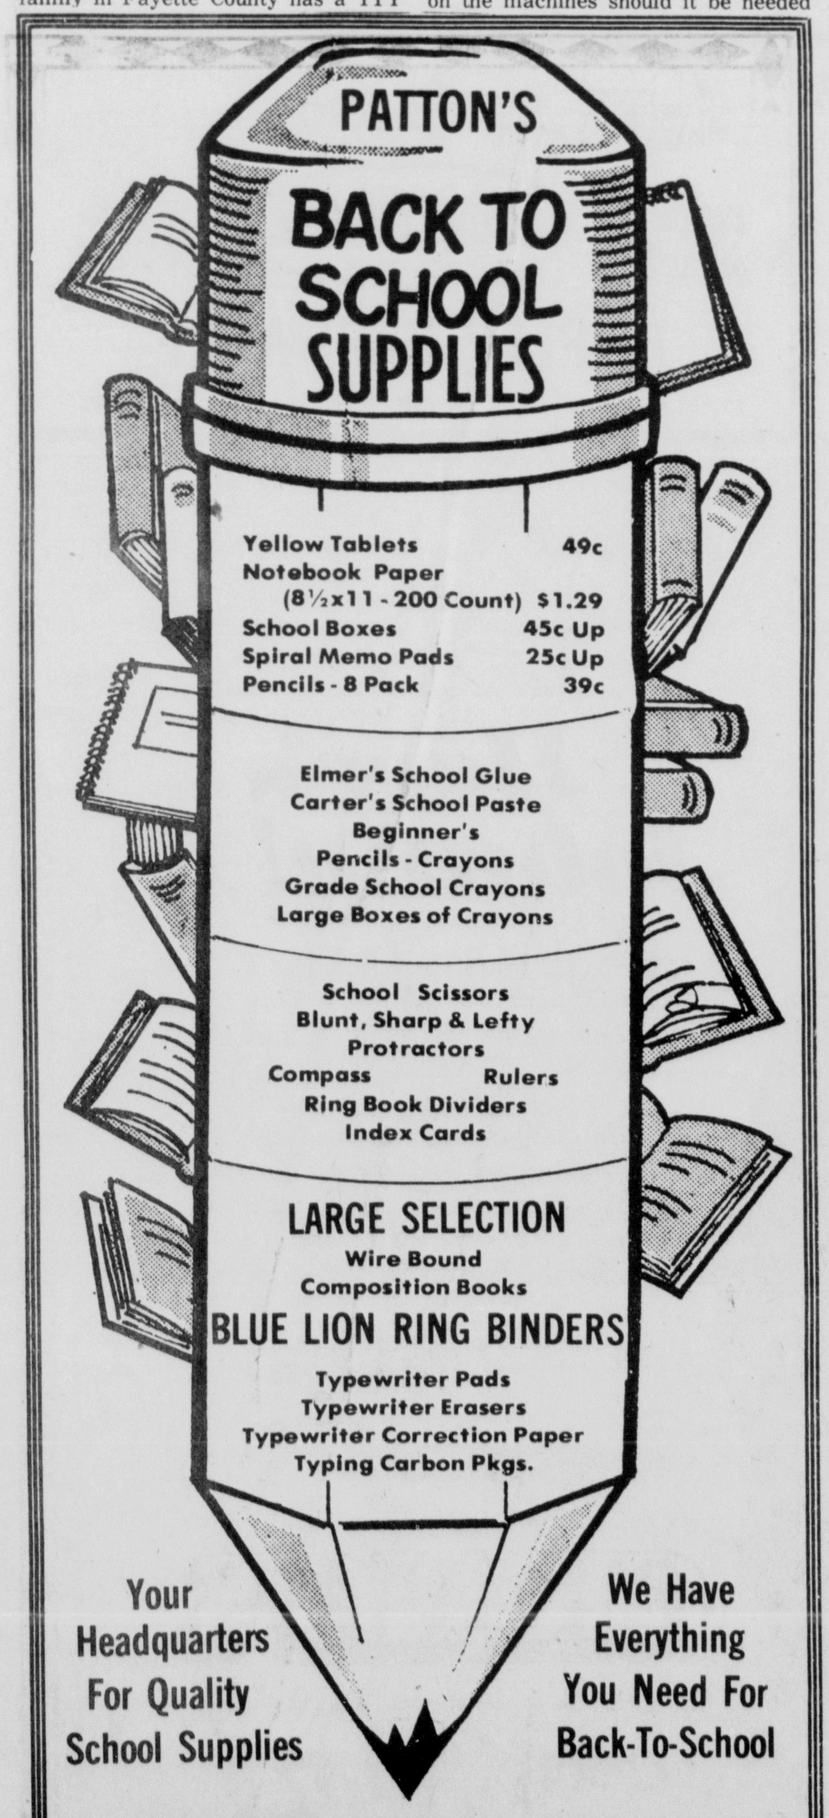
Woods said the Ohio Bell PBX operator may also try to train one of the deaf persons to do simple maintenance on the machines should it be needed when a PBX operator could not be reached.

The ultimate goal of the D.E.A.F organization is to supply an emergency communication unit to every home in the county where a deaf person resides, Miss Duvall said. She added there were approximately 12 deaf persons now living in Fayette County.

Once the deaf and mute residents locally have been equipped with the TTY units, Miss Duvall said the D.E.A.F., which has been chartered as a state corporation, will then expand its servicing to other areas of the state.

She noted a woman in Wilmington had already obtained her own teletype machine for communicating through the Fayette County Sheriff's Department because Clinton County does not have such an emergency communications center.

Woods said the Pioneers, composed of employes who have served 21 or more years in the telephone industry, conduct various community service projects annually. Other projects sponsored by the group included obtaining various equipment for the Fayette Progressive School including a talking stuffed animal used to assist retarded or deaf children in speech therapy, and an "audio ball," equipped with a battery-operated beep tone to enable blind children to play baseball.



Woman not dog owner

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Fred J. Fromm feels tagged as an absent-minded dog owner who constantly loses her pets, but she says she actually hasn't owned one in 25 years.

The problem is the tags the dogs wear.

Mrs. Fromm says she has received dozens of calls from persons who believe they have found a dog she lost. That's because the tags carry the name Fromm "and we are the only Fromm in the Warren telephone book," she says.

And veterinarian Rufus A. Sparks explains the rest: Fromm is the name of a firm making rabies vaccine, and the vaccine was used to inoculate about 2,600 dogs here since spring.

For public inoculations, Trumbull County gives out numbered tags supplied by the manufacturer and keeps the number on record to answer queries, Sparks says.

The first such mixup came several years ago, Mrs. Fromm says, adding, "Now it doesn't surprise me, but it does the people who call."

Long-time Ohio farms sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — How many Ohio farms have been in the same family 100 years or more?

To qualify for a certificate, the farm must contain at least 80 acres that were in the tract 100 years ago. Entries will be received until Dec. 31.

"We think this program will help recognize the families, who through the years, have made a firm commitment to love and conserve the land," said S. C. Cashman, a farm bureau vice president.

The names will be given to the Ohio Historical Society if a bill authorizing it to recognize century-old farms passes the legislature, he said.

The bill was introduced by Sen. Donald E. Lukens, R-4 Middletown. It is now in the Senate Education and Welfare Committee.

Village constructed from tree limbs

Tribe of friendly Indians settle here

BY MARK THELLMANN

A friendly tribe of Indians has settled on the outskirts of Washington Manor Court mobile home park, CCC-Highway-W, near the U.S. 35 bypass.

Tribal chief Mark Patton explained, "Actually none of us are Indians, but we are all interested in Indian lore. Last week when the Poplar trees were pruned and some of them cut down at the trailer park in which we live, we decided it would be an adventure to attempt teepee construction and live like Indians for awhile."

The 17-year-old Patton, the eldest member of the tribe consisting of some 13 trailer park residents, including four-year-old Tammy Osborne, said with everyone psyched about the project and working diligently last Saturday, "Injun Village" went up in no time at all. The teepees are constructed in the familiar conical shapes with a curtain or blanket hanging in the doorway. Some of the six teepees are reinforced with sod and appear to be pretty sound in structure. Older members of the tribe have been sleeping out in the teepees and all members have participated in cooking some meals over stone-rimmed campfires. One meal which came off without a hitch was a soup lunch, prepared during a break last week when most of the village was constructed.

The village has been granted permission to stand for while before the dead trees have to be cleared away. According to Patton, it will probably be a day in fall when the weather has turned cold and the tribe members have exchanged their bows and arrows for schoolbooks and the inside of their trailer homes will be more familiar than the summer teepees.

"Injun Village" will then disappear as rapidly as it appeared that warm Saturday afternoon in mid-August and a summer memory will be stored for winter reminiscence.

Judges sour over ads

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The sentencing records of judges in drug-selling cases in the suburban San Fernando Valley are being displayed in a Kiwanis newspaper ad campaign, and the judges don't like it.

The ads, published every two weeks in the Van Nuys Valley News and Green Sheet, compare sentences handed out with the maximum penalty the judge could have imposed. In each case, the name of the judge, but not the defendant, is used.

"I think it's unfair to the judges because the only purpose is to point out to the public that judges are universally lenient and not doing their duty by giving maximum sentences," says Superior Court Judge Raymond R. Roberts.

San Francisco strike seen over

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Leaders of striking police and firemen agreed to a proposed settlement early today after long hours of negotiations mediated by Mayor Joseph L. Alioto.

The mayor predicted that the city's board of supervisors, who had disagreed sharply with him over handling of the pay dispute, would accept the tentative agreement. Details of the proposal were not disclosed.

"I am very happy that the parties have reached a proposed settlement of the dispute relating to police and firemen," Alioto said at an impromputu news conference.

"I think after they (supervisors) have a good night's sleep, they will agree that what has been done here is in the best interest of all San Franciscans," said Alioto, who was joined by strike leaders at the news conference.

Alioto said the tentative settlement would be offered to members of the Police Officers Association, Fire Fighters Local 798 and the board of supervisors "at the earliest possible moment."

Asked when he thought police and firemen would be back on the job, Alioto said, "We are going to leave the situation as it is at present."

About 90 per cent of the city's 1,935 policemen went on strike Monday after supervisors approved a 6.5 per cent salary incrase, half of what police had demanded. Firemen, seeking the same wage boost, joined the strike Wednesday night.

Jerry Schroff, vice president of the firemen's union, estimated that of the 1,700 men on the force, only about 200 were on duty after an overwhelmingly favorable strike vote.

The current pay schedule for police ranges from $16,044 for rookies to $25,944 for captains. Firemen's salaries are the same as policemen's.

Supervisory personnel and some nonstriking police and firemen provided emergency protection after the walkouts.

The board of supervisors voted a state of emergency Wednesday before the firemen's strike, asking that Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. be requested to send in 200 state highway patrolmen to help police the city.

But Alioto refused to declare the emergency, and supervisors voted unanimously late Wednesday to ask Brown directly for the highway patrolmen.

At that point, Supervisor Terry Francois said Alioto "is not negotiating on our behalf. We never asked him to negotiate."

Dianne Feinstein, president of the board of supervisors, said: "As far as we're concerned, until the public safety needs of this city are met, there are no further negotiations planned."

Meanwhile, officers of the 1,850 member Transport Workers Union, who had been earning $6.73 an hour, agreed to a 6.5 per cent pay raise, averting a bus strike threatened for midnight tonight. A strike would have affected 500,000 daily bus and trolley passengers.

Mrs. Ford against separate bedrooms

NEW YORK (AP) — First Lady Betty Ford says the White House tradition of separate bedrooms "is just too far to go for politics" and she sleeps with her husband "as often as possible."

Mrs. Ford is quoted in the September issue of McCall's magazine as saying she got letters "from all across the country" after she was reported to have spurned the White House practice of separate sleeping chambers.

Many of the writers seemed to "feel it is very immoral for us to be using the same bedroom," Mrs. Ford said. She complained that apparently some Americans think a man who becomes president is "supposed to become a eunuch."

Mrs. Ford, 57, sparked controversy two weeks ago when she said in a television interview that she would not be surprised if her 18-year-old daughter Susan came to her and said she was having an affair. Susan later said she was not having an affair.

Writer Myra MacPherson says the First Lady shows no generation gap in her attitudes toward younger people's opinions and ways of life, including living together though unmarried.

In this connection, Mrs. Ford is quoted as saying, "Sometimes I'm not so sure that maybe this generation approaches life more wisely than we have. I know that may seem controversial, but it's an actual fact that in college more couples are living off campus together. If these things are going to take place, if I were the parent, I'd rather have the children come to me and feel free to tell me."

She added that freedom to indulge in such a life style might be "impossible for my own children," being White House children. But she adds, "I don't think they'd do it anyway. I don't think they are inclined that way."

Mrs. Ford says she has always had a strong civil libertarian streak, nurtured by her mother's tolerant attitude for people, according to McCall's.

The magazine said Mrs. Ford's personality asserted itself following her very public and emotionally painful breast cancer surgery, an operation whose side effects were eased by the President's empathy.

"It was easy for me to accept the operation," Mrs. Ford says. "I had been married 26 years and we had our four children. There was no problem of lack of love, affection and attention."

Letter carriers ratify contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — One major postal union is announcing its approval of a new labor agreement with the Postal Service while another union is beginning to count its members' ballots.

The National Association of Letter Carriers scheduled an announcement of its ratification of the new three-year contract for today. James H. Rademacher, president of the 200,000-member union, said that with 70 per cent of the votes counted by Wednesday night, the voting was better than 2 to 1 for ratification.

"This is an overwhelming vote which shows the membership of the union favored the settlement, despite severe opposition from local leaders in some of the big cities," Rademacher said.

Meanwhile, the 300,000-member American Postal Workers Union planned to begin counting votes today.

"We expect to have a count by Saturday. At this point we have no idea what the vote will be," said union President Francis Filbey.

The 46,000-member National Rural Letter Carriers Association ratified the contract at a convention and the Mailhandlers Division of the Laborers International Union, with 4,000 members, is still discussing details of the pact with the Postal Service.

The four unions and the Postal Service reached tentative agreement on the contract July 21, thereby averting the possibility of a nationwide mail strike. Leaders of the unions predicted then that the contract would be ratified.

The postal workers won scheduled raises totaling $1,500 over three years plus continued cost-of-living increases. They also won retention of a no-layoff clause in what both sides called the major issue at the bargaining table.

Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar has said the new pact will increase the Postal Service's annual operating costs by $2 billion and require it to seek an increase in first-class postage to 13 cents by the end of this year.

Crime official says some youthful thugs need jailing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of a new government campaign against juvenile delinquency says that 15 per cent of the nation's young criminals ought to be "locked up because they're dangerous and we don't know what to do with them."

John Greacen, head of the National Institute for Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention, predicted in an interview Wednesday that the U.S. rate of juvenile crime will continue high for at least 15 more years. He said the new agency, which will spend $25 million on juvenile crime programs between now and Dec. 31, cannot hope to curb the youth crime rate in the immediate future.

"I don't see any substantial likelihood that the amount of youth crime in the United States is going to go down any substantial degree between now and 1990," Greacen said.

Statistics compiled by the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, the institute's parent agency, show that the rate of arrests per 100,000 juveniles increased from 7.4 in 1963 to about 12 in 1973.

The juvenile arrest rate for violent crimes more than doubled during the same period, Greacen said. He also cited FBI statistics showing that persons under 18 accounted for 23 per cent of all arrests for violent crimes in 1973.

He said he expects the increase in youth crime to "reach its peak" soon. "But it's not going to go down from that peak, because nothing is changing. The relative proportion of persons in the crime-prone years is not changing very dramatically," he noted.

"When you look at where the problem really is, which is inner-city minority youths, and you make demographic projections there, you see that there really will be little change over the next 15 years."

Greacen said he agrees with a number of juvenile authorities that about 15 per cent "of those youths who we would call delinquents should be handled in a pretty strong way. They should be locked up."

Gonclaves on way out in Portugal

Anti-Communists in the armed forces threatened Wednesday to overthrow the government by force if President Francisco da Costa Gomes did not fire Goncalves, who advocates a Soviet-oriented brand of communism.

Costa Gomes later told 18 new junior officers at a swearing-in ceremony, "It is not simple to be a member of a government team whose duration can be expressed in days."

The president was reported to favor naming the army chief of staff, Gen. Carlos Fabiao, as premier. A Paris newspaper said Fabiao told it the Goncalves regime did not have much time left.

Communist leader Alvaro Cunhal indicated his party would go along with the removal of Goncalves as a way to cut its political losses.

Cunhal told a news conference the premier's Communistline leadership "has not solved all the problems " facing Portugal. The Communist party is "open to look for other solutions to solve the crisis." he said. "... No one may put his personal ambition before the general interest of the revolution."

However, the Communists brought out tens of thousands of soldiers, farmers and workers for a march through Lisbon Wednesday night in support of Goncalves.

The marchers chanted, "The soldiers always, always with the people.... Down with fascism. Down with capitalism."

Election funding brings confusion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Election Commission is having a hard time deciding just what Congress meant when it voted to match presidential campaign contributions with tax dollars.

The controversy centers on whether Congress wanted the federal matching funds to be calculated against the gross receipts collected by a candidate, or against his net receipts after fund-raising expenses are deducted.

Depending on how the commission resolves the dispute, millions of dollars of public funds could hang in the balance for presidential hopefuls seeking federal matching money under the new campaign financing law.

Approved by Congress last year, the new campaign financing law makes dollar-for-dollar federal funds available to candidates who meet certain criteria.

Candidates wishing to qualify for the federal funds must first raise at least $5,000 in amounts of $250 or less in each of 20 states. Once a candidate qualifies, the government will match each contribution of up to $250 in the primaries, up to $5 million for each candidate.

The law does not specify whether gross or net contributions are to be used in the calculations. If the six-member commission interprets the law to mean "net" contributions, as some of the commissioners including chairman Thomas B. Curtis are advocating, it could pose a major stumbling block to presidential candidates in their efforts to qualify for the matching funds and in the amount of money they could receive once qualified.

Commissioner Thomas E. Harris asserted that if the issue were litigated, the courts would rule that Congress intended for "gross" contributions to be used. "There's nothing in the act's legislative history that shows 'net,'" he said.

But Curtis indicated he favors a policy by which candidates must deduct fund-raising expenses from their gross contributions — at least for determining basic eligibility for the matching funds.

That would prevent a candidate from spending nearly $5,000 on a fund-raising event to raise $5,000 and meet the eligibility requirements, he argued. Such an interpretation would keep frivolous candidates from becoming eligible for the federal money, Curtis said.

TV Viewing

By LEE MARGULIES
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Question: What seven-time Academy Award winner is considered too controversial for television?

Answer: You won't believe this, but it's "Tom and Jerry."

William Hanna and Joseph Barbera, who created the forever feuding cat and mouse 35 years ago, regained rights to the cartoon characters not long ago from MGM and hotfooted it over to the networks.

"We ran into a stone wall," Barbera reports, "because some citizens for the protection of the children of the world have decided cartoons are evil, that they're violent and full of mayhem.

"We showed them (the network folks) five of the old 'Tom and Jerrys' and they laughed so hard they had tears in their eyes. Then they said, 'We can't use them. If we put those on we'll get killed.'"

The reason is that the "Tom and Jerry" cartoons, with their classic slapstick antics in which characters often knock each other silly, are too violent by today's television standards — which were instituted a few years ago in response to pressure by parents' activist groups.

Never mind Tom and Jerry's seven Oscars and their worldwide popularity that spawned 147 cartoons between 1940 and 1947.

Hanna and Barbera weren't surprised the old ones wouldn't go, having had more than a little experience in the field.

Since departing MGM in 1957 to form their own animation studio, they have turned out more than 100 cartoon series for television, including "The Flintstones," "Yogi Bear" and the current hit, "Scooby-Doo."

What they proposed instead was making new "Tom and Jerry" cartoons — the first they'd done in 18 years.

There would still be that marvelous friendship between natural adversaries, but they would be put in more "socially acceptable" situations.

That idea appealed to ABC, and it ordered 48 seven-minute cartoons for a new Saturday morning "Tom and Jerry" series beginning Sept. 6. Hanna and Barbera are personally involved in the production.

"They're not chasing each other anymore," Barbera says of his old friends. "It used to be that Tom would pick on Jerry at the beginning, which would give Jerry the right to defend himself. Now they work together."

A sample viewing indicates Tom and Jerry haven't lost their charm or their ability to create laughs. Since they don't talk — they never did — the emphasis is on action and sight gags and those crazy things that can only happen in cartoons.

In one of the new cartoons, for instance, Tom and Jerry are on a pirate ship. Their misadventures cause the boat to sink at least five times but come the next scene it's always right back afloat.

"I'm just as enthusiastic about Tom and Jerry as I was 20 years ago," Barbera says.

"Unless people went back and saw the old ones, I don't think they'll know there's a difference."

Farm life changes reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — Food, clothing and shelter may be the three necessities of life but in terms of actual spending, transportation costs may have edged them out for American farm families.

The Agriculture Department's Statistical Research Service plans to publish later this year the results of its detailed study of farm family living costs, its first since 1955. About 2,600 families were interviewed three times to collect the figures.

But the preliminary findings already indicate that substantial changes are in store for the USDA Parity Index — that important indicator of farm well being.

For example, the average farm family of 3.5 persons in 1973 paid out nearly $11,000 in living expenses apart from the business of growing food. That's more than triple the 1955 average paid by the then-average family of 3.8 persons, Agricultural Situation magazine notes this month.

Buying and maintaining vehicles and other transportation added up to $3,100 a year in 1973, near the whole 1955 bill, to make "transportation" the leading expense, ahead of housing, at $2,671; food, at $2,013; clothing, at $647, and medical care, at $624.

Highland County Fair scheduled Sept. 2-6

HILLSBORO — First entries for the annual Highland County Fair Sept. 2-6 have begun arriving and final plans for the event are in the making, according to W. G. Wharton, fair board secretary.

About $4,500 worth of painting on buildings has been completed, mowing is being done and roads are being sealed on the fairgrounds, Wharton said.

The deadline for livestock entries is Aug. 27. Entries in most other departments are taken up to opening day. For horse shows and tractor pulls, entries are due prior to show time.

A new arrangement to handle traffic flow has been worked out, utilizing a new road and exit on the west side of the fairgrounds.

Membership tickets in the Highland County Agricultural Society, priced at $4 each, are now available from fair directors. These admit the holder and his car to all sessions of the fair. They are also available at area banks.

The annual election of directors will be held Thursday, Sept. 4, during the fair. Directors whose terms expire in 1975 include Carey Roberts, Concord Township; Fred Mount, Dodson; Kenneth Baldwin, Madison; Ralph Smith, Marshall; Chester Baldwin, Brushcreek; Wharton, Penn, and Elmer Setty of Hillsboro.

Wharton announced that as a bicentennial feature Carl Swaney of Jackson will bring his ox teams to the fair this year and will appear daily with a covered wagon.

A new set of scales for tractor pull weigh-ins is being installed near the pulling track.

Carol J. Sollars

Local pupil participant in conservation project

Carol J. Sollars, a Washington Senior High School student and a junior at Laurel Oaks Joint Vocational School, is a participant in the Youth Conservation Corps program at Shawnee Environmental Resources Center near Portsmouth.

The YCC is a federally-funded, state supported program designed to introduce students to the natural environment, teach use and management of natural resources and give the student campers an opportunity to expand skills in decision-making processes.

Campers, 15 to 19 years old, come from all over the state and are selected from applications for their expressed interest in conservation and by recommendations from their teachers or high school counselors.

The work program involves campers in a variety of situations such as cutting nature trails, building bridges, providing erosion control measures, erecting trial signs and other conservation work in Shawnee State Forest and surrounding state parks.

The YCC work study program consists of two separate four-week sessions. Campers are paid approximately $200 plus room and board for the four-week period of work.

After work hours, YCC campers have more formal educational instruction in ecological concepts, current natural resource management decision and environmental awareness.

Miss Sollars, as one of the campers at the Shawnee Environmental Resources Center, has taken several trips, including a visit to the Tecumseh outdoor drama in Chillicothe, a Rio Grande canoe trip and tours of the Hueston Woods and Cowan state parks.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Sollars, 1218 High St.

Probe check cashing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The deputy administrator of the Ohio Industrial Commission has ordered an investigation into the cashing of a workmen's compensation check that had been issued to a man by the commission four months after his death.

David B. Godfrey, the deputy administrator, Wednesday ordered an investigation in the issuance Sept. 7, 1973 of a state check to Frank L. Scovill of Cleveland who had died on May 5, 1973. The check was for $992.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer revealed Wednesday that in addition to being issued five months after the man's death, the check was cashed on Feb. 2, 1974 at a Cleveland bank.

The newspaper said the cashed check is endorsed by Scovill's wife, who has since died, and Maurice H. Shapiro, a Cleveland lawyer who handled Scovill's case before the commission.

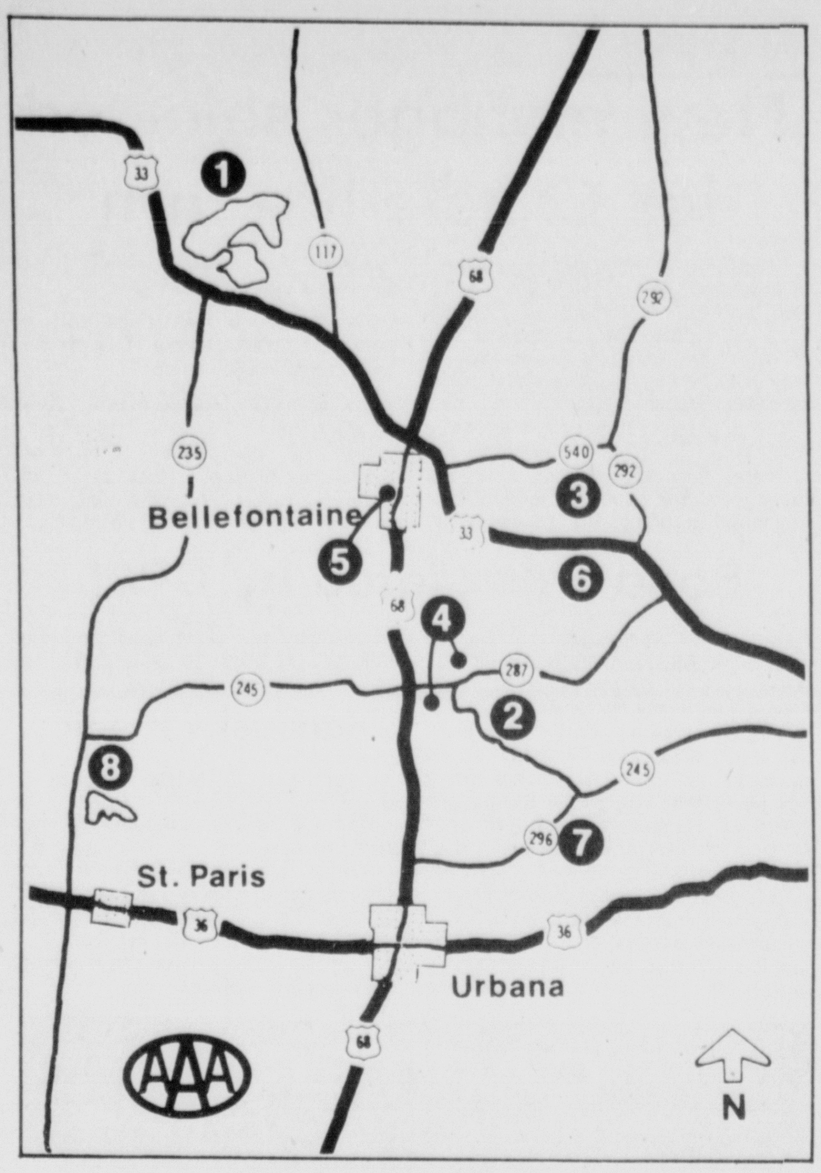
Let's tour Ohio series



Highest point in Ohio

A trip to the highest point in Ohio and a tour of the state's only castles are features of this week's AAA suggested week-end tour in the Bellefontaine, Urbana, St. Paris area.

It's still a good idea to be a "gas watcher" and make "five gallons of gasoline do the work of six." Two of the best ways are through good planning for a trip and exercising good driving habits, according to Fayette County Automobile Club.

Remember to take the entire family, relatives, or your neighbors and friends on this short tour.

BELLEFONTAINE

(1) Indian Lake. One of the state's largest (5,800 acres) has great appeal for water sport enthusiasts, especially boating. The 6,488 acres park has plenty of camping sites and good picnicking facilities. Nearby is amusement park. Near Bellefontaine is the "crown" of Ohio, the state's highest point, located just off US 33 and east of SR 540 and is site of radar installation.

(2) Ohio Caverns, located on SR 245, a few minutes drive from West Liberty. Has striking formations of stalactites and stalagmites. The 35-acre park immediately over the Caverns contains shelter house, rest rooms, picnic tables and amusements for children. An ample supply of pure drinking water (state approved) is provided. Open daily from 9 to 5. Visitors are conducted through the Caverns upon their arrival. There is no addiional fee for guide service, all costs being included in a moderate admission charge.

(3) Zane Caverns. Located on SR 540. Still in "active" growth. Tours through the illuminated caverns descends 132 feet. Hours are 9 to 6. Admission charge. Picnicking, camping and hiking facilities available.

(4) Piatt Castles. Ohio's only castles. Mac-A-Cheek and Mac-O-Chee are a mile apart on SR 245. The oldest castle, Mac-A-Cheek is in the form of a French fortified castle, has 35 rooms on its three floors and a five-story tower. General Piatt had it built from materials found on the estate — hand chiseled of lime burned in the kiln located near the quarry. It took four years to complete the two-foot thick walls. Admission charge.

(5) First Concrete Street. Court House Square, Bellefontaine. A commemorative plaque noting that the first Portland cement concrete street built in the United States was constructed here in 1891.

(6) Valley High Ski Area. Ohio Resorts, Inc. RR 3, Bellefontaine.

URBANA

(7) Hess' Sheep Ranch. The "Brasada Spur", located on SR 296 at Cable, 10 miles northeast of Urbana. Open to visitors every day, 9 till dark. Prize-winning show sheep and angora goats. Sheep shearing demonstration and talk every day except Sunday. Display of sheep by-products. Picnic facilities.

ST. PARIS

(8) Kiser Lake State Park. Offers facilities for picnicking, swimming, fishing and boating. Has hiking trails and nature program.

AAA urges you to drive carefully and suggests this routing to the tour area: From Washington C. H. go to Springfield and take Route 68 north to the points of interest.

Party set for Taft

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Nearly 2,500 people have been invited to pay $100 each to sip cocktails at a re-election fundraising party next month in Washington for U.S. Sen. Robert Taft Jr.

The event will be held Sept. 24 at the private home of Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller.

It is being coordinated by William M. Hoiles, an aide to former Sen. William B. Saxbe and now a Washington attorney.

The major fundraising effort is the latest proof that Taft — contrary to rumors earlier this year — is serious about seeking re-election in 1976.

He has not yet officially announced, but he has said he intends to be a candidate and a '76 Taft for Senate Committee has been formed in his behalf.

School busing help planned

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The U.S. Justice Department has sent a community relations team to Indianapolis to assist school officials when racial school busing starts next month.

Richard Salen, Midwest regional director of the Community Relations Service, said, "Our agency has helped in most metropolitan areas throughout the country at one time or another during periods of school desegregation."

He said his staff emphasizes the need for contingency planning for what might happen.

Letters to the editor

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

I am writing in response to the letter of Mr. Merrill Sloan, vice president of the Ohio Water Service Company. In his letter, Mr. Sloan argued against the painting of fire hydrants because they are "color coded" according to specific characteristics of each hydrant.

I have spent the last several days driving through-out Washington C.H., examining the "color coding" of the hydrants. I found that all of the hydrants were painted in the same unsightly colors of yellow and red. Since they are all the same colors, how can there be any such thing as "color coding"?

Perhaps the water company is not able to recognize their hydrants unless they are yellow and red. If this is the case, maybe an 8 x 10 inch sign stating "THIS IS A FIRE HYDRANT" should be installed on each plug in order to further assist them.

The most noisome aspect of the whole incident is that the water company originally commended Tricia Dumford "for doing such a fine job." Next, they turn around and repaint the hydrant. I think Tricia deserves a formal apology from the water company and that she should be allowed to repaint the hydrant.

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

After reading the letters in your column concerning the musical "Godspell" which was presented at the Washington Middle School on August 4, I too, would like to express an opinion.

I attended the musical for several reasons. I wanted to be entertained, I wanted to see a professionally executed theatrical play, and most of all, I wanted to see the good news of Christ presented to the public. I went away completely satisfied in all areas.

In previous letters in your column, several people have said that the musical could have been greatly improved upon. Some of its scenes were referred to as "junk" and it has been accused of not presenting the "Good News" of Christ. I tend to disagree.

First of all, the crucifixion was presented in a slightly different way than usual. But, the agony, suffering, loneliness and physical punishment that Christ went through were presented in a very moving way.

Secondly, the musical was written about nothing but the good news of Christ. The good news that "Godspell" presented was the life story of Christ. His life on earth, his death, his resurrection, and his promise to return. Although the resurrection was not literally shown, it was very much implied. At the climax, the disciples of Christ were shown carrying Christ's body out, into the world, singing, "Long Live God," and "Prepare Ye The Way Of The Lord." This very strongly implies that the God they were representing was not only very much alive, but that he promised a return.

I was only disappointed in one area. That was the number of people who attended. I find it very upsetting when X-rated movies shown at theatres motivate people to raise petitions, but when good entertainment comes to town, very few people are motivated to go support it.

In closing, I would like to thank the Kent Acting & Touring Company for their presentation of "Godspell." I think it was a job well done. Also, Mr. Hank Shaffer should be commended for his devoted effort to make this community a better and more enjoyable place.

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

Webster defines detente as a relaxation of strained international relations, or tensions, by diplomacy. I define detente as an assemblage of the U.S. and one or more nations at which the U.S. always gets "snookered." Now, my friends, you would know the meaning of detente if you just define the word "snookered."

Recently President Ford, on behalf of the American people, signed a document which is probably one of the most shameful ever signed by any American President.

What Mr. Ford has done is to place America's stamp of approval on Russia's Annexation, during World War II, of the Baltic states of Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia, and the theft by military force of 114,000 square miles of territory belonging to Poland, Germany, Finland, Czechoslovakia and Romania with a population of millions.

What did the rest of the world get from Russia? Nothing. They agreed to give three weeks notice of military maneuvers within 156 miles of their European borders. They define what constitutes maneuvers as opposed to ordinary troop movements. They also agreed to "do their best" to allow more freedom of travel and a greater flow of information between East and West.

They obviously have never felt any obligation to abide by human-rights clauses in their own constitution or the United Nation's declaration of Human Rights which they signed. What makes anyone believe they would honor those in the Helsinki agreement, which is not legally binding and would make little difference to the Ruissians if it were?

We must not forget, however, that these diplomatic "victories" would not be possible were it not for our shuttling secretary, Mr. Kissinger.

He must be a man of considerable talents and ability else in the relatively short time available to him he could not have lost for us all our friends in the far east, made great progress toward giving away the Panama Canal, watched carefully while Portugal is being gobbled up by the communists, check carefully the Russian progress in the construction of the huge missile base in Eastern Africa, so antagonized Congress that they would refuse aid to our Turkish ally, made substantial progress toward recognition of red Cuba, caused U.S. to cooperate with the U.N. in their efforts to impose sanctions against our good friends in South Africa, and many other notable "achievements."

I believe it is time Mr. Ford provide himself a new Secretary of State.

By the way, with the aggression, oppression and blood baths going on in Southeast Asia, where are the bleeding hearts we heard so much from just a short while ago? I'm speaking of the Jane Fondas, Ramsey Clarks, George McGoverns etc. Their silence is deafening.

We must quit trusting the international Communists and start electing more men and women to the halls of Congress who are worthy of our respect.

Expert tells legislators

Ohio utility rate law 'offers great benefits'

COLUMBUS — A Columbus attorney has urged Ohio to retain the RCNLD rate law which "over the years has permitted Ohio's utilities to provide excellent service and support economic growth in our state."

In testimony before the House-Senate select committee on energy in Columbus, John R. Jones added, "Without question, I would say that Ohio's law, properly applied, offers the greatest benefits to customers."

Jones has represented consumers, cities and utilities in rate proceedings before the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio and has represented utilities in rate cases in 30 states and provinces. For the last 25 years he has been responsible for the rate cases for the General Telephone and Electronics Corp.

"A mere change in the Ohio rate base law will not result in lower rates to consumers," Jones testified. "The rate order in the end result must be reasonable and adequate, and changes in the rate base undoubtedly have to be compensated for in other aspects of the rate case."

In defending Ohio's law, he provided the committee with a clear explanation of RCNLD (Reconstruction Cost New - Less Depreciation) and compared it with methods used by other states for determining a utilities rate base.

With examples and charts, Jones explained that the cost of reconstructing a utility's property is determined by using accepted price trends for individual items - "a relatively simple procedure."

The amount of depreciation to be deducted also can be pinpointed realistically with mathematical scales, he said.

Jones also told the committee that most commissions using original cost rate bases make some other adjustment in order to produce a sufficient return for utilities.

In addition, original cost rate bases are not nearly so simple as the Committee has been led to believe, Jones told the legislators, refuting testimony of previous witnesses who said the RCNLD formula causes rate case delays.

Instead of changing the law Jones suggested that Ohio should apply its court-tested principles and eliminate regulatory lag, which has had "a disastrous effect on Ohio utilities," leaving them in a "sad state of financial health."

Final arguments set in Kent State trial

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Final arguments were scheduled today in the Kent State damages trial after the judge declined to decide whether the antiwar rally during which 13 students were shot five years ago was broken up illegally.

It was not known whether U.S. District Judge Don J. Young would read his 76 pages of instructions to the jury today, Friday or Monday.

Young denied a plaintiffs' motion for a directed verdict on the rally dispersal, ruling that only the jury could decide whether the Ohio National Guard's crowd control procedures were reasonable.

The judge also denied a related motion to declare that the May 4, 1970, rally that preceded the shootings was proper and legal. Young said the evidence on that issue was in conflict.

The shootings by the guardsmen came on the fourth day of demonstrations sparked by announcement of the U.S. military incursion into Cambodia. Four students were killed and nine wounded.

The victims and their families seek $46 million in damages from 29 present or former state officials and guardsmen. The trial was nearing the end of its 14th week.

Young's ruling came after a pair of closed-door sessions in the morning, first with attorneys in the case and then the jurors.

The lawyers, who emerged ashen-faced and tight-lipped after their session with the judge, refused to disclose the subject of the meeting.

Young then opened court only to declare he was about to do something "I have never had to do in 23 years on the bench." He ordered the courtroom cleared except for the jury and the attorneys.

The judge could be seen addressing the jury from the front of the jury box, and each juror answered an apparent query, but the subject of that exchange remained secret as well.

Man found dead in Lucasville cell

LUCASVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Carroll S. Wears, 37, was found hanged to death in a cell at the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility Wednesday, the Department of Rehabilitation and Correction said.

Wears was serving a life sentence from Knox County for murder, Joseph Ashley, a department spokesman, said. He labeled the death an apparent suicide.

Storms rake wide areas of nation

Heavy thunderstorms continue to batter portions of the Southeast, Southwest and Central Plains, with parts of Nevada and northwest Arizona hardest hit.

A flash flood watch went up Wednesday for Mohave County, Ariz., south of the Colorado River, and flash flood and high wind warnings were in effect in southwestern Nevada.

The National Parks Service in Nevada reported some damage at Willow Beach on Lake Mojave, the result of heavy rains, extensive flooding with hail and strong winds.

A possible tornado was reported 14 miles east of Las Vegas, Nev. Authorities said it damaged a trailer and sank a boat.

Other tornadoes before midnight were spotted 10 miles northeast of Verndale, Minn., and near Perham, Minn.

BICENTENNIAL FLAG POLE — All six veterans organizations in Fayette County have contributed to the Veterans Memorial Fund, which is providing the necessary expenses for erecting a 30-foot high flag pole and memorial stone on the front lawn of the Fayette County Historical society's museum. A memorial stone, to be placed at the base of the pole, will read, "Bicentennial flag pole erected by the people of this community in commemoration of all those who served their country during our first two centuries." A wreath will be carved around the flag pole and the bicentennial logo will be carved above the inscription. Pictured filling the foundation for the flag pole are Tom McMurray, Chester Hamulak (standing left), chairman of the Veterans Memorial Fund, and Charles Campbell of Basic Construction Materials Co., which donated the materials for the concrete base.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 22

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Travel under especially beneficient influences. In fact, some exciting circumstances attending a short trip should give you a big lift.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Care needed in routine activites now. Make no drastic changes arbitrarily, and be especially careful about details. There's a tendency to let the mind wander when it shouldn't.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Don't be discouraged if your efforts seem unappreciated. Instead, draw attention to them — but in a subtle manner.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

An excellent day for dealing with superiors, for making them aware of your ultimate goals and expressing your willingness to take on more responsibilities.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Rule out extremes and risky chance-taking. It is sometimes difficult for the Leoite to stress conservatism, but it's a MUST during this somewhat misleading period.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Take a second look before accepting new ideas or unusual propositions. Don't waste time and energy pursuing a will o' the wisp. Be especially careful about financial involvements.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Rationalize, think things out with logic before making important moves. Your seeking, searching mind will permit you to see the essentials — and new opportunities.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Much competition in store! You should revel in most of the challenges offered. A fine day for capitalizing on your gift of salesmanship — of your wares AND yourself!

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Be guided by logic in stress periods. Give anxiety no quarter. Be prepared to cope with some minor obstacles which may appear.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Sturdy effort will see you through this day of mostly variable influences: Some hours may be really "tricky." All challenges should prove interesting, however.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

An appetite for hard work and consistent accuracy will help you break through "impossible" barriers now. Reap harvests happily.

YOU BORN TODAY are extremely versatile. Leoites have attained great heights in politics, the military, literature and industry; also as poets, musicians and painters. You are generous, almost to a fault, are always willing to share your assets with your loved ones; sometimes, however, use this as a "hold" over them in order to get your own way. Don't! You have great pride in all that you do, but it sometimes becomes excessive, so be alert, since the arrogance you display at such times alienates others.

Armstrong to head research

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Former Astronaut Neil Armstrong has been named to head a new medical-engineering institute working on heart-lung machine pumps.

Armstrong, the first man to set foot on the Moon, who plans to remain a professor of aeronautical engineering at the University of Cincinnati, was not available for comment.

The university said, in a release, that the institute was set up between Cincinnati, Purdue and Cincinnati Jewish Hospital to seek graduate students and grants.

Armstrong, Dr. George Rieveschl, vice president of special projects at UC, Dr. Henry Heimlich, director of surgery at Jewish Hosital and Dr. Edward A. Patrick, professor of electrical engineering at Purdue are all associated with the institute.

The four are members of a research team that recently announced an improved pump for heart-lung machines. The pump originally was originally designed by NASA to circulate fluid in the astronauts' spacesuits. It was researched and tested for use in outside-the body heart-lung systems in the Jewish Hospital surgical research unit, the university said.

The project resulted from a $30,000 grant made to Dr. Heimlich and Armstrong by the Corbett Foundation.

Current research is directed toward modifications of the pump and development of portable oxygen systems for victims of emphysema and chronic bronchitis, the university said.

Liz, Dick reconciled

GSTAAD, Switzerland (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton were reported traveling together "somewhere in Switzerland" today after 14 months of divorce and another reconciliation. Burton was quoted as saying they might remarry in Israel.

"They are driving around in Switzerland and are expected to be back here before going to Israel next week," said Miss Taylor's secretary at the home the star maintains in Gstaad to reduce her taxes.

"The reconciliation is confirmed," she added. "They are now driving around together in her car, but I don't know where they are."

Springer said Burton also told him they might remarry during their visit to Israel because "after all, Elizabeth is Jewish."

Miss Taylor converted to Judaism in 1959, between her third and fourth husbands, producer Mike Todd and singer Eddie Fisher, both Jews.

Ohio Bell's Telemobile exhibit scheduled here

Design Line decorator phones will highlight the Ohio Bell Telephone Company's 1975 Telemobile exhibit, according to Bruce Galloway, commercial manager of the Washington C.H. office, 334 E. Court St.

The rolling communications show will be open — admission free — at the Washington Square Shopping Center in front of the Buckeye Mart Store, September 2 through 4, from 4 until 9 p.m. each day.

All 10 models of the new "fancy" phones will be displayed in a variety of colors.

"Each of the telephones was designed to meet our customers' changing preferences in phone styling," Galloway explained.

Telemobile-1975 also contains displays on other bright new telephone products, including the Com Key 718 telephone system and a new improved speakerphone.

Developed for small and medium sized business, Com Key 718 has seven lines with 18 extensions and provides music to entertain a caller when the call must be put on hold. It also can be equipped with many optional features associated with more expensive telephone systems.

The new speakerphone has a new, improved sound system, permitting it to be heard in a room with 35 to 40 persons.

Other exhibits include helpful time and money saving telephone tips for consumers and a listing of long distance rates for 10-minute calls to 200 cities.

McBride spoils Norman's birthday

Reed, Cardinals blank Reds

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A healthy Bake McBride is clicking on all cylinders and so are the National League's St. Louis Cardinals.

The fleet McBride, who late in July was batting .255, Wednesday shot his average to .290 and helped the Cards roll past the Cincinnati Reds 4-0 with two home runs.

As satisfying to McBride as the two blows, one inside the park, was the fact that each came off a southpaw pitcher.

"After I was hurt I didn't have my timing," explained McBride, a left-handed hitter who sat out 25 earlier St. Louis games with a pulled shoulder muscle and was later platooned.

"Now that I'm playing every day," he maintained, "I think I can hit anybody."

McBride's proof for his assertion came after diminutive Cincinnati pitcher Fred Norman stopped him twice in a duel with the Cards' Ron Reed, 12-9.

Brock, who had earlier in the game stolen his 45th base, promptly broke for second on Norman's first delivery to McBride.

But instead of taking the pitch, which was a high fast ball, McBride first hesitated and then stroked the ball on a high arc over the right field fence.

"I guessed on that pitch, really," conceded McBride, whose homer was his third of the season and first since May 2.

"The first two times up he threw me a fast ball the first pitch," he said in reference to Norman, 8-4, who was observing his 33rd birthday.

"Then that time I guessed he'd do it again," McBride recalled. "I saw him (Brock) going, but I swung anyway. I hesitated on the swing. I didn't think the ball was going to go out."

Frosting for McBride's cake was applied in the eighth after Will McEnaney had relieved Norman.

On a 2-0 count, McBride drilled a delivery over the head of Reds center fielder Cesar Geronimo and easily circled the bases when the ball bounced off the center field wall back toward the infield.

"I saw the ball hit off the fence. That was when I was rounding second, so I didn't even look back," the long-striding McBride said.

The inside-the-park blast was McBride's second this season and third among nine major league homers he has hit in two seasons.

His blows keyed a nine-hit attack and provided breathing room for the 6-foot-6 Reed, who permitted only four singles and held the Reds hitless after the fourth inning.

San Francisco's Ed Halicki was displaying his knowledge of the Pittsburgh hitters again Wednesday night when they suddenly taught him a thing or two.

"For a young guy, Halicki knows our club very well. His pitching pattern against us is excellent," said winning pitcher Jim Rooker after the Pirates rallied for three runs in the eighth inning and a 3-1 victory over the Giants.

The victory was the Pirates' second in a row — the last time that happened was an Aug. 3 doubleheader — and kept them one game in front of Philadelphia in the National League's East Division. The Phillies defeated the Atlanta Braves 4-1.

Meanwhile, the St. Louis Cardinals remained 2½ games back by blanking the Cincinnati Reds 4-0, the New York Mets dropped five games out by losing to Houston 5-4 in 10 innings and the San Diego Padres outlasted the Montreal Expos 8-6. The Los Angeles Dodgers and the Cubs were rained out in Chicago.

Record-Herald - Page 16

Phillies 4, Braves 1

Greg Luzinski drove in his 100th run of the season with a seventh-inning double and Dave Cash delivered a pair of runscoring singles. Larry Christenson was lifted for a pinch hitter in the seventh after allowing only three Atlanta runners to reach base, two on singles and one on a walk.

Astros 5, Mets 4

Cesar Cedeno led off the 10th inning with a single off rookie Rick Baldwin and scored on Cliff Johnson's hit-and-run double for Bill Virdon's first triumph as manager of the Astros. Johnson hit his 12th home run in the sixth inning.

Padres 8, Expos 6

Enzo Hernandez snapped a 5-5 tie with a a three-run double in the seventh inning and Gene Locklear knocked in four runs, three with his fourth home run of the season.

A's 2, Tigers 1

Pitchers Sonny Siebert and Jim Todd, who were not with the team at the start of the season, combined to pitch a fourhitter and the A's ended Detroit's four-game winning streak.

Siebert allowed three hits in the first five innings to pick up his third victory of the season. Todd blanked the Tigers on one hit over the final four innings for his ninth save of the year.

White Sox 5, Yankees 3

The Yankees dropped to 9-10 under new Manager Billy Martin, the first time they've been under .500 for games Martin has managed.

Chicago's Wilbur Wood, 13-16, broke a personal three-game losing streak with a six-hitter. After Bobby Bonds' three-run homer in the second, Wood surrendered only two more hits the rest of the way.

Royals 3, Red Sox 1

Rookie Dennis Leonard held Boston to six hits and hot-hitting John Mayberry had three hits in Kansas City's victory.

Mayberry stroked the first of his two doubles in the fourth and scored on George Brett's single. After a walk to Tony Solaita, Al Cowens followed with an RBI double. Amos Otis slugged a two-out triple in the fifth and came home on Mayberry's double.

Orioles 3, Twins 2

Ross Grimsley hurled a seven-hitter as the Orioles picked up a game on the Red Sox and now trail Boston by seven games in the AL East.

Dave Duncan scored the Orioles' third run in the ninth when he doubled and came around on Tommy Davis' infield single, which second baseman Rod Carew threw past first for an error.

The drawing will be held at 7 p.m. in Eyman Park Monday.

Umpires are also needed to donate time for the benefit tourney.

Interested teams or umpires should contact Ron Helmick (335-4369), Chester Estep (335-1985) or Bill Haggy (568-4344).

Tournament players golf opens

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — With the spotlight locked on Jack Nicklaus, the fledgling Tournament Players Golf Championship resumed its romance with the big time today on the scenic and sinister Colonial Country Club course.

"We've done everything we can to make this the top golf tournament in the world," proclaimed PGA Czar Deane Beman as the game's elite launched the chase for a $50,000 top prize.

"The condition of the course is impeccable," Beman said, "We consider this as good a test of golf as there is, and this is as great a field as ever assembled."

A purse of $250,000 coupled with the tournament's "designated" status attracted all the superstars for this second running of the touring pros' own championship.

"We're doing all we can to put the ingredients in to make this a major tournament. But these things must stand the test of time," said Beman, who won a new five-year pact as commissioner on the eve of the 72-hole event.

The tournament players want their championship to rank alongside the so-called Big Four of golf — the U.S. and British Opens, the Masters and the PGA.

But when and if it is to obtain such lofty credentials remains a matter of much debate.

The TPC must first earn press and public acceptance, said Beman. But, quipped someone, it could become major overnight if Nicklaus would announce he's setting his sights on sweeping the "Big Five."

Nicklaus, smiling and relaxed and joking with newsmen, said Wednesday the TPC is indeed an important U.S. event but must gain worldwide recognition before becoming truly major.

"It'll happen with time," he said.

The Golden Bear's words carry special clout since he won the inaugural TPC last year at Atlanta and holds more major titles, 16, than any golfer in history.

He captured two of the four jewels in the Grand Slam this year and said a victory here would be more significant than a normal tour triumph.

"I'm the defending champion and I'm playing a golf course I've never won on," he explained. "I'd be kidding you if I said that I'm as high as I was for the PGA, but I'd like very much to win here."

Nicklaus tuned up in Wednesday's pro-am with a three-under-par 67 and predicted that Colonial's 7,190-yard Trinity River layout will yield perhaps five strokes to par for the champion after four rounds.

Johnny Miller, sidelined with a wrist ailment, was the only big name missing as a field of 144 set out in quest of a title that may someday be a historic trophy.

Maxfli team wins 2nd golf title

The Maxfli's tallied 23 points Wednesday in Men's Golf League action at the Washington Country club to easily win the second-round championship.

Wednesday's total gave the champions an eight-week total of 189 points to outdistance the second-place Topflites 159 score.

Country Club Pro Tony Capuana said a new Wednesday Men's Fall League will be starting September 3.

Little League finals set

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Solid pitching by Dion Lowe and his team's outstanding infield defense has put Lakewood, N.J., into the finals of the 1975 Little League baseball championships.

Lowe struck out eight batters while walking only two Wednesday as Lakewood put together an extra-inning rally to defeat Northridge, Calif., 2-0.

Northridge pitcher Craig Stevenson struck out 15 batters and the game was scoreless after the regulation six innings. But the deadlock was broken in the top of the seventh when an error and a hard smash to right field by Scott Schulman put across the winning runs.

Lowe's pitching was augmented by the Lakewood infield, which handled 10 grounders without an error. Northridge committed two errors.

Lakewood returns Saturday to meet the winner of today's contest between Tampa, Fla., and Davenport, Iowa.

This year's four-day tournament is divided between boys' baseball competition and girls' softball. In the opening softball game Wednesday, Medford, Ore., beat the defending champions from Tampa, Fla., 3-2.

Varsity Girls meeting

Friday will be the last chance for girls, who are interested in playing volleyball for Miami Trace High School, to tryout for this year's team.

Coach Rita Krammes said 24 prospects attended the first two tryouts this week. The Trace coach will start making cuts next week to get her squad down to 14 girls.

Friday's practice will be held in the high school gymnasium at 10:30 a.m.

Mason retains title

For the fourth year in a row, Mrs. Carl Mason has won the Women's Washington Country Club Golf Championship.

The fourth consecutive win came at an appropriate time Tuesday as Mrs. Morton celebrated her birthday by shooting a final round 86.

Mrs. Paul Hays, who took second in the championship flight, also shot a final round 86 Tuesday, but Mrs. Mason carded an 89 on Monday compared to Mrs. Hays' 91 to take the title.

Mrs. Max Lawrence and Latricia Robinson tied for the First Flight Championship with 188's for 36 holes. The two will meet in an 18-hole playoff.

Mrs. Loren Noble took Second Flight honors with a 202 total to edge out Mrs. Jack Kellough's 204, and Mrs. Glen Helmick won the Third Flight with a 224.

Since 1937, when the Belmont Stakes chart first showed the position of horses at the quarter-pole, only one winner has been as far back as fifth at that point. That was High Gun in 1954.

Players fighting for prep grid positions

After the third day of contact drills both Fayette County prep coaches are reporting some interesting fights developing for various positions.

Panther Coach Fred Zechman has been running his teams through passing drills while stressing pass coverage. Zechman said that several players are vying for starting spots in the Panther secondary. Art Schlichter and Bill Hanners are fighting for the safety position while cornerbacks Jeff Ruth, Dan Gifford, Tony Walters and David Creamer vie for the cornerback spots.

DEWEY FOSTER

Ends Mark Stewart and David Thompson should have the split end and tight end positions nailed down.

The Blue Lions elected their captain for the 1975 season Wednesday. Fleet-footed Dewey Foster will lead the Washington squad this year. He was a starter at safety last season, saw some action as a wide receiver and also returned punts and kickoffs. Foster is a senior and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Foster.

Washington has been working on their kicking game and it is reportedly well ahead of last season's. Greg Marti and Kevin Pfeifer share the place kicking chores while Tim O'Flynn will handle the kickoffs.

MT, WSH grid tickets on sale

Miami Trace Panther football fans, who have held season tickets in the past, can purchase tickets Friday from 4 until 6 p.m. at the high school.

Persons, who have not held reserved tickets in past seasons, must wait until next Tuesday or Thursday.

The price for the Panther's five home games is $13.

Washington Blue Lion season reserve and box seat tickets will go on sale next week at Mutt's Newsstand.

Fans may purchase tickets starting Monday from 5 p.m. until 9 p.m.

Box seats are priced at $18 and reserve seats at $15 for the six-game home schedule.

Bengals fight to retain jobs

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)— At least nine veterans appeared to be scrambling for their jobs with the Cincinnati Bengals since Coach Paul Brown decreed that all players should be able to play at least two positions.

The Bengals showed no sentiment in the first rookie cuts that saw Cincinnati native Lofell Williams, a wide receiver-running back axed earlier in the week to cut the squad to 54. The Bengals do not have to count two College All Star rookies, Glen Cameron and Marvin Cobb.

Brown must slash 13 players to get down to the 43 limit by mid September.

Going by the two-position rule, veteran offensive guard Pat Matson is again rumored to be in trouble because he cannot play tackle or center. Matson was rumored to be in trouble last season after leading the players association strike.

Other one position veterans include receiver Bruce Coslet, defensive captain Royce Berry, an end who can't play tackle; tackle Steve Chomyszak who can't play end; linebackers Evan Jolitz, Tim Kearny and Al Beauchamp; running backs Doug Dressler and Lenvil Elliott.

Brown, going along with the two-position reasoning, last week had quarterback Ken Anderson kicking off and John Reaves punting.

Brown said the decision was based on the injuries suffered last season and a disappointing 7-7 season.

Williams accepted the cut stoicly. "I understand the situation. The situation is 43" on the roster.

Williams inexperience was against him, the Bengals said. The former All-Ohio High School football star was voted the most valuable player his last two seasons with Virginia Union.

The Bengals drafted him in the ninth round. His name and that of his father are wellknown in southwestern Ohio.

Lofell Williams Sr. is principal of Cincinnati Hughes High School but was more widely known as an AAU boxing coach who took a team on tour in the new African States for the U.S. Department of State during the 1960s.

Big quinella noted

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP)—Latonia reported only one ticket was sold for its largest Big Quinella payoff in two years, $6,815.10.

The unidentified ticket holder picked 5-7 and 5-7 as the first two finishers in the seventh and eighth races.

Browns have poor session

The new coach of the Cleveland Browns began to walk away toward the locker room, to which he had just banished the entire team because of their lackluster practice session Wednesday.

Suddenly, he thought better of it and turned back to Rucker, walking a few paces behind him. The coach said a few soft words to the veteran wide receiver, acquired in a trade with the New England Patriots last January.

Both men flashed smiles and went on, nursing their private thoughts.

Gregg was angry over what he called "the lack of concentration" in Wednesday's practice, only two days before the Browns play the Washington Redskins in the nation's capital.

Walking Wounded to aid Bengals

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — By the end of last season, the locker room of the Cincinnati Bengals could have been renamed Medical Center. The entire backfield was decimated and the linebacking corps had been in shock since Jim LeClair was forced to the football sidelines early in the year.

Looking back, Coach Paul Brown admits that just breaking even at 7-7 was an accomplishment.

"We lost more people with serious injuries than I can remember ever having happened to a team I coached," Brown said. "They really wrecked us."

What happened in the training room and, in some cases on the operating table, is going to be a major factor in how improved the Bengals can be this season.

"The season depends on all those guys that were injured last year. They have to come back for the season to mean something," said Brown, ticking off a list of injured players which included running backs Essex Johnson and Boobie Clark, center Bob Johnson, tackle Vern Holland and linebacker LeClair.

Brown lists Johnson as his principal question mark this season and he almost changed the question mark in the speedster's career to a period before training camp barely began. Johnson, who has been plagued with knee problems after an impressive 1973 showing, was waived by the Bengals, but allowed to return after releasing the Bengals of any obligation should he reinjure his knee.

Johnson is not the only question mark in the Bengals backfield where Clark spent half of last season on the sidelines with a broken forearm. The 1973 rookie sensation has reported to camp in better shape in past years, and Brown is hoping he will be able to return to the form that gained him 988 yards his first year.

There is no question at quarterback, except how deep is the well of talent that Ken Anderson can draw from.

Wide receiver Isaac Curtis was Anderson's favorite target last season, catching 10 touchdown passes in his second year. It was the combination of Anderson to Curtis that provided Bengal fans major excitement after the running game fell apart midway through the season.

Backing Anderson will be John Reaves, who came from Philadelphia in a trade for Stan Walters. Rookies Gary Sheide and Tom Shuman are battling for the No. 3 quarterback slot on the roster.

Brown knew before last season that his star defensive tackle Mike Reid might not be back next year. Reid, however made it official during the offseason, announcing that he would pursue a music career.

The Bengals have also moved to cushion the loss of Reid by re-enlisting the services of Steve Chomyszak who was with the Bengals prior to a year's tour in the World Football League with the Philadelphia Bell.

The Bengals' linebacking corps has been suspect ever since Bill Bergey went to the Philadelphia Eagles, and even Brown admits that "we have to improve in that area."

For upcoming football season

WSHS marching band members practicing 12 hours per day

The Washington Senior High School marching band is currently involved in a week-long band camp designed to either teach the students how to march and play at the same time or to at least maintain a standing position for 12 hours a day.

The band, which has been practicing every day this week through Saturday from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m. with breaks for lunch and dinner, is gearing up its sessions in anticipation for the first Blue Lions football game, Sept. 5 at Madison Plains High School and the first home game, Sept. 12 against Chillicothe.

Band director Dennis Wollam has been called a "perfectionist" by several of his students and is training the band that precision is the most important aspect of a marching band. Wollam, serving his first year at Washington Senior High School, was formerly band director at Westland High School, Columbus, for four years. He replaces Charles Shaffer who resigned.

The 88 members of the band, drill team and majorette corps more than once have found that a step out of place, hesitation in bringing up an instrument, or a note off key will cause all members to repeat the movement.

The band has also scheduled the week of Aug. 25-29 for any additional rehearsals they may need and will be practicing each Thursday from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. during football season. They are taking one day away from their hectic work schedule to attend the Ohio State Fair — but only as an instructional trip to observe the other bands in competition.

Judge fines shoplifters

Two Mount Sterling area men received fines and suspended jail terms on shoplifting charges heard in Washington C. H. Municipal Court Wednesday.

Tony Dunlap, and Paul Smith, both of Rt. 1, Mount Sterling, were arrested July 22 at Seaway, CCC Highway-W. Dunlap was charged with the theft of four packages of lug nuts and a surface level. Smith took four lug nuts.

Both men pleaded guilty to the complaints.

Acting Judge John Case fined each $100 and costs and handed them a suspended 10 day jail term.

Contract offer vote is slated

CEDARVILLE — The union committee of the Morris Bean and Co., with plants in Cedarville and Yellow Springs, will advise striking workers to reject the latest contract proposal offered by the company.

William H. Wakeley, president of Local Union No. 6931, United Steelworkers of America, said a meeting to vote on the "company's final contract offer" will be held at 9 a.m. Saturday in the Blue Moon dance hall in Xenia.

Local Union No. 6931 represents approximately 400 employes of the Morris Bean and Co. The workers have been on strike since April 1.

"The minor changes the company made in its wage and cost of living offers still leaves us far behind other recent contract settlements in this area," said Wakeley following a meeting Wednesday in the federal mediator's office in Dayton.

Several Washington C.H. area residents are employed by the Morris Bean and Co., which manufacturers iron and aluminum castings.

Judges to study Freguson Act

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A three-judge panel has been ordered convened in U.S. District Court to consider the constitutionality of Ohio's Ferguson Act which forbids strikes by public employes.

U.S. District Court Judge Timothy S. Hogan ordered the trial at the request of the International brotherhood of Electrical Workers on behalf of 18 Lebanon, Ohio, city workers fired under the act in December 1974.

Hit-skip probed

A car belonging to Jack Milburn, 604 Belle Aire Place, was struck by a hit-skip driver sometime Wednesday while parked in the alley beside Stop-N-Go, Fayette Center.

Washington C. H. police officers reported slight damage to Milburn's auto and are seeking the driver responsible.

Frankfort man held on check charge

A Frankfort man has been arrested by Washington C. H. police for allegedly passing a bad check in Washington C. H. on February 6.

Washington C. H. police officers reported Roger L. Sever, 33, Frankfort, passed the check valued at $25 at Brownie's Sohio service station, 1104 Columbus Ave. Some 13 letters were sent to Sever informing him the check had bounced, but all the letters had been returned, police officers stated. Sever is presently free on $1,000 bond.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported an incident of vandalism and a personal injury due to a dog bite.

The mailbox, nameplate and newspaper tube were damaged by vandals sometime between 7:30 p.m. Tuesday and 8 a.m. Wednesday at the Eugene Geer residence, 5286 Palmer Rd. Sheriff's deputies are investigating.

Timothy L. Anderson, 10, Milledgeville, was bitten on the right calf by a dog while riding his bike at 7:10 p.m. Wednesday. Deputies reported the youth was treated and released at Fayette Memorial Hospital.

Gas company seeks boost in wide area

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— The Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. is asking the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio for the same rate hikes for natural gas now being contested by Cincinnati and unincorporated areas of its southwestern Ohio service area.

The application, filed with PUCO Wednesday, would increase revenues for the utility by 19.9 per cent annually. Included in that amount, however, is a request for a $2.4 million or 7.1 per cent emergency increase. The total request would mean an increase in annual revenues for CG&E of $6.7 million.

The utility said the increases are in part an effort to unify rates charged to all customers. Many municipalities negotiate their own rates with CG&E which can appeal to PUCO.

A spokesman said three separate rates are now charged to the 104,019 customers in the 63 municipalities.

Cities and village included in the request were: Aberdeen, Addyston, Amberley Village, Amelia, Arlington Heights, Batavia, Bethel, Blanchester, Blue Ash, Carlisle, Cheviot, Cleves, Deer Park Elmwood Place, Evendale, Fairfield, Forest Park, Franklin, Georgetown, Glendale, Golf Manor, Greenhills, Hamersville, Harrison, Indian Hill, Lebanon, Lincoln Heights, Lockland, Loveland, Madeira and Manchester.

Others named were: Mariemont, Mason, Middletown, Milford, Millville, Monroe Montgomery, Morrow, Mount Healthy, Mount Orab, New Miami, New Richmond, Newtown, North Bend, North College Hill, Norwood, Reading, Ripley, St. Bernard, Seven Mile, Sharonville, Silverton, South Lebanon, Springboro, Springdale, Terrace Park, Trenton, West Union, Williamsburg, Woodlawn and Wyoming.

Drug possession charge is filed

A 26-year-old Jeffersonville man is presently incarcerated in Fayette County jail on charges of possession of a hallucinogen and under a private warrant filed against him by a 20-year-old Jeffersonville woman he allegedly assaulted early Thursday.

Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson reported Deputy David L. Souther was dispatched to President's Square Apartments in Jeffersonville at 1 a.m. Thursday to investigate an assault complaint. The man allegedly responsible for the assault Kristen B. Simmermon, had fled the scene but Deputy Souther was able to locate Simmermon driving a car on Main Street in Jeffersonville. Deputy Souther stopped Simmermon and noted he was attempting to conceal something in the auto as he approached. Investigation revealed a pack of cigarettes on the seat, one of which appeared to be a marijuana cigarette.

Simmermon was taken to the Fayette County jail and held in lieu of $2,000 bond. The Sheriff's department did not release the name of the woman assaulted and it is not known whether or not she sought hospital treatment for injuries sustained in the beating.

Situation continues to worsen

Gas cutbacks facing homes this winter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Natural gas shortages this winter could affect residential consumers and small businesses for the first time, according to the attorney for a major natural gas pipeline company.

Thomas Ryan, attorney for the Transcontinental Gas Pipeline Co. (Transco) told a Federal Power Commission hearing Wednesday that the firm will be forced to impose natural gas curtailments this winter to its distributors of about 40 per cent compared with a 26 per cent cut last winter.

Unlike past curtailments, these cuts may not be able to be borne completely by industrial customers and other relatively low-priority gas users, Ryan said.

Transco is the first interstate pipeline to state publicly that its curtailments might affect top-priority users. The firm sells gas in states from Texas to New York. In at least two states, North Carolina and Delaware, Transco is the only supplier of natural gas.

The distributors — natural gas companies which buy gas from pipelines and then resell it to the public — in certain instances may have no choice but to pass these curtailments on in some degree to their residential and small business customers, Ryan said.

He said preliminary figures by Transco accountants showed that as much as 2.5 per cent of the gas earmarked for residential and small business customers may have to be curtailed this winter.

"The only thing that can be done to help this pipeline this winter and other pipelines is to get more gas into the system," Ryan said.

Meanwhile, Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., a leader of the congressional effort to develop an energy program, said Wednesday the scheduled expiration of domestic oil price controls Aug. 31 would drive gasoline prices up to as much as 90 cents a gallon.

The nationwide average cost of gasoline at the pump now is about 58 cents a gallon. The Ford administration has predicted the end of price controls would boost the price by about 3 cents a gallon after Aug. 31.

Before beginning its August recess, Congress sent President Ford a bill extending the price controls for six more months. Ford has said he will veto the extension.

In the natural gas picture, FPC rules provide that homes and small businesses get the highest priority of gas users and may not have their supplies interrupted until all other categories are cut off.

Ryan later told reporters that the possibility that some top-priority users might have to have their gas curtailed is theoretical and based on Transco projections of anticipated supply and demand.

Paul R. Bigley, senior vice president of Columbia Gas Distribution Companies, which includes Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., said industries face at least a 65 per cent cutback.

In testimony before the legislature's Joint Select Committee on Energy, Bigley said Columbia's present curtailment plan calls for stopping all natural gas going to large volume boilers and to large industrial users who can use other fuels.

But even then, he said, industry can expect a 65 per cent curtailment and large commercial users a 40 per cent curtailment.

Bigley blamed the federal government for setting artificially low prices for natural gas in interstate pipelines, thus discouraging exploration and investment.

"When Congress moves to deregulate the price of new gas at the wellhead, something it has balked at for three years now, then we expect to see exploration and drilling resume and gas production rise," he said.

But he added that it would require three to five years to build up new gas supplies.

Another Columbia executive told the committee the Ohio consumer has been treated well by utilities in the past, a point which he said should not be forgotten when considering changes in utility law.

Ralph N. Mahaffey, Columbia Gas vice president for governmental affairs, said natural gas shortages now result from problems beyond the utility companies' control.

"It seems to me that the consumer has fared well under the statutes enacted in previous sessions of the General Assembly," Mahaffey said. "Rates for utility service are low in Ohio compared to other states. The quality of service is good.

"For many years we have furnished natural gas on the coldest days to heat residences in Ohio and to provide natural gas for the requirements of Ohio's many industries for which natural gas is essential.

"Now, our industrial customers are suffering, but this is not because of Ohio law," he said.

"The reason for this deficiency in supply is overregulation by agencies of the federal government and a lack of action by the Congress of the United States to take affirmative steps to provide proper incentives for exploration and production in areas where there should be natural gas," he said.

After phasing out Dayton facility

By SANDY FOSSON

The Dyna Corp., a small manufacturing company which produces electrical motors and bench grinders for industrial use, has moved the complete operations of the firm to the Washington C.H. plant at 1110 Lakeview Ave. after phasing out its Dayton factory.

Joe Daugherty, plant manager of the Washington C.H. firm, said the last 25 to 39 machines being moved this week from the Dayton plant after nearly a year of gradual phasing out of the Dayton firm was primarily an economic decision but it also "put control of the business under one roof."

The Dayton plant, where the company originated some 50 years ago, had only been conducting a portion of the manufacturing for the past seven months, Daugherty said, and the company was finding it quite expensive to trasport materials between the two plants.

The Dyna Corp., which started production in Washington C.H. in 1946 under the name of the Brown and Brockmeyer Co., had at one time a work force of 80 with plans of increasing the employment to 100 in 1967 when the company expanded the floor space of the plant with a major addition.

However, the economy began to hit the company gradually in recent years and the total employment has now dropped to 16 active workers on a 40-hour work week with 20 employes currently on furlough.'

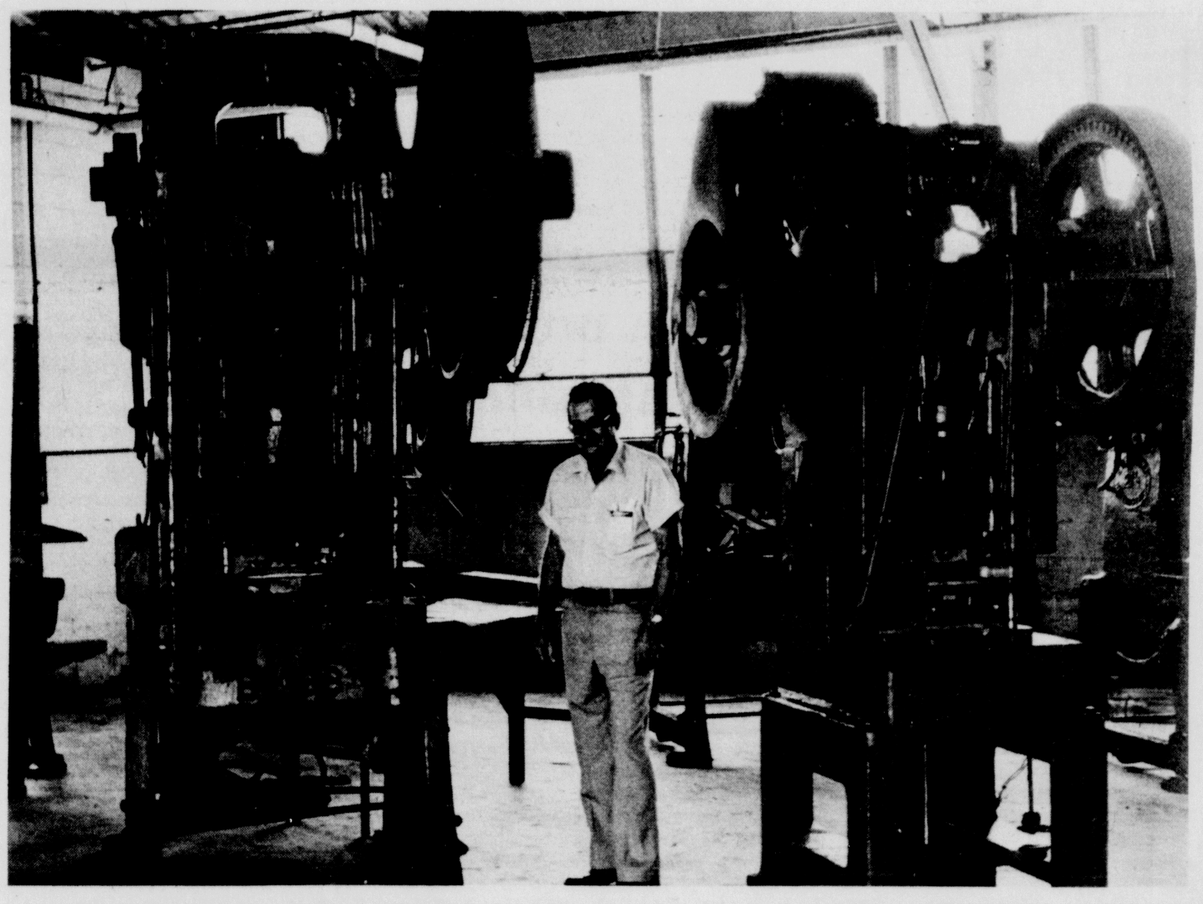
Daugherty said that while the addition of the extra equipment from the Dayton plant would probably necessitate some additional help, he could not say if all 20 workers on furlough would be called to return to their jobs.

Daugherty said he was not at liberty to release any information regarding the amount of production or sales by the company annually.

The Dyna Corp. specializes in the complete assembly of electric motors and bench grinders primarily used by industries and ships its products throughout the United States and several areas abroad.

Daugherty, who has been plant manager for 23 years and an employe of the Dyna Corp. for 34 years, said the company office workers from the Dayton plant would be relocated to the subsidiary plant in Wilmington, the National Gear Co., but would not state whether supervisory and production employes from the Dayton facility were being transferred to either of the other two plants.

Daugherty said the move of the additional machinery to the Washington C.H. firm "is bound to help business here" and will "give better control of the business."



NEW DYNA CORP. EQUIPMENT — Joe Daugherty, plant manager of the Dyna Corp. in Washington C. H., is dwarfed by the large punch presses moved to the local plant this week in the final shutdown of the Dayton plant. The machines will punch out steel parts for use on the electrical motors produced at the plant.

Kissinger attempts to pin down Mideast pact

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

The Israeli government mounted the strongest airport guard in its history today to ward off hostile demonstrations and terrorist attacks during the arrival of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, who is trying to pin down a new Sinai agreement between Israel and Egypt.

Border troops, other soldiers and police took up stations at Ben-Gurion International Airport long before Kissinger arrived. Officials said security was tighter than when former President Richard M. Nixon visited Israel in 1974.

The Israeli government's concern for Kissinger's safety was heightened by the interception of three Arab guerrillas near the Lebanese border Wednesday and angry anti-Kissinger demonstrations in Jerusalem and Haifa.

Israeli planes flew deep into Lebanese air space Wednesday to attack a Palestinian guerrilla base in northeast Lebanon in retaliation for the abortive guerrilla raid.

Israel's ambassador to Washington, Simcha Dinitz, arrived in advance of Kissinger and said a new Israeli-Egyptian accord "was certainly not in the bag" yet. He said a number of major points require clarification, but "much progress" had been made toward agreement.

Former Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, who was on the same plane with Dinitz, reiterated his opposition to the proposed agreement "as I now know it."

Diplomatic sources in Washington said that Kissinger still lacks the 90 per cent certainty of success that he said he would need to resume back-and-forth "Shuttle diplomacy" between Jerusalem and Cairo to put a new Israeli-Egyptian agreement into final form. But they said he has the major outline of a pact in sight, including Israeli evacuation of the Gidi and Mitla mountain passes and the Abu Rudeis and Balain oilfields.

Leaving Washington Wednesday night, Kissinger said he would spare no effort to obtain an agreement during his visit, which is scheduled to last 10 days. "No area is more in need of peace than the Middle East," he said.

President Ford and Kissinger have warned of renewed warfare in the region if the negotiations fail and, according to Ford, an inevitable Arab boycott like the one after the 1973 war that led to fuel shortages in the United States, Western Europe and Japan.

Despite mounting opposition among the Israeli people, Kissinger believes Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin's government is on the verge of doing what it wouldn't during his last visit in March — agreeing to give up the Sinai gateways without obtaining a non-belligerency pledge from Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

However, Egypt is reported ready to give assurances at yearly intervals for a three-year extension of the U.N. pacekeeping force in Sinai and to promise not to use force unless Egypt or its allies are attacked by the Jewish state.

Demonstrations against Kissinger's visit and the proposed Sinai accord broke out in Israel Wednesday for the third day.

Police said they detained seven protesters in Jerusalem following two demonstrations by hundreds of right-wing youths inside the capital.

In Haifa, Israel's chief port, hundreds marched through the streets, many of them dressed in black, carrying black umbrellas and chanting "Munich, Munich, Munich" to recall British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's abandonment of Czechoslovakia to Hitler.

Five demonstrators broke into Foreign Minister Yigal Allon's residence in the ancient Jewish quarter of Jerusalem. Police evicted them by force and scattered a crowd of about 200 outside.

The Israeli military command said its planes attacked the El Ham base of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine about 35 miles east of Beirut. It was the deepest Israeli penetration of Lebanese air space since the 1973 war except for reconnaissance flights.

Consumer prices rise again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soaring prices for food, gasoline and used cars pushed consumer prices up 1.2 per cent in July, the biggest monthly rise in inflation this year and the first in double figures since last September, the government reported today.

Last month's increase compared with a rise of eighttenths of a per cent in June, providing further evidence that inflationary pressure remains a serious problem for the economy as it recovers from its worst recession since the 1930's.

The Labor Department said food prices rose 1.9 per cent in July, the biggest increase since a 2 per cent jump in August 1974. Gasoline prices jumped 4.3 per cent and used cars were up nearly 4 per cent. Officials said these increases accounted for three-fourths of the July increase.

Despite the grim news on the price front, the government was expected to report later in the day that revised figures for the Gross National Product would show that growth resumed during the second quarter of the year following several months of decline.

Ford administration economists have been bracing consumers to expect a sharp increase in the inflation rate, but they contend it will be only temporary and not foreshadow a return to the sustained double-digit inflation that prevailed most of 1974.

The Consumer Price Index stood at 162.3 last month, 9.7 per cent higher than a year ago. That meant it cost $16.20 to buy a variety of goods and services which could have been purchased for $10 in the 1967 base period.

With the new surge in inflation, the pay of American workers failed to keep up with rising prices. Real spendable earnings — what's left after adjustment for taxes and inflation — dropped five-tenths of a per cent in July. Over the year, real earnings were down threetenths of 1 per cent.

Prices of most foods rose in July, with fresh vegetables, poultry and pork leading the way. Beef prices also were up but less than in May or June. Dairy products jumped in price for the first time this year. Egg prices, after two months of decline, also rose.

About the only good news in the food price picture was a 14.5 per cent drop in sugar prices.

Ohio State Fair opened by Rhodes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes and his wife cut a ribbon at 6:12 a.m. today to open the 12-day 1975 Ohio State Fair.

Then Rhodes hopped onto a tractor pulling a shuttle bus and drove some state fair officials to a breakfast on the fairgrounds.

Two million persons are expected to visit the exposition between today and Sept. 1.

The governor is traditionally among the first to be admitted to the fair each year.

Teacher Ray Hammack, who designed the 1975 fair theme of "Your Ticket to Fun" for a slogan contest and was chosen from among 8,000 entries, was selected to join the governor. He also receives a $150 check and accommodations at a motel during the fair's first weekend.

The fair, on 360 acres just off I-71 in Columbus, remains open from 6 a.m. to nearly midnight Thursday through Sept. 1. Admission is $2 for adults, 50 cents for children under 12 with children admitted free until noon every weekday. Parking costs $1.

A free grandstand show is held each day at 4:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. with such stars as Mac Davis, Merle Haggard, Roger Miller, Paul Anka, Pat Boone, Tanya Tucker, Bob Hope and The Osmonds entertaining.

On opening day, WTVN Radio Day, Mac Davis will begin a two-day engagement in the grandstand. Davis, making his fourth consecutive fair appearance, is credited with "Baby Don't Get Hooked on Me," "I Believe in Music," "Watching Scotty Grow," "In the Ghetto," and "Something's Burning."

Also at the fair Thursday, the gates will open with music by the All-Ohio State Fair Youth Choir, formal ribbon cutting by the governor and flag raising by the Ohio State Fair Junior Fair Board.

At 10 a.m., the "Fair Within a Fair," recreating an 1850 state fair, opens at the Ohio Historical Society for a 12-day run.

Also scheduled Thursday is a 4-H tractor operator's contest, FFA chapter queen contest, Appalachian Green Parks Project (a folk singing group), circus marching band festival, draft pony hitch class, and All-Ohio State Fair band.

Friday is Crippled Children's Day and Agricultural Hall of Fame Day. At 8 a.m. Friday, a junior fair barrow showmanship exhibition, junior fair market lamb show, and draft horse show are scheduled.

And on Friday, the Agricultural Hall of Fame breakfast, junior fair barrow show, Ohio State Grange talent contest, baton twirling contest, 4-H woodworking day, auto thrill show, All-Ohio State Fair girl's band, junior fair Guernsey and Jersey show, junior fair poultry judging, 4-H safety speaking contest and Miss COEA Queen contest.

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— The only two-time winner of the Ohio Lottery, mumbled from his wheelchair, it was a "curse."

William Chisley has seen nothing but trouble since winning $15,000 Oct. 3, 1974 and $60,000 more two weeks later.

The Ohio Lottery Commission said Chisley is the only person to have been a finalist twice.

Chisley was in good health a year ago. He predicted he'd buy a new house and do anything he wanted for the rest of his life with the $75,000.

Today, he sits in a nursing home watching television, playing bingo and waiting to return to the hospital where his foot will be amputated.

A month after winning the lotteries he entered Cincinnati Veterans Hospital with heart trouble. Complications followed that kept him in and out of the hospital for nine months, suffering from low blood sugar and bleeding ulcers.

His dream of a new home faded as he had to sell his old modest frame house and moved to a nursing home for special treatment.

His foot must be amputated because it became infected and gangreneous.

Chisley is now unable to speak more than a few barely audible words at a time and most of his story had to be told by his daughter, Mrs. Carrie Thomas.

"After he won, he would get threatening phone calls," she said. "They would say they wanted some of his money or else something would happen to him.

She said people would break into his house and ransack the place looking for his winnings.

The winnings so far are checks for $15,000, mailed yearly, said Mrs. Thomas. She has taken over management of his winnings.

Most of the first check has gone for medical expenses. "I don't know how I would have been able to afford the bills if we didn't have the money he won," said Mrs. Thomas.

Speaking slowly, Chisley said it looks now like the lottery was "a curse" because nearly a year after the day on which he should have been able to afford to do anything he pleased, he can do nothing.

Brown probes investigation shutdown

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio Attorney General William J. Brown Wednesday asked why the Ohio Department of Liquor Control didn't pursue its 1968 investigation into activities of Edward W. Payne, a former Cleveland liquor agent.

Brown made the remarks in reference to a Cleveland Plain Dealer story which said that a former self-confessed bagman passed a lie detector test administered by state liquor agents in which he alleged that he made payments to Payne.

Payne, who then was a state liquor agent, resigned and later became warden of the Cuyahoga County Jail and a key aide to Sheriff Ralph E. Kreiger.

"It's true that the results of lie detector tests are not admissible (in court)," Brown said. "but the question in my mind, as it would be in any lawyer's mind, is why didn't they pursue it with that information in hand."

The investigation ended three months after Kreiger's election. The file collected on Payne has never been made public.

Max Lambert, administrative assistant to the state liquor director, told the newspaper the investigation was discontinued because "we could not see that we had enough for prosecution."

However, Highway Safety Director Donald D. Cook, who in 1968 was state liquor director, said the investigation ended because Payne resigned his job.

The Plain Dealer also says it has a sworn affidavit from a cheat spot operator who alleges that he paid Payne $100 a month for a year to avoid being raided.

In reply to the newspaper's stories, Marion Koszweski, chief administrative assistant to the Kreiger, said that the investigation against Payne was dropped because of lack of evidence. He added that the proper place to test the validity of the charges is in the courts and not in the mass media.

U.S. eases some parts of embargo

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will announce today a partial lifting of the American economic embargo against Cuba, State Department sources disclosed.

The sources said the announcement will permit American firms operating in third countries to sell goods to Cuba for the first time in well over a decade.

The move is more of a gesture toward third countries than toward Cuba, the sources said, but they acknowledged it probably will be interpreted as a softening of the American position toward the Havana regime.

The decision will not affect two-way trade with Cuba, which has been banned by law since 1962. The State Department has asked Congress not to repeal that legislation, reasoning that it should be subject to negotiations with Cuba once bilateral talks on a normalization of relations begin.

Foreign countries have long complained about the restraints on sales to Cuba by American corporations operating within their borders.

Argentina and Canada, for example, have argued that the United States has no business trying to regulate the sales of American firms incorporated under the laws of those countries.

In April 1974, the State Department, in a major departure from previous policy, announced it would grant three U.S. auto manufacturers in Argentina licenses to export vehicles to Cuba.

Argentina had threatened the corporations with nationalization unless the deal were allowed to go through.

Police find hydrant ablaze

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Just before dawn a police dispatcher sat straight in his chair and asked: "What did you say was on fire?"

The patrolman's voice came back over the police radio loud and clear. "I said there's a fire hydrant on fire."

There were laughs in the quiet police radio room as the dispatcher came back on the air to say, "A fire hydrant, huh? Can't you turn on the water?"

"I don't have a wrench," the patrolman responded. "It's burning pretty good. Better notify the fire department."

Now it was the fire department's turn.

"What did you say was on fire?" asked the fire department dispatcher.

The police dispatcher explained that a hydrant had been doused with a flammable liquid and was burning on the east side. "A patrolman is standing there watching it," he added for authenticity.

A fire truck arrived about 4:30 a.m. and put out the blaze, fueled by a mixture of glue and paint on the hydrant.

Kissinger plot figure arrested

JERUSALEM (AP) — Police have detained an Israeli man on suspicion of conspiracy to assassinate Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, a spokesman said today.

The man, who was not identified, was picked up Wednesday night, less than 24 hours before Kissinger was due in Israel on his latest peace mission.

No other arrests have been made in connection with the case and further details were withheld.

Stock list plummets

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up about 4 points after the first hour, was down 1.10 at 792.16 by noon. Losers led gainers by a 4-3 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

As trading began, the government reported that its Consumer Price Index surged ahead at a 14.4 per cent annual rate in July, with both the food and non-food sectors registering two-digit increases.

Brokers traced the early upswing to some cautious bargain-hunting and short-covering—the repurchase of borrowed shares sold earlier in hopes of profiting from price declines.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks was off .10 at 44.20.

O'Brien questioned on Hoffa

DETROIT (AP) — Charles L. O'Brien was interviewed by investigators for five hours about the disappearance of Jimmy Hoffa, O'Brien's attorney says.

O'Brien, the foster son of the former Teamsters union boss, has been under pressure from the Hoffa family to take a lie detector test about his possible role in Hoffa's disappearance.

Attorney James Burdick said Wednesday that O'Brien spoke with a Michigan State Police officer and two FBI agents at the State Police office at Detroit Metropolitan Airport on Monday.

He said the question of a lie detector test was discussed but that O'Brien would not take one.

Burdick said the interview covered "very specific details on Mr. O'Brien's whereabouts" over a period of three or four days around July 30, the day Hoffa disappeared. He declined to elaborate.

The FBI refused all comment.

Meanwhile, Robert Ozer, head of the U.S. Justice Department's Organized Crime Strike Force in Detroit, said preparations to take the case to a federal grand jury were on schedule.

Federal officials hope the grand jury action will help them gain information from reluctant witnesses about Hoffa's fate.

Chase ends in arrest

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Jerry Lee Bittner, 31, Richmond, Ind., was scheduled to be returned to Cincinnati authorities today on charges of kidnapping and aggravated robbery following a wild road chase through southwestern Ohio Tuesday night amid numerous shots.

A total of 17 police departments were involved in the chase. Bittner was wounded in the leg after running a fourth roadblock, police said.

Hamilton police said Bittner forced his way into the car of Diane Jones, 21, of Hamilton at gunpoint in a parking lot and drove off after she jumped from the car.

Police charged a similar incident in Cincinnati in which Debra Malof, 19, was abducted in her car later. She escaped in suburban Glendale at a construction site.

Police forced Bittner off Ohio 4 after the car crashed through four road blocks after being chased for speeding, police said.

I would like to thank my family, friends, and neighbors, for all the cards, flowers, gifts and visits and their prayers, Rev. Hodgens for his visits.

And thanks to all the nurses and girls in housekeeping. A very special thanks to Dr. Herbert, Dr. Shaw, Dr. Roszmann, while I was a patient in Fayette Memorial Hospital.

Tiny woman has baby

The mother, Gloria Hurd of Orlando, Fla., a 23-year-old, 29-inch dwarf, became the mother of an 18½-inch son weighing 5 pounds, 9 ounces whom doctors said is normal.

"When Gloria came into the hospital," said her mother, Mrs. Fred G. Hurd of Cleveland, "she was all baby. She was as wide as she was tall."

The baby, Anthony Timbatchu, and the mother were reported in good condition.

Although dwarfs can give birth to normal-sized babies because of improved medical care, doctors attending the mother said, they termed it an unusual case.

Patronite sees lottery boost

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Gerald Patronite, acting director of the Ohio Lottery Commission who said his biggest current job is boosting sales, reports figures rose 9.43 per cent as the lottery began its second year.

Patronite said unofficial figures for the past week showed purchases totaled $2.39 million, or the equivalent of 4.79 million 50-cent tickets, adjusted to include the $1 Lucky Buck sales.

Earlier this week amidst a continuing controversy over allegations of irregularities, Patronite said in response to a question that his main effort now is to surpass Michigan's $143 million annual sales and Pennsylvania's $117 million.

No easy economic decisions by anyone

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Those in positions of leadership today know there are no easy decisions, no clear-cut answers, no sharply defined routes to follow, no positive actions that do not spin off some negative consequences.

They wish those who aren't in positions of power would understand this. At least that seems to be the lament, the frustration, of public officials. They might not express it publicly, but they do so in private.

Consider a few decisions and their ramifications:

—Sell more grain to the Soviet Union. It would further detente. It would help improve the U.S. trade balance and keep the U.S. dollar healthy. It would give U.S. farmers a good price for their labor and ingenuity.

But, it might also raise domestic food prices. It might arouse domestic strife because the AFL-CIO is angry about the lot of common people in the Soviet Union and highly disturbed about U.S. food prices.

—Pursue an easy money policy.

It would speed recovery from the recession. It would put people back to work. It might lower interest rates. It would help business finance its needs. It would, for a while at least help the stock market. It would help housing.

But, it probably would cause an acceleration of prices, a return to the very inflation that caused so many problems. And, it is feared, such a move would trigger a new recession in a year or so.

—Lend federal money to New York City.

It would help save financially distressed municipality. It would restore confidence in the municipal bond markets. It would give the city a chance to put its house in order.

But, it would also set a precedent — and there are fears that precedent would be followed widely. It wouldn't solve New York's problems or those of any other city — just postpone them.

"Out and About" with Mark Thellmann

Dear Readers,

Bill Metais, in the Record-Herald's ad department, has been spaced-out all week and in case you run into him on the streets, I think you should know why. Bill, who holds a bachelor's degree in music from Ohio Northern University - his main instrument being trumpet, went to see Maynard Ferguson perform with his orchestra at the Grandview Inn in Columbus last Saturday night.

Says Bill, who smiles reminiscently and takes a moment to answer when you ask him about the show, "It was one of the finest experiences I've ever had musically! Maynard has set forth a whole new dimension in the realm of jazz-rock both compositionally and performance-wise. One of the tightest groups I've ever hard!" Bill then mentally drifts back to the concert and mutters "wow" under his breath and you know you've lost contact.

Ferguson plays around the Ohio area frequently and we'll let ya know next time.

Love,
Mark

WILMINGTON, Ohio — Wilmington College will present another evening of free movies under the stars at 9 p.m. Friday, Aug. 22.

The movies will be shown outdoors on the college's Collett Mall, near the carillon. Admission is free and guests are urged to bring their own folding or lawn chairs or blankets to sit upon.

The feature film of the evening will be the Bette Davis, Joan Crawford chiller, "What Ever Happened To Baby Jane?"

When the film first came out, Time magazine called it "the year's scariest, funniest and most sophisticated chiller."

The story is about a has-been child star, "Baby Jane Hudson," whose cuteness has grown grotesque as she has grown older. Tension builds as the taut drama unfolds, building to a shocking climax. The film was nominated for five Academy Awards and won one.

Also shown that evening will be three humorous short films: "Pigskin Capers," "The Great McGonigle," and "Them Thar Hills."

Laurel and Hardy are featured in "Them Thar Hills," W. C. Fields stars in "The Great McGonigle," and the Marx Brothers romp through "Pigskin Capers."

AP Newsfeatures Writer

There's a part of the Nashville music community that doesn't like the music in this season's hottest new movie, "Nashville," because they think it isn't really country music, says Richard Baskin. Baskin, who is 26, born in Pasadena and without previous experience in country music, chose the songs for the movie, wrote about one-third of them and arranged and produced them all for the score and the soundtrack album on ABC.

"They really don't like it because Californians came into Nashville and knocked this movie off and we're getting the big response we're getting. They want everybody to think country music is a secret. We didn't use any Nashville songwriters. We had fun with it and did just as well as they do and maybe better. There's a certain segment that can't handle that.

"But country music is much bigger than Nashville. It's Roy Acuff and Linda Ronstadt. It's a fusion of styles. It's made all over the world."

The music was written in a way which seems remarkable to some observers but to Baskin is very matter of fact. "Singers all write their own songs these days, so we let our singers write their songs." But the movie's singers in the main aren't singers; they're actors playing singers. "Well, we wanted some kind of reality for these poeple. What could be more identifiable to themselves than their own songs? It made a lot of sense.

RICHARD BASKIN

Everybody in the film wanted to write, he says, and everybody tried. If it didn't work out, Baskin knew he could write songs and if his didn't work out, they could commission some Nashville songwriters. The latter was never done and Baskin says he didn't write as many as he could have because the ones he received from other people were so good.

Baskin knew he wanted a Bicentennial song and he wanted Haven Hamilton to sing it in the movie. He told Henry Gibson, who'd never written a song before, who was playing Haven, and two weeks later Gibson walked in with the words to "200 Years."

That was the only song meant to be bad, Baskin says. "It's meant to be the ultimate B record. If you listen to the album, there's too much echo on it and there's something not quite good about it.

"I didn't want any of them to be terrible. I looked for three things in a song. It should be a decent song and have something to say. It should tell something about the person singing it and why they were singing it. It should score the picture. We score it live; all the songs were recorded when you see them being sung in the picture. It's the first time that's ever been done in a theatrical feature."

Even director-producer Robert Altman got in the song-writing act, putting finishing touches to Baskin's "The Day I Looked Jesus in the Eye," which in the movie is heard played on a radio.

The whole movie idea arose, Baskin says, quickly adding that he wasn't around at that time, when Altman heard a song written by Keith Carradine, "It Don't Worry Me." Carradine now is going to make an album, as a result of the movie.

Actors were told to look for songs and Baskin got into it when Gwen Welles, who had been in Altman's "California Split" and who knew Baskin's sister, got in touch with him through his sister. Miss Welles plays Sueleen Gay in the movie and Baskin says yes, she's really singing as well as she can.

Baskin and Altman met in May of last year and hit it off immediately. Baskin knew Ronee Blakley, a singer-song writer with one album out. He knew he wanted to use some of her country-flavored songs. "When Susan Anspach didn't work out, Altman took a chance and gave her the part of Barbara Jean. We knew it wasn't a chance at all. There's nobody in the world could have played that part better than Ronee Blakley." His favorite song in the movie is one she wrote, "Tapedeck in his Tractor."

When Baskin was first given the job of selecting songs, he bought a lot of country records, but he soon discovered that he didn't need to imitate them. The songs he was getting were good enough and the musicians — all Nashville musicians, including the regular Grand Ole Opry band — were splendid.

When the movie was finished it was eight and a half hours long with 47 songs. Tom Walls cut it to about two and a half hours. Baskin says it'll be shown at full length on TV sometime, on four nights.

His own appearance, as the pianist Frog, went from 10 scenes to one. But he'll be Frog again in Altman's "Buffalo Bill and the Indians." Then he'll star in a movie made from a debut album he was cutting at the time "Nashville" came up, "City of the One-Night Stands," which will be produced by Altman and directed by Alan Rudolph.

The single from the soundtrack album will be Carradine's "I'm Easy." Baskin is sure that singers will want to record songs from the picture, in fact some wanted to before the picture was out but they were turned down so that the soundtrack LP would come out first. "You know who'll want to record them — some of the same people that say they don't sound country."

The two hours plus that you may spend watching Robert Altman's new movie "Nashville" will guarantee you a look behind the scenes into the world of country and western music. With political overtones woven into all that goes on in the city of Nashville, capital of country and western recording world, there is a bountiful mixture of comedy, drama, sex and what most people may find as "shock" appeal. The cast is carefully chosen and if you like minute concentration on "true to life" dramatization it is all there. The producer-director Robert Altman has turned the cinemascope color cameras on "behind the scenes" of a political campaign manager; some would-be hopeful country and western recording artist; at least two established C&W recording stars after they have acquired their mansions and private planes; managers; musicians; and the usual hangers-on to such people, in the same way he did "Baby Jane." The film will make a lot of money for Paramount and Altman but it is not for children. It is a modern "Say of the Locust" look at Nashville just as "Day of the Locust" looked at a sick 1930's Hollywood!

For entertainment with a capital "E" someone should bring "Benji" back for more. If you missed it you should not have! If there is any justice in the Academy Awards this pictrure should win several. It is heart-warming, delightful and the pitomy of what movie making should be. While the story line is kept simple, the action to a minimum and pathos low-key, the film is highly recommended to every person of any age. Certainly the writer, director, producer, camerman, composer, and especially the animal trainer should receive an Academy Award but especially the two main characters: Benji and Tiffany! The camera angles and sound recording from the dog's point of view are unique if you are technically minded, but if you just want to be thoroughly entertained this is the picture to see. If you complain about bad movies all the time then this will prove you never go see what you complain about!

"Tom Sawyer" should not be a musical, although it was in this recent adaptation. The music is good and the production excellent for it was all photographed in natural surroundings along the Mississippi River in Missouri. However, "Tom Sawyer" is a Mark Twain classic and there just isn't time to put Tom, Aunt Polly, Beckey, Indian Joe, Huck Funn, and all the episodes of the complete "Adventures of Tom Sawyer" to music and into one picture. Children who have never read the book will enjoy it and adults will be reminded of their childhood throughout the movie, but will miss the details that made Mark Twain a great author. The picture is still being played in the area and probably won't make it to the TV audience for several years.

"Baby Snooks" was a real radio fan's favorite of the 1930's. However "Funny Lady" does not deal with the Baby Snooks part of Fanny Brice's life. This is the sequel to "Funny Girl" and this picture is built around the part of Fanny Brice's life that she spent with Billy Rose (James Caan). Billy Rose made the Acquade famous and was producer of such Broadway musicals as "Jumbo." a complete circus on the theatrical state.

Barbara Streisand sings some of the songs Billy Rose wrote and the music is impecably performed. If you enjoyed "Funny Girl" then you will welcome this sequel although it does not have the detailed attention required by an Academy Award winning picture.

Beach Boys far from washed up

AP Newsfeatures Writer

Mike Love of the Beach Boys would like for the group to go on a world tour during the Bi-centennial with Stevie Wonder and another American group.

"We are so mid-stream, mid-America. No other group typifies that as much as we do, I think. I want to make a Bicentennial album. I want us to sing 'America the Beautiful' a-capella, in four-part harmony.

"I'm very nasty, snide and caustic about America's faults and failings but we're a most positive and creative country." One of Love's criticisms is that, since politicians do what their constituents want them to, the general public hasn't been vigorous enough about insisting on progress to combat evils such as pollution and alcoholism.

"Our albums have always been positive. Our philosophy has been to project good fun, entertainment, good times. I've always been of the feeling people will be attracted to what makes them feel good. Our music in general has grown more positive."

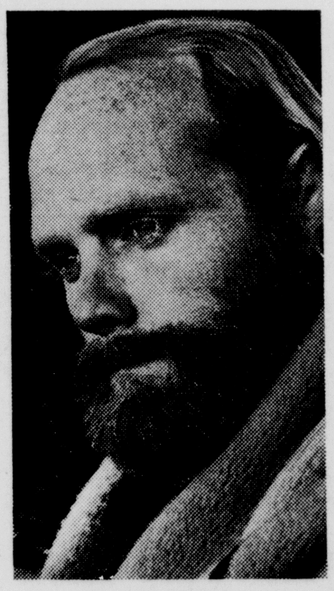
Love explains that the group went from superficial to meaningful in subject matter, staying positive and growing. "Musically we made the transition in 1965-66. We started singing about other things besides surfing, cars and girl friends. Capitol Records thought we were overstepping our nice Southern California sunny-sideup profile.

" 'Pet Sounds' in 1966 was the climax of our new group awareness of more positive and emotional issues. Capitol wanted 'Shut Down Vol. 5.' They released 'Pet Sounds' but they didn't promote it very strongly."

Love considers "Pet Sounds" and "Smile," which never has been released, as the group's two best albums. "We intend to release 'Smile ' someday. Capitol wouldn't promote us as a group with an evolving consciousness. In 1968 they were still promoting us as the No. 1 surfing group in the U.S.A."



MIKE LOVE

At present, the Beach Boys' LP, "Spirit of America," on Capitol, is No. 16 on the chart and "Sail on Sailor," on Reprise, is No. 70 on the singles chart.

"Up to 1967 Brian Wilson was overwhelmingly the musical writer and arranger and he wrote a significant amount of lyrics. Now each guy in the group writes songs and is creative individually. It's much broader. Brian still is best at harmonies. He left touring around 1963 or '64. No law states you have to go and be a rock star."

Love's main personal concerns now are diet — he has been a vegetarian around seven years — and transcendental meditation. He learned that in 1967, took training and has been teaching it since early 1968.

"The 'Surf's Up' album of three or four years ago had a lot of stuff to do with pollution and consciousness on it. All of us have learned meditation.

"I figure the main two causes of disease that kill people are tension and stress and inner and outer pollution. By meditation you can gain deep rest and relaxation to support your activity — which we have plenty of."

The Beach Boys play benefit concerts for causes they believe in, one of which is the National Council on Alcoholism.

"Transcendental meditation can dissolve feelings of stress that cause some people to go into drinking. If you limit the amount of causes, you can lessen the problem. Alcoholism is a bigger problem in this country than drug addiction." Love adds that he's down on drugs, too. "We played a concert recently and people were smoking hash and blowing out. It bugs me. I hate it. I don't even smoke."

Love also admits that he thinks he has an addictive personality. "When I used to drink, I drank a lot. Now I meditate a lot. If you're going to be addicted to something, it's better for it to be something good."

Gold LPs by the group are "All Summer Long," "The Beach Boys in Concert," "Surfer Girls," "Surfin' U.S.A.," "The Beach Boys in Concert," "Shut Down Vol. 2," "Little Deuce Coupe," "Best of the Beach Boys," "Endless Summer" and "Spirit of America."

"The last few years have been amazing," Love says. "The lowest point in terms of popularity — we never had one in terms of creativity — was 1968-71. Things have worked their way back now to where we're doing really well. The attitude at concerts is so positive. I look forward to performing. Everybody has a good time.

"I remember the first show we got paid for as the Beach Boys. It was a Richie Valens memorial. They said all his friends would be there; we'd never met him. It was at the Long Beach Municipal Hall; we'd just recorded "Surfin' " on New Year's Eve 1961 and the group had got together a few months before that. We got $300. My uncle, our manager, didn't take a cut. We each walked up to the box office and got $60 cash — no mailing it to us later.

"I was a sheet metal apprentice at that time and gas, oil and check-the-tires attendant at a gas station. I was married at the time and needed money for cribs and things. My Dad asked me what I'd do if the group didn't work out. I told him I'd be back bending metal. I haven't bent any metal since."

R-H weekly carrier series

We salute

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Powell, 137 McKinley Ave., Jonathan has been a Record-Herald newspaper carrier for the past six months. He has a total of 69 customers on his route.

Jonathan, who will be a fifth grader this fall at Cherry Hill Elementary School, enjoys collecting half dollars as a hobby. His favorite subject in school is spelling and his favorite foods are pizza, lasagna, chocolate pudding and scalloped potatoes. His favorite sports are baseball and football and in his spare time Jonathan rides bicycles, mows yards and paints with his father.

"I put most of my money earned on my route in the bank and save the half dollars at home," Jonathan said. He said he has purchased a golf bag, a set of walkie-talkies and helped pay for his glasses with money earned from the paper route.

"Folding papers, having to go back lots of times to collect from some customers and delivering papers in the rain," are the only dislikes Jonathan has about being a Record-Herald carrier.

JONATHAN D. POWELL

"Jonathan is a very satisfactory paper boy. He always puts the paper on the porch and we like him very much," said Tom Haynie, 812 Clinton Ave., one of the customers of Jonathan's route.

"Jonathan is a very pleasant paper boy and we like him a lot," said Carolyn Toppins, 720 Clinton Ave., another of Jonathan's customers.

Robert Grim replaces Wilson

Junior Achievement board names new center manager

A new Fayette County Junior Achievement center manager was named Wednesday by the Junior Achievement board of directors during their regular monthly meeting held in the Washington Inn Restaurant.

Grim replaces Ernie Wilson of Washington C.H. as the Junior Achievement center manager. Wilson resigned from the position after serving for a two-year period.

During the meeting conducted by board president Curtis E. Fleisher, it was announced that the annual fund-raising campaign is in the process of being completed.

Fleisher also a number of exterior improvements including installation of new carpeting have been scheduled.

Recruitment of students to participate in the Junior Achievement program here was discussed by Bruce Beery, of Columbus, a representative of the Central Ohio Junior Achievement organization.

Fleisher, principal at Miami Trace High School, and Washington Senior High School principal Fred Jones said recruiting of Junior Achievement participants has been scheduled. The recruiting campaigns will be held Wednesday, Sept. 24 in both Washington Senior and Miami Trace high schools.

Beery also commended the local Junior Achievement organization. Although the local organization has only three companies, compared with 56 in the entire district, the awards and scholarships received locally has been outstanding, Beery said.

It was noted that the past year was extremely successful for the Junior Achievement program here. A larger number of students participated and more students finished the program than in past years.

Three companies will be operating under the Junior Achievement program this year. They will operate one night per week beginning the first full week in October.

Alan Witherspoon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Witherspoon, 606 Charlotte Court, attended the meeting to report to board members on the national junior achievement convention held recently. Witherspoon, who will be a senior this fall at Washington Senior High School, served as a delegate-at-large from the Columbus district during the convention held at Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind.

Witherspoon served as vice president in charge of purchasing for the Armco Steel Corp.-sponsored company in the Junior Achievement program here last school year.

Partly cloudy skies and patches of fog prevailed elsewhere over the state, with heavy fog reported along the Ohio River in southeastern counties. Morning lows were mostly in the 60s.

A warm front extends from southern Virginia through southwest Ohio and northwest Indiana to a low pressure center in Minnesota. The low is moving east and expected to be in the lower St. Lawrence Valley by early Friday.

MT sets free lunch policy

Guy M. Foster, superintendent of the Miami Trace School District, today announced a policy for free meals and free milk for children unable to pay the full price.

"Eligibility determinations are made on a family basis, that is, all the children in the same family attending schools under the jurisdiction of this school food authority receive the same benefits, free meals and free milk," Foster said.

He said to receive free meals and free milk, the family income after deductions for special hardship conditions applicable to family size must be equal or less than criteria established by school officials.

Children from families whose income is at or below the levels established will be eligible for free meals and free milk. In addition, families not meeting the criteria but with other unusual expenses due to unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 per cent of income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, and disaster or casualty losses, are also urged to apply, according to the school superintendent.

Application forms are being sent to all homes in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. The information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility, Foster said. Applications may be submitted at any time during the school year.

"In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits," Foster stated. "If a family has foster children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals and milk, they should contact the school."

Foster said in the operation of child feeding progams, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color or national origin.

Under the provisions of the school's policy, Elmer Haymaker, visiting teacher, will review all applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he may make a request either orally or in writing to Guy M. Foster, superintendent, 414 E. Court St., Washington C.H. for a hearing to appeal the decision. The policy contains an outline of the hearing procedure.

Each school and the board of education administrative office has a copy of the complete policy which may be reviewed by any interested person.

Local school officials have adopted the following family size-income criteria for determining eligibility in the program:

Family size	Income scale
1	$3,230
2	$4,240
3	$5,250
4	$6,260
5	$7,190
6	$8,110
7	$8,950
8	$9,790
9	$10,550
10	$11,310

DAYTON — Dayton Power and Light Co. president Robert E. Frazer stated today that promising lower utility bills by changing the type of rate base cruelly misleads the general public.

He said that such action would not lower the costs of providing service. In fact, the financial community is so aware of the decline in the earnings of Ohio utilities that a change in the type of rate base would actually increase interest rates and raise utility costs to consumers.

In testimony given to the Joint Select Committee on Energy (Carney Committee) in Columbus, Frazer said, "Utility costs have gone up, not because of the type of rate base, but because of four distinct developments: inflation, shortages of fuel, environmental protection requirements and regulatory delays in the state of Ohio. The existing rate base worked well when DP&L was able to reduce electric rates four times during the 1960's."

Ohio needs additional legislation which would allow increases in rates on a timely basis. Current Public Utilities Commission of Ohio procedures cause long delays in the recovery of inflated operating costs. This has deteriorated the financial condition of the state's utilities, ultimately forcing large increases in consumer bills. Frazer said, "Let's have a system that adds pennies to the bills periodically, similar to the way the corner grocery store adds a few cents now and then to a loaf of bread or a quart of milk. Consumers, especially the poor and those on fixed incomes have difficulties with large increases, as experienced in 1974 and 1975, when double digit inflation attacked the entire family budget. We know rates will go up as new facilities are built to meet consumer demands and as inflation continues. It is important that we, industry and government, be honest with the consumer and tell him this."

Highland, Clinton counties agree on boundary revision

HILLSBORO — Land surveys along the Highland-Clinton county line will be much easier now, thanks to a joint resolution signed by county commissioners of the two counties.

The move was made because there has been no marked points in the area for surveyors to use. The absence of such points created problems whenever surveys were made on land abutting the county line.

Richard Hill, a member of the Highland County Board of Commissioners, said that the boundary revision does not make any changes in where anyone will vote or pay taxes.

The boundary line was recommended by county engineers Lowell McCarty of Highland County and James Nimz of Clinton County.

Work was launched on the project last year. Total cost was $4,500, each county paying $2,250. A private engineering firm handled much of the detailed work.

Armco cuts price hikes

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Armco Steel Corp., the nation's fifth largest producer, announced price revisions identical to those announced by U.S. Steel Corp. Aug. 9.

Armco earlier hiked carbon steel by 9 per cent but withdrew the increases following the U.S. Steel announcement raising some prices and lowering others.

Wednesday's announcement raises flat rolled steel used in the auto industry by 5.7 per cent effective Oct. 1 and varied rates on plate, structural and tubular products Sept. 1.

"We are competitive with U.S. Steel," and Armco spokesman said.

The firm had sought the increases blaming rising costs of salaries and raw materials plus losses.

Health service plan accepted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's proposal for dividing the state into health services areas has been accepted by the federal government with minor changes, the Department of Health said Wednesday.

Gov. James A. Rhodes' request that the nine-county area around Lima be made a district although it doesn't meet federal populations requirements was granted.

The U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare put three Kentucky counties into the Ohio plan rather than six that Rhodes proposed.

The department said health service areas will be used in the evaluation of various state and federal health care programs. Individuals will be free to go outside an area for health services if they desire, the department said.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Orangutan seeks ride: object-'matrimony'

DEAR ABBY: Because you have always been a good friend to the Como Park Zoo, I am asking a favor of you.

We have a 5-month-old orangutan named Joy who has been invited to the Los Angeles Zoo on a "breeding loan." They have a male orangutan named Guy whom they would like to mate with Joy.

Do you know anyone who has an air-conditioned automobile who would be willing to drive Joy and her foster parents (Arlene and Joe Scheunemann) to Chicago to board an airplane to transport Joy to L.A.?

Joy is small enough to be held in one's arms, she has good manners, and she would do no damage to the automobile.

JOHN FLETCHER, DIRECTOR
ST. PAUL COMO PARK ZOO

DEAR JOHN: If Joy is a "liberated" organutan, she may not like the idea of going to L.A. to accommodate the male. If Guy wants a date with a sure thing, why doesn't HE fly to St. Paul?

On the other hand, If Joy WANTS to meet Guy in L.A., I will provide the child bride with air-conditioned transportation. And I hope she returns "heir-conditioned."

DEAR ABBY: My husband does sheet-rock work for a living. He makes good money, but he's always wanted to be an accountant, so he's been going to night school. He's young and will finish his accounting course next year.

The problem is that everyone we meet asks Carl what he does for a living, and when he tells them he does sheet-rock work they say, "Oh, come and take a look at this hole in my wall," or, "I've been looking for someone to do that kind of work for me."

Carl and I both work five days a week, and we like to have our weekends free to maybe go someplace together, but with all these sheet-rock jobs he has to do for friends, he's tied up.

How can Carl turn these people down in a nice way?

CARL'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Carl should simply tell them that he's sorry but he doesn't have the time. And he'd better start practicing that line while he's still in sheet-rock because when he becomes an accountant, he'll have even more "friends" imposing on him for favors.

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to your column item about the person who loved to travel, but who invariably had a seat next to some longwinded bore.

I pretend I don't speak English!

It is a nearly fool-proof method I have used for years. When someone cranks up, I say: "No hablo ingles" or "J'n parle francaise," etc.

Of course I have to be careful that when the stewardess or bus driver comes by, I don't respond in English! I also have to be careful to conceal an English language book or newspaper, which is a dead giveaway. With these precautions, it works nearly every time.

One of my female friends discourages would-be conversationalists by removing her partial upper plate. A big, toothless grin in the direction of the offender is usually sufficient.

Miss McCoy, Mr. Creamer wed in Southside Church of Christ

On Saturday, Aug. 2, Miss Sue Ann McCoy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Langdon McCoy, 2969 State Route 753, SE, became the bride of J. Randall Creamer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Creamer, 4268 Washington-Waterloo Road.

The sanctuary of the South Side Church of Christ was decorated with altar vases and a pedestal basket of peach, mint green and white Kilian daisies, white gladioli and cathedral candles for the 1:30 p.m. ceremony. Mr. James (Pete) Creamer of the Allensburg Church of Christ and brother of the bridegroom, read the wedding vows written by the young couple for their exchange of wedding bands.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of ivory satin organza and Brussels lace with empire waist and sheer lace yoke. Long tapered sleeves ended in lace ruffles at the wrist, the lace also edging a flowing flounce panel. Her veil was fashioned by the bridegroom's grandmother of bridal illusion falling from a tiara of lace embroidered with seed pearls. Her bouquet was a cascade of ivory daisies, stephanotis and sweetheart roses tied with streamers of ivory satin ribbon and ivy.

Miss Jo Lynn McCoy, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, Mrs. James Creamer of Allensburg, matron of honor, and bridesmaids, Miss Donna Athey and Miss Marilyn Creamer, led the bridal procession down the center aisle lighted by hurricane lamps entwined with greenery and mint green ribbons. Their floor-length gowns of flower-printed voile were fashioned with square necklines and empire waists in shades of peach and mint green matched in their flowers-single blossoms of daisies tied with picot ribbon streamers.

Attendants for Mr. Creamer were Scott Tipton of Shreve, best man, and groomsmen, Greg Rector of Barberton, Randy Wood of Chesapeake, Jerry Sears of Cookston Hills, Ark., and Michael McCoy of Bloomingburg.

Mrs. McCoy, the bride's mother, chose an afternoon gown of primrose yellow chiffon over taffeta with the full cuffed sleeves embroidered with daisies. Mrs. Creamer's gown was of peach chiffon with cap sleeves extending into a waist-length cape. Both mothers wore corsage bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses and white daisies.

Grandmothers of the couple, Mrs. Geneva Allemang, Mrs. J.G. Jordan and Mrs. Rex Creamer, had corsages of white daisies.

Miss Judi Wise and Miss Lauri Mulkins, Norton of Ohio, Miss Debbie Barker of Nw Richmond, Mrs. Michael McCoy and Mrs. John Jordan served as hostesses for a reception in Fellowship Hall following the ceremony and presided at the punch bowl. The bride's table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake topped with a silver cross and set in a garland of peach and green Marguerite daisies, lighted by yellow candles.

After a motoring trip to the East coast, Mr. and Mrs. Creamer are residing in Grayson, Ky. The bride will be graduated from the College of Nursing at Morehead State University in December. Mr. Creamer is a divinity student at Kentucky Christian College, Grayson, Ky., and presently serves as senior youth minister in the Hillsboro, Ohio Church of Christ.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Creamer were hosts to the bridal party for a rehearsal dinner at their country home on the eve of the wedding.

BY SANDY FOSSON

Local members of the Telephone Pioneers of American, a non-profit social organization of Ohio Bell Telephone Co. employes, have obtained five additional telephone-typewriter communications systems (TTY units) with two more on the way for use by area deaf residents.

The Ohio Bell Telephone Co. in Washington C.H. has donated the machines (estimated valued at $2,600 each) to the Telephone Pioneers of America to be distributed through the local D.E.A.F. corporation to families with a deaf member in Fayette County as an emergency communications system.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department installed an emergency TTY unit in the sheriff's headquarters just two weeks ago to offer a communication link between deaf or mute persons and emergency personnel and the interest has grown tremendously.

Miss Janet Duvall, president of D.E.A.F., Inc., a non-profit organization to assist the deaf, said she was surprised and very pleased to hear the Telephone Pioneers had obtained the additional TTY units. She said one family in Fayette County has a TTY unit installed in their home while two others are waiting for their systems.

Persons having a TTY unit in their homes can call the Fayette County Sheriff's Department, then type the message needed on their teletype machine, which is printed out on the sheriff's department's receiver machine. The deputy on duty can then relate the message to the needed emergency department, whether it be the fire department, police, sheriff or doctor.

Miss Duvall said that because the machines were being donated to the organization by the Telephone Pioneers of America, the D.E.A.F. organization would not charge for the use of the machines in the homes. She said the only cost to the deaf or mute persons would be for the accoustic coupler needed to attach to the machine for transmitting the message into the Sheriff's office. Couplers generally cost $125, according to Robert Woods, president of the local Telephone Pioneers group and a lineman for the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

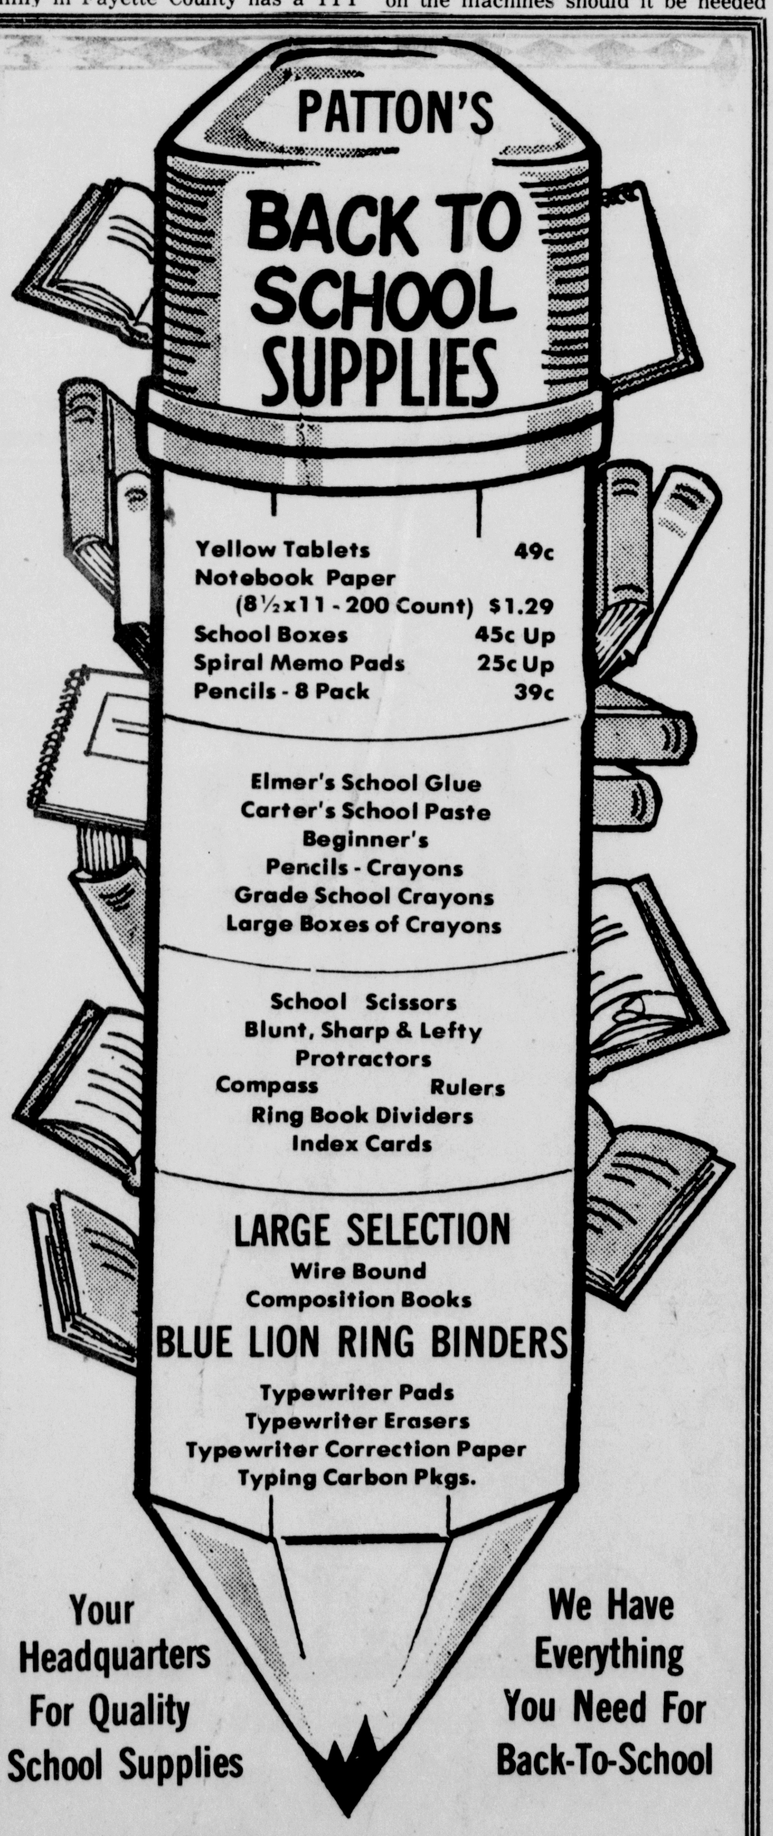
Woods said the Ohio Bell PBX operator may also try to train one of the deaf persons to do simple maintenance on the machines should it be needed when a PBX operator could not be reached.

The ultimate goal of the D.E.A.F organization is to supply an emergency communication unit to every home in the county where a deaf person resides, Miss Duvall said. She added there were approximately 12 deaf persons now living in Fayette County.

Once the deaf and mute residents locally have been equipped with the TTY units, Miss Duvall said the D.E.A.F., which has been chartered as a state corporation, will then expand its servicing to other areas of the state.

She noted a woman in Wilmington had already obtained her own teletype machine for communicating through the Fayette County Sheriff's Department because Clinton County does not have such an emergency communications center.

Woods said the Pioneers, composed of employes who have served 21 or more years in the telephone industry, conduct various community service projects annually. Other projects sponsored by the group included obtaining various equipment for the Fayette Progressive School including a talking stuffed animal used to assist retarded or deaf children in speech therapy, and an "audio ball," equipped with a battery-operated beep tone to enable blind children to play baseball.



Woman not dog owner

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Fred J. Fromm feels tagged as an absent-minded dog owner who constantly loses her pets, but she says she actually hasn't owned one in 25 years.

The problem is the tags the dogs wear.

Mrs. Fromm says she has received dozens of calls from persons who believe they have found a dog she lost. That's because the tags carry the name Fromm "and we are the only Fromm in the Warren telephone book," she says.

And veterinarian Rufus A. Sparks explains the rest: Fromm is the name of a firm making rabies vaccine, and the vaccine was used to inoculate about 2,600 dogs here since spring.

For public inoculations, Trumbull County gives out numbered tags supplied by the manufacturer and keeps the number on record to answer queries, Sparks says.

The first such mixup came several years ago, Mrs. Fromm says, adding, "Now it doesn't surprise me, but it does the people who call."

Long-time Ohio farms sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — How many Ohio farms have been in the same family 100 years or more?

To qualify for a certificate, the farm must contain at least 80 acres that were in the tract 100 years ago. Entries will be received until Dec. 31.

"We think this program will help recognize the families, who through the years, have made a firm commitment to love and conserve the land," said S. C. Cashman, a farm bureau vice president.

The names will be given to the Ohio Historical Society if a bill authorizing it to recognize century-old farms passes the legislature, he said.

The bill was introduced by Sen. Donald E. Lukens, R-4 Middletown. It is now in the Senate Education and Welfare Committee.

Village constructed from tree limbs

Tribe of friendly Indians settle here

BY MARK THELLMANN

A friendly tribe of Indians has settled on the outskirts of Washington Manor Court mobile home park, CCC-Highway-W, near the U.S. 35 bypass.

Tribal chief Mark Patton explained, "Actually none of us are Indians, but we are all interested in Indian lore. Last week when the Poplar trees were pruned and some of them cut down at the trailer park in which we live, we decided it would be an adventure to attempt teepee construction and live like Indians for awhile."

The 17-year-old Patton, the eldest member of the tribe consisting of some 13 trailer park residents, including four-year-old Tammy Osborne, said with everyone psyched about the project and working diligently last Saturday, "Injun Village" went up in no time at all. The teepees are constructed in the familiar conical shapes with a curtain or blanket hanging in the doorway. Some of the six teepees are reinforced with sod and appear to be pretty sound in structure. Older members of the tribe have been sleeping out in the teepees and all members have participated in cooking some meals over stone-rimmed campfires. One meal which came off without a hitch was a soup lunch, prepared during a break last week when most of the village was constructed.

The village has been granted permission to stand for while before the dead trees have to be cleared away. According to Patton, it will probably be a day in fall when the weather has turned cold and the tribe members have exchanged their bows and arrows for schoolbooks and the inside of their trailer homes will be more familiar than the summer teepees.

"Injun Village" will then disappear as rapidly as it appeared that warm Saturday afternoon in mid-August and a summer memory will be stored for winter reminiscence.

Judges sour over ads

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The sentencing records of judges in drug-selling cases in the suburban San Fernando Valley are being displayed in a Kiwanis newspaper ad campaign, and the judges don't like it.

The ads, published every two weeks in the Van Nuys Valley News and Green Sheet, compare sentences handed out with the maximum penalty the judge could have imposed. In each case, the name of the judge, but not the defendant, is used.

"I think it's unfair to the judges because the only purpose is to point out to the public that judges are universally lenient and not doing their duty by giving maximum sentences," says Superior Court Judge Raymond R. Roberts.

San Francisco strike seen over

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Leaders of striking police and firemen agreed to a proposed settlement early today after long hours of negotiations mediated by Mayor Joseph L. Alioto.

The mayor predicted that the city's board of supervisors, who had disagreed sharply with him over handling of the pay dispute, would accept the tentative agreement. Details of the proposal were not disclosed.

"I am very happy that the parties have reached a proposed settlement of the dispute relating to police and firemen," Alioto said at an impromptu news conference.

"I think after they (supervisors) have a good night's sleep, they will agree that what has been done here is in the best interest of all San Franciscans," said Alioto, who was joined by strike leaders at the news conference.

Alioto said the tentative settlement would be offered to members of the Police Officers Association, Fire Fighters Local 798 and the board of supervisors "at the earliest possible moment."

Asked when he thought police and firemen would be back on the job, Alioto said, "We are going to leave the situation as it is at present."

About 90 per cent of the city's 1,935 policemen went on strike Monday after supervisors approved a 6.5 per cent salary incrase, half of what police had demanded. Firemen, seeking the same wage boost, joined the strike Wednesday night.

Jerry Schroff, vice president of the firemen's union, estimated that of the 1,700 men on the force, only about 200 were on duty after an overwhelmingly favorable strike vote.

The current pay schedule for police ranges from $16,044 for rookies to $25,944 for captains. Firemen's salaries are the same as policemen's.

Supervisory personnel and some nonstriking police and firemen provided emergency protection after the walkouts.

The board of supervisors voted a state of emergency Wednesday before the firemen's strike, asking that Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. be requested to send in 200 state highway patrolmen to help police the city.

But Alioto refused to declare the emergency, and supervisors voted unanimously late Wednesday to ask Brown directly for the highway patrolmen.

At that point, Supervisor Terry Francois said Alioto "is not negotiating on our behalf. We never asked him to negotiate."

Dianne Feinstein, president of the board of supervisors, said: "As far as we're concerned, until the public safety needs of this city are met, there are no further negotiations planned."

Meanwhile, officers of the 1,850 member Transport Workers Union, who had been earning $6.73 an hour, agreed to a 6.5 per cent pay raise, averting a bus strike threatened for midnight tonight. A strike would have affected 500,000 daily bus and trolley passengers.

Mrs. Ford against separate bedrooms

NEW YORK (AP) — First Lady Betty Ford says the White House tradition of separate bedrooms "is just too far to go for politics" and she sleeps with her husband "as often as possible."

Mrs. Ford is quoted in the September issue of McCall's magazine as saying she got letters "from all across the country" after she was reported to have spurned the White House practice of separate sleeping chambers.

Many of the writers seemed to "feel it is very immoral for us to be using the same bedroom," Mrs. Ford said. She complained that apparently some Americans think a man who becomes president is "supposed to become a eunuch."

Mrs. Ford, 57, sparked controversy two weeks ago when she said in a television interview that she would not be surprised if her 18-year-old daughter Susan came to her and said she was having an affair. Susan later said she was not having an affair.

Writer Myra MacPherson says the First Lady shows no generation gap in her attitudes toward younger people's opinions and ways of life, including living together though unmarried.

In this connection, Mrs. Ford is quoted as saying, "Sometimes I'm not so sure that maybe this generation approaches life more wisely than we have. I know that may seem controversial, but it's an actual fact that in college more couples are living off campus together. If these things are going to take place, if I were the parent, I'd rather have the children come to me and feel free to tell me."

She added that freedom to indulge in such a life style might be "impossible for my own children," being White House children. But she adds, "I don't think they'd do it anyway. I don't think they are inclined that way."

Mrs. Ford says she has always had a strong civil libertarian streak, nurtured by her mother's tolerant attitude for people, according to McCall's.

The magazine said Mrs. Ford's personality asserted itself following her very public and emotionally painful breast cancer surgery, an operation whose side effects were eased by the President's empathy.

"It was easy for me to accept the operation," Mrs. Ford says. "I had been married 26 years and we had our four children. There was no problem of lack of love, affection and attention."

Letter carriers ratify contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — One major postal union is announcing its approval of a new labor agreement with the Postal Service while another union is beginning to count its members' ballots.

The National Association of Letter Carriers scheduled an announcement of its ratification of the new three-year contract for today. James H. Rademacher, president of the 200,000-member union, said that with 70 per cent of the votes counted by Wednesday night, the voting was better than 2 to 1 for ratification.

"This is an overwhelming vote which shows the membership of the union favored the settlement, despite severe opposition from local leaders in some of the big cities," Rademacher said.

Meanwhile, the 300,000-member American Postal Workers Union planned to begin counting votes today.

"We expect to have a count by Saturday. At this point we have no idea what the vote will be," said union President Francis Filbey.

The 46,000-member National Rural Letter Carriers Association ratified the contract at a convention and the Mailhandlers Division of the Laborers International Union, with 4,000 members, is still discussing details of the pact with the Postal Service.

The four unions and the Postal Service reached tentative agreement on the contract July 21, thereby averting the possibility of a nationwide mail strike. Leaders of the unions predicted then that the contract would be ratified.

The postal workers won scheduled raises totaling $1,500 over three years plus continued cost-of-living increases. They also won retention of a no-layoff clause in what both sides called the major issue at the bargaining table.

Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar has said the new pact will increase the Postal Service's annual operating costs by $2 billion and require it to seek an increase in first-class postage to 13 cents by the end of this year.

Crime official says some youthful thugs need jailing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of a new government campaign against juvenile delinquency says that 15 per cent of the nation's young criminals ought to be "locked up because they're dangerous and we don't know what to do with them."

John Greacen, head of the National Institute for Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention, predicted in an interview Wednesday that the U.S. rate of juvenile crime will continue high for at least 15 more years. He said the new agency, which will spend $25 million on juvenile crime programs between now and Dec. 31, cannot hope to curb the youth crime rate in the immediate future.

"I don't see any substantial likelihood that the amount of youth crime in the United States is going to go down any substantial degree between now and 1990," Greacen said.

Statistics compiled by the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, the institute's parent agency, show that the rate of arrests per 100,000 juveniles increased from 7.4 in 1963 to about 12 in 1973.

The juvenile arrest rate for violent crimes more than doubled during the same period, Greacen said. He also cited FBI statistics showing that persons under 18 accounted for 23 per cent of all arrests for violent crimes in 1973.

He said he expects the increase in youth crime to "reach its peak" soon. "But it's not going to go down from that peak, because nothing is changing. The relative proportion of persons in the crime-prone years is not changing very dramatically," he noted.

"When you look at where the problem really is, which is inner-city minority youths, and you make demographic projections there, you see that there really will be little change over the next 15 years."

Greacen said he agrees with a number of juvenile authorities that about 15 per cent "of those youths who we would call delinquents should be handled in a pretty strong way. They should be locked up."

Gonclaves on way out in Portugal

Anti-Communists in the armed forces threatened Wednesday to overthrow the government by force if President Francisco da Costa Gomes did not fire Goncalves, who advocates a Soviet-oriented brand of communism.

Costa Gomes later told 18 new junior officers at a swearing-in ceremony, "It is not simple to be a member of a government team whose duration can be expressed in days."

The president was reported to favor naming the army chief of staff, Gen. Carlos Fabiao, as premier. A Paris newspaper said Fabiao told it the Goncalves regime did not have much time left.

Communist leader Alvaro Cunhal indicated his party would go along with the removal of Goncalves as a way to cut its political losses.

Cunhal told a news conference the premier's Communistline leadership "has not solved all the problems" facing Portugal. The Communist party is "open to look for other solutions to solve the crisis." he said. "... No one may put his personal ambition before the general interest of the revolution."

However, the Communists brought out tens of thousands of soldiers, farmers and workers for a march through Lisbon Wednesday night in support of Goncalves.

The marchers chanted, "The soldiers always, always with the people.... Down with fascism. Down with capitalism."

Election funding brings confusion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Election Commission is having a hard time deciding just what Congress meant when it voted to match presidential campaign contributions with tax dollars.

The controversy centers on whether Congress wanted the federal matching funds to be calculated against the gross receipts collected by a candidate, or against his net receipts after fund-raising expenses are deducted.

Depending on how the commission resolves the dispute, millions of dollars of public funds could hang in the balance for presidential hopefuls seeking federal matching money under the new campaign financing law.

Approved by Congress last year, the new campaign financing law makes dollar-for-dollar federal funds available to candidates who meet certain criteria.

Candidates wishing to qualify for the federal funds must first raise at least $5,000 in amounts of $250 or less in each of 20 states. Once a candidate qualifies, the government will match each contribution of up to $250 in the primaries, up to $5 million for each candidate.

The law does not specify whether gross or net contributions are to be used in the calculations. If the six-member commission interprets the law to mean "net" contributions, as some of the commissioners including chairman Thomas B. Curtis are advocating, it could pose a major stumbling block to presidential candidates in their efforts to qualify for the matching funds and in the amount of money they could receive once qualified.

Commissioner Thomas E. Harris asserted that if the issue were litigated, the courts would rule that Congress intended for "gross" contributions to be used. "There's nothing in the act's legislative history that shows 'net,'" he said.

But Curtis indicated he favors a policy by which candidates must deduct fund-raising expenses from their gross contributions — at least for determining basic eligibility for the matching funds.

That would prevent a candidate from spending nearly $5,000 on a fund-raising event to raise $5,000 and meet the eligibility requirements, he argued. Such an interpretation would keep frivolous candidates from becoming eligible for the federal money, Curtis said.

TV Viewing

By LEE MARGULIES
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Question: What seven-time Academy Award winner is considered too controversial for television?

Answer: You won't believe this, but it's "Tom and Jerry."

William Hanna and Joseph Barbera, who created the forever feuding cat and mouse 35 years ago, regained rights to the cartoon characters not long ago from MGM and hotfooted it over to the networks.

"We ran into a stone wall," Barbera reports, "because some citizens for the protection of the children of the world have decided cartoons are evil, that they're violent and full of mayhem.

"We showed them (the network folks) five of the old 'Tom and Jerrys' and they laughed so hard they had tears in their eyes. Then they said, 'We can't use them. If we put those on we'll get killed.'"

The reason is that the "Tom and Jerry" cartoons, with their classic slapstick antics in which characters often knock each other silly, are too violent by today's television standards — which were instituted a few years ago in response to pressure by parents' activist groups.

Never mind Tom and Jerry's seven Oscars and their worldwide popularity that spawned 147 cartoons between 1940 and 1947.

Hanna and Barbera weren't surprised the old ones wouldn't go, having had more than a little experience in the field.

Since departing MGM in 1957 to form their own animation studio, they have turned out more than 100 cartoon series for television, including "The Flintstones," "Yogi Bear" and the current hit, "Scooby-Doo."

What they proposed instead was making new "Tom and Jerry" cartoons — the first they'd done in 18 years.

There would still be that marvelous friendship between natural adversaries, but they would be put in more "socially acceptable" situations.

That idea appealed to ABC, and it ordered 48 seven-minute cartoons for a new Saturday morning "Tom and Jerry" series beginning Sept. 6. Hanna and Barbera are personally involved in the production.

"They're not chasing each other anymore," Barbera says of his old friends. "It used to be that Tom would pick on Jerry at the beginning, which would give Jerry the right to defend himself. Now they work together."

A sample viewing indicates Tom and Jerry haven't lost their charm or their ability to create laughs. Since they don't talk — they never did — the emphasis is on action and sight gags and those crazy things that can only happen in cartoons.

In one of the new cartoons, for instance, Tom and Jerry are on a pirate ship. Their misadventures cause the boat to sink at least five times but come the next scene it's always right back afloat.

"I'm just as enthusiastic about Tom and Jerry as I was 20 years ago," Barbera says.

"Unless people went back and saw the old ones, I don't think they'll know there's a difference."

Farm life changes reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — Food, clothing and shelter may be the three necessities of life but in terms of actual spending, transportation costs may have edged them out for American farm families.

The Agriculture Department's Statistical Research Service plans to publish later this year the results of its detailed study of farm family living costs, its first since 1955. About 2,600 families were interviewed three times to collect the figures.

But the preliminary findings already indicate that substantial changes are in store for the USDA Parity Index — that important indicator of farm well being.

For example, the average farm family of 3.5 persons in 1973 paid out nearly $11,000 in living expenses apart from the business of growing food. That's more than triple the 1955 average paid by the then-average family of 3.8 persons, Agricultural Situation magazine notes this month.

Buying and maintaining vehicles and other transportation added up to $3,100 a year in 1973, near the whole 1955 bill, to make "transportation" the leading expense, ahead of housing, at $2,671; food, at $2,013; clothing, at $647, and medical care, at $624.

Set releases at Hawthornden

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Hawthornden State Hospital will release 250 to 360 patients and transfer 85 employes within the next 30 to 60 days because of budgetary shifts.

Dr. Barry L. Fireman, Hawthornden superintendent, said employes transferred will go to the Division of Mental Retardation "which can afford to pay their salaries."

Highland County Fair scheduled Sept. 2-6

HILLSBORO — First entries for the annual Highland County Fair Sept. 2-6 have begun arriving and final plans for the event are in the making, according to W. G. Wharton, fair board secretary.

About $4,500 worth of painting on buildings has been completed, mowing is being done and roads are being sealed on the fairgrounds, Wharton said.

The deadline for livestock entries is Aug. 27. Entries in most other departments are taken up to opening day. For horse shows and tractor pulls, entries are due prior to show time.

Membership tickets in the Highland County Agricultural Society, priced at $4 each, are now available from fair directors. These admit the holder and his car to all sessions of the fair. They are also available at area banks.

The annual election of directors will be held Thursday, Sept. 4, during the fair. Directors whose terms expire in 1975 include Carey Roberts, Concord Township; Fred Mount, Dodson; Kenneth Baldwin, Madison; Ralph Smith, Marshall; Chester Baldwin, Brushcreek; Wharton, Penn, and Elmer Setty of Hillsboro.

Wharton announced that as a bicentennial feature Carl Swaney of Jackson will bring his ox teams to the fair this year and will appear daily with a covered wagon.

A new set of scales for tractor pull weigh-ins is being installed near the pulling track.

Carol J. Sollars

The YCC is a federally-funded, state supported program designed to introduce students to the natural environment, teach use and management of natural resources and give the student campers an opportunity to expand skills in decision-making processes.

Campers, 15 to 19 years old, come from all over the state and are selected from applications for their expressed interest in conservation and by recommendations from their teachers or high school counselors.

The work program involves campers in a variety of situations such as cutting nature trails, building bridges, providing erosion control measures, erecting trial signs and other conservation work in Shawnee State Forest and surrounding state parks.

The YCC work study program consists of two separate four-week sessions. Campers are paid approximately $200 plus room and board for the four-week period of work.

After work hours, YCC campers have more formal educational instruction in ecological concepts, current natural resource management decision and environmental awareness.

Miss Sollars, as one of the campers at the Shawnee Environmental Resources Center, has taken several trips, including a visit to the Tecumseh outdoor drama in Chillicothe, a Rio Grande canoe trip and tours of the Hueston Woods and Cowan state parks.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Sollars, 1218 High St.

Probe check cashing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The deputy administrator of the Ohio Industrial Commission has ordered an investigation into the cashing of a workmen's compensation check that had been issued to a man by the commission four months after his death.

David B. Godfrey, the deputy administrator, Wednesday ordered an investigation in the issuance Sept. 7, 1973 of a state check to Frank L. Scovill of Cleveland who had died on May 5, 1973. The check was for $992.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer revealed Wednesday that in addition to being issued five months after the man's death, the check was cashed on Feb. 2, 1974 at a Cleveland bank.

The newspaper said the cashed check is endorsed by Scovill's wife, who has since died, and Maurice H. Shapiro, a Cleveland lawyer who handled Scovill's case before the commission.

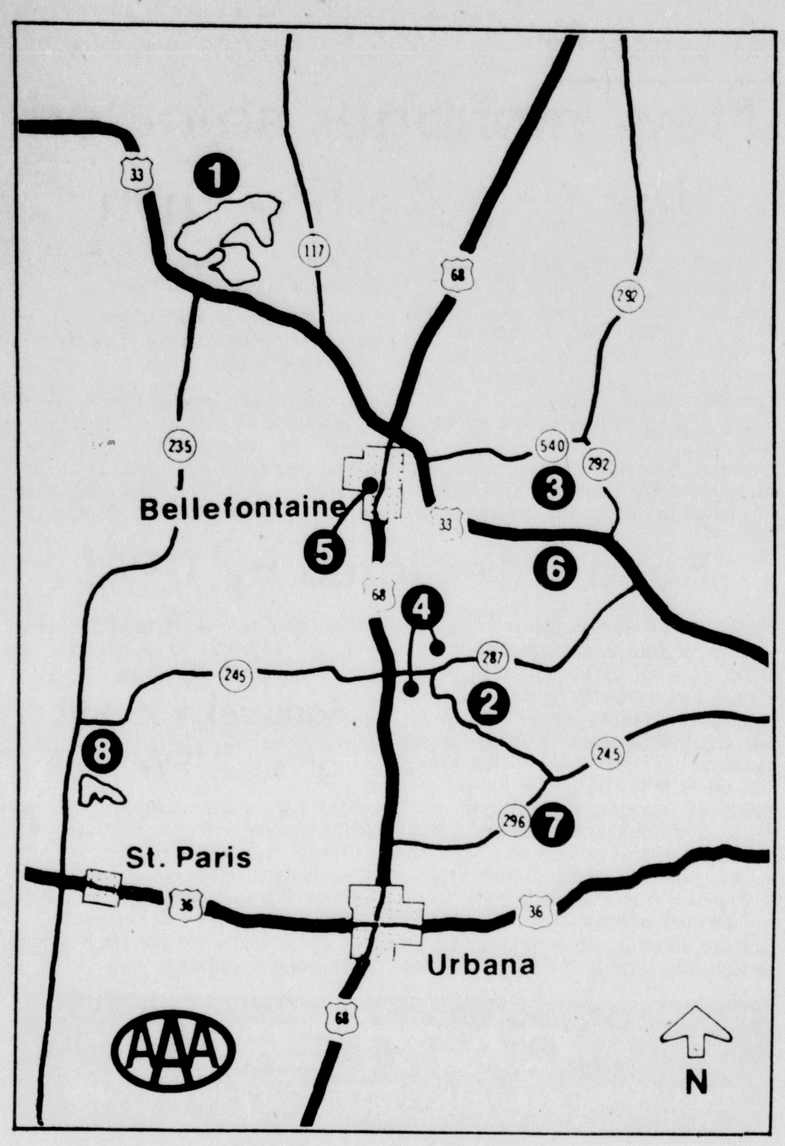
Let's tour Ohio series



Highest point in Ohio

A trip to the highest point in Ohio and a tour of the state's only castles are features of this week's AAA suggested week-end tour in the Bellefontaine, Urbana, St. Paris area.

It's still a good idea to be a "gas watcher" and make "five gallons of gasoline do the work of six." Two of the best ways are through good planning for a trip and exercising good driving habits, according to Fayette County Automobile Club.

Remember to take the entire family, relatives, or your neighbors and friends on this short tour.

BELLEFONTAINE

(1) Indian Lake. One of the state's largest (5,800 acres) has great appeal for water sport enthusiasts, especially boating. The 6,488 acres park has plenty of camping sites and good picnicking facilities. Nearby is amusement park. Near Bellefontaine is the "crown" of Ohio, the state's highest point, located just off US 33 and east of SR 540 and is site of radar installation.

(2) Ohio Caverns, located on SR 245, a few minutes drive from West Liberty. Has striking formations of stalactites and stalagmites. The 35-acre park immediately over the Caverns contains shelter house, rest rooms, picnic tables and amusements for children. An ample supply of pure drinking water (state approved) is provided. Open daily from 9 to 5. Visitors are conducted through the Caverns upon their arrival. There is no addiional fee for guide service, all costs being included in a moderate admission charge.

(3) Zane Caverns. Located on SR 540. Still in "active" growth. Tours through the illuminated caverns descends 132 feet. Hours are 9 to 6. Admission charge. Picnicking, camping and hiking facilities available.

(4) Piatt Castles. Ohio's only castles. Mac-A-Cheek and Mac-O-Chee are a mile apart on SR 245. The oldest castle, Mac-A-Cheek is in the form of a French fortified castle, has 35 rooms on its three floors and a five-story tower. General Piatt had it built from materials found on the estate — hand chiseled of lime burned in the kiln located near the quarry. It took four years to complete the two-foot thick walls. Admission charge.

(5) First Concrete Street. Court House Square, Bellefontaine. A commemorative plaque noting that the first Portland cement concrete street built in the United States was constructed here in 1891.

(6) Valley High Ski Area. Ohio Resorts, Inc. RR 3, Bellefontaine.

URBANA

(7) Hess' Sheep Ranch. The "Brasada Spur", located on SR 296 at Cable, 10 miles northeast of Urbana. Open to visitors every day, 9 till dark. Prize-winning show sheep and angora goats. Sheep shearing demonstration and talk every day except Sunday. Display of sheep by-products. Picnic facilities.

ST. PARIS

(8) Kiser Lake State Park. Offers facilities for picnicking, swimming, fishing and boating. Has hiking trails and nature program.

AAA urges you to drive carefully and suggests this routing to the tour area: From Washington C. H. go to Springfield and take Route 68 north to the points of interest.

Party set for Taft

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)--Nearly 2,500 people have been invited to pay $100 each to sip cocktails at a re-election fundraising party next month in Washington for U.S. Sen. Robert Taft Jr.

It is being coordinated by William M. Hoiles, an aide to former Sen. William B. Saxbe and now a Washington attorney.

The major fundraising effort is the latest proof that Taft — contrary to rumors earlier this year — is serious about seeking re-election in 1976.

He has not yet officially announced, but he has said he intends to be a candidate and a '76 Taft for Senate Committee has been formed in his behalf.

School busing help planned

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The U.S. Justice Department has sent a community relations team to Indianapolis to assist school officials when racial school busing starts next month.

Richard Salen, Midwest regional director of the Community Relations Service, said, "Our agency has helped in most metropolitan areas throughout the country at one time or another during periods of school desegregation."

He said his staff emphasizes the need for contingency planning for what might happen.

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

I am writing in response to the letter of Mr. Merrill Sloan, vice president of the Ohio Water Service Company. In his letter, Mr. Sloan argued against the painting of fire hydrants because they are "color coded" according to specific characteristics of each hydrant.

I have spent the last several days driving through-out Washington C.H., examining the "color coding" of the hydrants. I found that all of the hydrants were painted in the same unsightly colors of yellow and red. Since they are all the same colors, how can there be any such thing as "color coding"?

Perhaps the water company is not able to recognize their hydrants unless they are yellow and red. If this is the case, maybe an 8 x 10 inch sign stating "THIS IS A FIRE HYDRANT" should be installed on each plug in order to further assist them.

The most noisome aspect of the whole incident is that the water company originally commended Tricia Dumford "for doing such a fine job." Next, they turn around and repaint the hydrant. I think Tricia deserves a formal apology from the water company and that she should be allowed to repaint the hydrant.

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

After reading the letters in your column concerning the musical "Godspell" which was presented at the Washington Middle School on August 4, I too, would like to express an opinion.

I attended the musical for several reasons. I wanted to be entertained, I wanted to see a professionally executed theatrical play, and most of all, I wanted to see the good news of Christ presented to the public. I went away completely satisfied in all areas.

In previous letters in your column, several people have said that the musical could have been greatly improved upon. Some of its scenes were referred to as "junk" and it has been accused of not presenting the "Good News" of Christ. I tend to disagree.

First of all, the crucifixion was presented in a slightly different way than usual. But, the agony, suffering, loneliness and physical punishment that Christ went through were presented in a very moving way.

Secondly, the musical was written about nothing but the good news of Christ. The good news that "Godspell" presented was the life story of Christ. His life on earth, his death, his resurrection, and his promise to return. Although the resurrection was not literally shown, it was very much implied. At the climax, the disciples of Christ were shown carrying Christ's body out, into the world, singing, "Long Live God," and "Prepare Ye The Way Of The Lord." This very strongly implies that the God they were representing was not only very much alive, but that he promised a return.

I was only disappointed in one area. That was the number of people who attended. I find it very upsetting when X-rated movies shown at theatres motivate people to raise petitions, but when good entertainment comes to town, very few people are motivated to go support it.

In closing, I would like to thank the Kent Acting & Touring Company for their presentation of "Godspell." I think it was a job well done. Also, Mr. Hank Shaffer should be commended for his devoted effort to make this community a better and more enjoyable place.

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

Webster defines detente as a relaxation of strained international relations, or tensions, by diplomacy. I define detente as an assemblage of the U.S. and one or more nations at which the U.S. always gets "snookered." Now, my friends, you would know the meaning of detente if you just define the word "snookered."

Recently President Ford, on behalf of the American people, signed a document which is probably one of the most shameful ever signed by any American President.

What Mr. Ford has done is to place America's stamp of approval on Russia's Annexation, during World War II, of the Baltic states of Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia, and the theft by military force of 114,000 square miles of territory belonging to Poland, Germany, Finland, Czechoslovakia and Romania with a population of millions.

What did the rest of the world get from Russia? Nothing. They agreed to give three weeks notice of military maneuvers within 156 miles of their European borders. They define what constitutes maneuvers as opposed to ordinary troop movements. They also agreed to "do their best" to allow more freedom of travel and a greater flow of information between East and West.

They obviously have never felt any obligation to abide by human-rights clauses in their own constitution or the United Nation's declaration of Human Rights which they signed. What makes anyone believe they would honor those in the Helsinki agreement, which is not legally binding and would make little difference to the Ruissians if it were?

We must not forget, however, that these diplomatic "victories" would not be possible were it not for our shuttling secretary, Mr. Kissinger.

He must be a man of considerable talents and ability else in the relatively short time available to him he could not have lost for us all our friends in the far east, made great progress toward giving away the Panama Canal, watched carefully while Portugal is being gobbled up by the communists, check carefully the Russian progress in the construction of the huge missile base in Eastern Africa, so antagonized Congress that they would refuse aid to our Turkish ally, made substantial progress toward recognition of red Cuba, caused U.S. to cooperate with the U.N. in their efforts to impose sanctions against our good friends in South Africa, and many other notable "achievements."

I believe it is time Mr. Ford provide himself a new Secretary of State.

By the way, with the aggression, oppression and blood baths going on in Southeast Asia, where are the bleeding hearts we heard so much from just a short while ago? I'm speaking of the Jane Fondas, Ramsey Clarks, George McGoverns etc. Their silence is deafening.

We must quit trusting the international Communists and start electing more men and women to the halls of Congress who are worthy of our respect.

Expert tells legislators

Ohio utility rate law 'offers great benefits'

COLUMBUS — A Columbus attorney has urged Ohio to retain the RCNLD rate law which "over the years has permitted Ohio's utilities to provide excellent service and support economic growth in our state."

In testimony before the House-Senate select committee on energy in Columbus, John R. Jones added, "Without question, I would say that Ohio's law, properly applied, offers the greatest benefits to customers."

Jones has represented consumers, cities and utilities in rate proceedings before the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio and has represented utilities in rate cases in 30 states and provinces. For the last 25 years he has been responsible for the rate cases for the General Telephone and Electronics Corp.

"A mere change in the Ohio rate base law will not result in lower rates to consumers," Jones testified. "The rate order in the end result must be reasonable and adequate, and changes in the rate base undoubtedly have to be compensated for in other aspects of the rate case."

In defending Ohio's law, he provided the committee with a clear explanation of RCNLD (Reconstruction Cost New - Less Depreciation) and compared it with methods used by other states for determining a utilities rate base.

With examples and charts, Jones explained that the cost of reconstructing a utility's property is determined by using accepted price trends for individual items - "a relatively simple procedure."

The amount of depreciation to be deducted also can be pinpointed realistically with mathematical scales, he said.

Jones also told the committee that most commissions using original cost rate bases make some other adjustment in order to produce a sufficient return for utilities.

In addition, original cost rate bases are not nearly so simple as the Committee has been led to believe, Jones told the legislators, refuting testimony of previous witnesses who said the RCNLD formula causes rate case delays.

Instead of changing the law Jones suggested that Ohio should apply its court-tested principles and eliminate regulatory lag, which has had "a disastrous effect on Ohio utilities," leaving them in a "sad state of financial health."

Final arguments set in Kent State trial

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Final arguments were scheduled today in the Kent State damages trial after the judge declined to decide whether the antiwar rally during which 13 students were shot five years ago was broken up illegally.

It was not known whether U.S. District Judge Don J. Young would read his 76 pages of instructions to the jury today, Friday or Monday.

Young denied a plaintiffs' motion for a directed verdict on the rally dispersal, ruling that only the jury could decide whether the Ohio National Guard's crowd control procedures were reasonable.

The judge also denied a related motion to declare that the May 4, 1970, rally that preceded the shootings was proper and legal. Young said the evidence on that issue was in conflict.

The shootings by the guardsmen came on the fourth day of demonstrations sparked by announcement of the U.S. military incursion into Cambodia. Four students were killed and nine wounded.

The victims and their families seek $46 million in damages from 29 present or former state officials and guardsmen. The trial was nearing the end of its 14th week.

Young's ruling came after a pair of closed-door sessions in the morning, first with attorneys in the case and then the jurors.

The lawyers, who emerged ashen-faced and tight-lipped after their session with the judge, refused to disclose the subject of the meeting.

Young then opened court only to declare he was about to do something "I have never had to do in 23 years on the bench." He ordered the courtroom cleared except for the jury and the attorneys.

The judge could be seen addressing the jury from the front of the jury box, and each juror answered an apparent query, but the subject of that exchange remained secret as well.

Man found dead in Lucasville cell

LUCASVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Carroll S. Wears, 37, was found hanged to death in a cell at the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility Wednesday, the Department of Rehabilitation and Correction said.

Wears was serving a life sentence from Knox County for murder, Joseph Ashley, a department spokesman, said. He labeled the death an apparent suicide.

Storms rake wide areas of nation

A flash flood watch went up Wednesday for Mohave County, Ariz., south of the Colorado River, and flash flood and high wind warnings were in effect in southwestern Nevada.

The National Parks Service in Nevada reported some damage at Willow Beach on Lake Mojave, the result of heavy rains, extensive flooding with hail and strong winds.

A possible tornado was reported 14 miles east of Las Vegas, Nev. Authorities said it damaged a trailer and sank a boat.

Other tornadoes before midnight were spotted 10 miles northeast of Verndale, Minn., and near Perham, Minn.

BICENTENNIAL FLAG POLE — All six veterans organizations in Fayette County have contributed to the Veterans Memorial Fund, which is providing the necessary expenses for erecting a 30-foot high flag pole and memorial stone on the front lawn of the Fayette County Historical society's museum. A memorial stone, to be placed at the base of the pole, will read, "Bicentennial flag pole erected by the people of this community in commemoration of all those who served their country during our first two centuries." A wreath will be carved around the flag pole and the bicentennial logo will be carved above the inscription. Pictured filling the foundation for the flag pole are Tom McMurray, Chester Hamulak (standing left), chairman of the Veterans Memorial Fund, and Charles Campbell of Basic Construction Materials Co., which donated the materials for the concrete base.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 22

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Travel under especially beneficient influences. In fact, some exciting circumstances attending a short trip should give you a big lift.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Care needed in routine activites now. Make no drastic changes arbitrarily, and be especially careful about details. There's a tendency to let the mind wander when it shouldn't.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Don't be discouraged if your efforts seem unappreciated. Instead, draw attention to them — but in a subtle manner.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

An excellent day for dealing with superiors, for making them aware of your ultimate goals and expressing your willingness to take on more responsibilities.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Rule out extremes and risky chance-taking. It is sometimes difficult for the Leoite to stress conservatism, but it's a MUST during this somewhat misleading period.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Take a second look before accepting new ideas or unusual propositions. Don't waste time and energy pursuing a will o' the wisp. Be especially careful about financial involvements.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Rationalize, think things out with logic before making important moves. Your seeking, searching mind will permit you to see the essentials — and new opportunities.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Much competition in store! You should revel in most of the challenges offered. A fine day for capitalizing on your gift of salesmanship — of your wares AND yourself!

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Be guided by logic in stress periods. Give anxiety no quarter. Be prepared to cope with some minor obstacles which may appear.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Sturdy effort will see you through this day of mostly variable influences: Some hours may be really "tricky." All challenges should prove interesting, however.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

An appetite for hard work and consistent accuracy will help you break through "impossible" barriers now. Reap harvests happily.

YOU BORN TODAY are extremely versatile. Leoites have attained great heights in politics, the military, literature and industry; also as poets, musicians and painters. You are generous, almost to a fault, are always willing to share your assets with your loved ones; sometimes, however, use this as a "hold" over them in order to get your own way. Don't! You have great pride in all that you do, but it sometimes becomes excessive, so be alert, since the arrogance you display at such times alienates others.

Armstrong to head research

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Former Astronaut Neil Armstrong has been named to head a new medical-engineering institute working on heart-lung machine pumps.

Armstrong, the first man to set foot on the Moon, who plans to remain a professor of aeronautical engineering at the University of Cincinnati, was not available for comment.

The university said, in a release, that the institute was set up between Cincinnati, Purdue and Cincinnati Jewish Hospital to seek graduate students and grants.

Armstrong, Dr. George Rieveschl, vice president of special projects at UC, Dr. Henry Heimlich, director of surgery at Jewish Hosital and Dr. Edward A. Patrick, professor of electrical engineering at Purdue are all associated with the institute.

The four are members of a research team that recently announced an improved pump for heart-lung machines. The pump originally was originally designed by NASA to circulate fluid in the astronauts' spacesuits. It was researched and tested for use in outside-the body heart-lung systems in the Jewish Hospital surgical research unit, the university said.

The project resulted from a $30,000 grant made to Dr. Heimlich and Armstrong by the Corbett Foundation.

Current research is directed toward modifications of the pump and development of portable oxygen systems for victims of emphysema and chronic bronchitis, the university said.

Liz, Dick reconciled

GSTAAD, Switzerland (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton were reported traveling together "somewhere in Switzerland" today after 14 months of divorce and another reconciliation. Burton was quoted as saying they might remarry in Israel.

"They are driving around in Switzerland and are expected to be back here before going to Israel next week," said Miss Taylor's secretary at the home the star maintains in Gstaad to reduce her taxes.

"The reconciliation is confirmed," she added. "They are now driving around together in her car, but I don't know where they are."

Springer said Burton also told him they might remarry during their visit to Israel because "after all, Elizabeth is Jewish."

Miss Taylor converted to Judaism in 1959, between her third and fourth husbands, producer Mike Todd and singer Eddie Fisher, both Jews.

He said the number of licensed facilities operating as of June 30 were 1,608.

Ohio Bell's Telemobile exhibit scheduled here

Design Line decorator phones will highlight the Ohio Bell Telephone Company's 1975 Telemobile exhibit, according to Bruce Galloway, commercial manager of the Washington C.H. office, 334 E. Court St.

The rolling communications show will be open — admission free — at the Washington Square Shopping Center in front of the Buckeye Mart Store, September 2 through 4, from 4 until 9 p.m. each day.

All 10 models of the new "fancy" phones will be displayed in a variety of colors.

"Each of the telephones was designed to meet our customers' changing preferences in phone styling," Galloway explained.

Telemobile-1975 also contains displays on other bright new telephone products, including the Com Key 718 telephone system and a new improved speakerphone.

Developed for small and medium sized business, Com Key 718 has seven lines with 18 extensions and provides music to entertain a caller when the call must be put on hold. It also can be equipped with many optional features associated with more expensive telephone systems.

The new speakerphone has a new, improved sound system, permitting it to be heard in a room with 35 to 40 persons.

Other exhibits include helpful time and money saving telephone tips for consumers and a listing of long distance rates for 10-minute calls to 200 cities.

McBride spoils Norman's birthday

Reed, Cardinals blank Reds

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A healthy Bake McBride is clicking on all cylinders and so are the National League's St. Louis Cardinals.

The fleet McBride, who late in July was batting .255, Wednesday shot his average to .290 and helped the Cards roll past the Cincinnati Reds 4-0 with two home runs.

As satisfying to McBride as the two blows, one inside the park, was the fact that each came off a southpaw pitcher.

"After I was hurt I didn't have my timing," explained McBride, a left-handed hitter who sat out 25 earlier St. Louis games with a pulled shoulder muscle and was later platooned.

"Now that I'm playing every day," he maintained, "I think I can hit anybody."

McBride's proof for his assertion came after diminutive Cincinnati pitcher Fred Norman stopped him twice in a duel with the Cards' Ron Reed, 12-9.

Brock, who had earlier in the game stolen his 45th base, promptly broke for second on Norman's first delivery to McBride.

But instead of taking the pitch, which was a high fast ball, McBride first hesitated and then stroked the ball on a high arc over the right field fence.

"I guessed on that pitch, really," conceded McBride, whose homer was his third of the season and first since May 2.

"The first two times up he threw me a fast ball the first pitch," he said in reference to Norman, 8-4, who was observing his 33rd birthday.

"Then that time I guessed he'd do it again," McBride recalled. "I saw him (Brock) going, but I swung anyway. I hesitated on the swing. I didn't think the ball was going to go out."

Frosting for McBride's cake was applied in the eighth after Will McEnaney had relieved Norman.

On a 2-0 count, McBride drilled a delivery over the head of Reds center fielder Cesar Geronimo and easily circled the bases when the ball bounced off the center field wall back toward the infield.

"I saw the ball hit off the fence. That was when I was rounding second, so I didn't even look back," the long-striding McBride said.

The inside-the-park blast was McBride's second this season and third among nine major league homers he has hit in two seasons.

His blows keyed a nine-hit attack and provided breathing room for the 6-foot-6 Reed, who permitted only four singles and held the Reds hitless after the fourth inning.

San Francisco's Ed Halicki was displaying his knowledge of the Pittsburgh hitters again Wednesday night when they suddenly taught him a thing or two.

"For a young guy, Halicki knows our club very well. His pitching pattern against us is excellent," said winning pitcher Jim Rooker after the Pirates rallied for three runs in the eighth inning and a 3-1 victory over the Giants.

The victory was the Pirates' second in a row — the last time that happened was an Aug. 3 doubleheader — and kept them one game in front of Philadelphia in the National League's East Division. The Phillies defeated the Atlanta Braves 4-1.

Meanwhile, the St. Louis Cardinals remained 2½ games back by blanking the Cincinnati Reds 4-0, the New York Mets dropped five games out by losing to Houston 5-4 in 10 innings and the San Diego Padres outlasted the Montreal Expos 8-6. The Los Angeles Dodgers and the Cubs were rained out in Chicago.

Washington C. H. (O.)

Record-Herald - Page 16

Phillies 4, Braves 1

Greg Luzinski drove in his 100th run of the season with a seventh-inning double and Dave Cash delivered a pair of runscoring singles. Larry Christenson was lifted for a pinch hitter in the seventh after allowing only three Atlanta runners to reach base, two on singles and one on a walk.

Astros 5, Mets 4

Cesar Cedeno led off the 10th inning with a single off rookie Rick Baldwin and scored on Cliff Johnson's hit-and-run double for Bill Virdon's first triumph as manager of the Astros. Johnson hit his 12th home run in the sixth inning.

Padres 8, Expos 6

Enzo Hernandez snapped a 5-5 tie with a a three-run double in the seventh inning and Gene Locklear knocked in four runs, three with his fourth home run of the season.

A's 2, Tigers 1

Pitchers Sonny Siebert and Jim Todd, who were not with the team at the start of the season, combined to pitch a fourhitter and the A's ended Detroit's four-game winning streak.

Siebert allowed three hits in the first five innings to pick up his third victory of the season. Todd blanked the Tigers on one hit over the final four innings for his ninth save of the year.

White Sox 5, Yankees 3

The Yankees dropped to 9-10 under new Manager Billy Martin, the first time they've been under .500 for games Martin has managed.

Chicago's Wilbur Wood, 13-16, broke a personal three-game losing streak with a six-hitter. After Bobby Bonds' three-run homer in the second, Wood surrendered only two more hits the rest of the way.

Royals 3, Red Sox 1

Rookie Dennis Leonard held Boston to six hits and hot-hitting John Mayberry had three hits in Kansas City's victory.

Mayberry stroked the first of his two doubles in the fourth and scored on George Brett's single. After a walk to Tony Solaita, Al Cowens followed with an RBI double. Amos Otis slugged a two-out triple in the fifth and came home on Mayberry's double.

Orioles 3, Twins 2

Ross Grimsley hurled a seven-hitter as the Orioles picked up a game on the Red Sox and now trail Boston by seven games in the AL East.

Dave Duncan scored the Orioles' third run in the ninth when he doubled and came around on Tommy Davis' infield single, which second baseman Rod Carew threw past first for an error.

Softball tourney to benefit American Legion baseball

A benefit softball tournament sponsored by American Legion Baseball will be held Labor Day weekend at Eyman Park.

Proceeds from the slowpitch tourney will go for new uniforms and equipment for the American Legion Post 25 baseball team.

Entry fee for the tourney is $50 with trophies going to the top four finishers and individual trophies for the first and second place teams. There will also be a home run, MVP and "Best Dressed Team" trophies presented.

The drawing will be held at 7 p.m. in Eyman Park Monday.

Umpires are also needed to donate time for the benefit tourney.

Interested teams or umpires should contact Ron Helmick (335-4369), Chester Estep (335-1985) or Bill Haggy (568-4344).

Tournament players golf opens

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — With the spotlight locked on Jack Nicklaus, the fledgling Tournament Players Golf Championship resumed its romance with the big time today on the scenic and sinister Colonial Country Club course.

"We've done everything we can to make this the top golf tournament in the world," proclaimed PGA Czar Deane Beman as the game's elite launched the chase for a $50,000 top prize.

"The condition of the course is impeccable," Beman said, "We consider this as good a test of golf as there is, and this is as great a field as ever assembled."

A purse of $250,000 coupled with the tournament's "designated" status attracted all the superstars for this second running of the touring pros' own championship.

"We're doing all we can to put the ingredients in to make this a major tournament. But these things must stand the test of time," said Beman, who won a new five-year pact as commissioner on the eve of the 72-hole event.

The tournament players want their championship to rank alongside the so-called Big Four of golf — the U.S. and British Opens, the Masters and the PGA.

But when and if it is to obtain such lofty credentials remains a matter of much debate.

The TPC must first earn press and public acceptance, said Beman. But, quipped someone, it could become major overnight if Nicklaus would announce he's setting his sights on sweeping the "Big Five."

Nicklaus, smiling and relaxed and joking with newsmen, said Wednesday the TPC is indeed an important U.S. event but must gain worldwide recognition before becoming truly major.

"It'll happen with time," he said.

The Golden Bear's words carry special clout since he won the inaugural TPC last year at Atlanta and holds more major titles, 16, than any golfer in history.

He captured two of the four jewels in the Grand Slam this year and said a victory here would be more significant than a normal tour triumph.

"I'm the defending champion and I'm playing a golf course I've never won on," he explained. "I'd be kidding you if I said that I'm as high as I was for the PGA, but I'd like very much to win here."

Nicklaus tuned up in Wednesday's pro-am with a three-under-par 67 and predicted that Colonial's 7,190-yard Trinity River layout will yield perhaps five strokes to par for the champion after four rounds.

Johnny Miller, sidelined with a wrist ailment, was the only big name missing as a field of 144 set out in quest of a title that may someday be a historic trophy.

Maxfli team wins 2nd golf title

The Maxfli's tallied 23 points Wednesday in Men's Golf League action at the Washington Country club to easily win the second-round championship.

Wednesday's total gave the champions an eight-week total of 189 points to outdistance the second-place Topflites 159 score.

Country Club Pro Tony Capuana said a new Wednesday Men's Fall League will be starting September 3.

Little League finals set

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Solid pitching by Dion Lowe and his team's outstanding infield defense has put Lakewood, N.J., into the finals of the 1975 Little League baseball championships.

Lowe struck out eight batters while walking only two Wednesday as Lakewood put together an extra-inning rally to defeat Northridge, Calif., 2-0.

Northridge pitcher Craig Stevenson struck out 15 batters and the game was scoreless after the regulation six innings. But the deadlock was broken in the top of the seventh when an error and a hard smash to right field by Scott Schulman put across the winning runs.

Lowe's pitching was augmented by the Lakewood infield, which handled 10 grounders without an error. Northridge committed two errors.

This year's four-day tournament is divided between boys' baseball competition and girls' softball. In the opening softball game Wednesday, Medford, Ore., beat the defending champions from Tampa, Fla., 3-2.

Mason retains title

For the fourth year in a row, Mrs. Carl Mason has won the Women's Washington Country Club Golf Championship.

The fourth consecutive win came at an appropriate time Tuesday as Mrs. Morton celebrated her birthday by shooting a final round 86.

Mrs. Paul Hays, who took second in the championship flight, also shot a final round 86 Tuesday, but Mrs. Mason carded an 89 on Monday compared to Mrs. Hays' 91 to take the title.

Mrs. Max Lawrence and Latricia Robinson tied for the First Flight Championship with 188's for 36 holes. The two will meet in an 18-hole playoff.

Mrs. Loren Noble took Second Flight honors with a 202 total to edge out Mrs. Jack Kellough's 204, and Mrs. Glen Helmick won the Third Flight with a 224.

Varsity Girls meeting

Friday will be the last chance for girls, who are interested in playing volleyball for Miami Trace High School, to tryout for this year's team.

Coach Rita Krammes said 24 prospects attended the first two tryouts this week. The Trace coach will start making cuts next week to get her squad down to 14 girls.

Friday's practice will be held in the high school gymnasium at 10:30 a.m.

Since 1937, when the Belmont Stakes chart first showed the position of horses at the quarter-pole, only one winner has been as far back as fifth at that point. That was High Gun in 1954.

Players fighting for prep grid positions

After the third day of contact drills both Fayette County prep coaches are reporting some interesting fights developing for various positions.

Panther Coach Fred Zechman has been running his teams through passing drills while stressing pass coverage. Zechman said that several players are vying for starting spots in the Panther secondary. Art Schlichter and Bill Hanners are fighting for the safety position while cornerbacks Jeff Ruth, Dan Gifford, Tony Walters and David Creamer vie for the cornerback spots.

DEWEY FOSTER

Ends Mark Stewart and David Thompson should have the split end and tight end positions nailed down.

The Blue Lions elected their captain for the 1975 season Wednesday. Fleet-footed Dewey Foster will lead the Washington squad this year. He was a starter at safety last season, saw some action as a wide receiver and also returned punts and kickoffs. Foster is a senior and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Foster.

Washington has been working on their kicking game and it is reportedly well ahead of last season's. Greg Marti and Kevin Pfeifer share the place kicking chores while Tim O'Flynn will handle the kickoffs.

MT, WSH grid tickets on sale

Miami Trace Panther football fans, who have held season tickets in the past, can purchase tickets Friday from 4 until 6 p.m. at the high school.

Persons, who have not held reserved tickets in past seasons, must wait until next Tuesday or Thursday.

Washington Blue Lion season reserve and box seat tickets will go on sale next week at Mutt's Newsstand.

Fans may purchase tickets starting Monday from 5 p.m. until 9 p.m.

Box seats are priced at $18 and reserve seats at $15 for the six-game home schedule.

Bengals fight to retain jobs

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)— At least nine veterans appeared to be scrambling for their jobs with the Cincinnati Bengals since Coach Paul Brown decreed that all players should be able to play at least two positions.

The Bengals showed no sentiment in the first rookie cuts that saw Cincinnati native Lofell Williams, a wide receiver-running back axed earlier in the week to cut the squad to 54. The Bengals do not have to count two College All Star rookies, Glen Cameron and Marvin Cobb.

Brown must slash 13 players to get down to the 43 limit by mid September.

Going by the two-position rule, veteran offensive guard Pat Matson is again rumored to be in trouble because he cannot play tackle or center. Matson was rumored to be in trouble last season after leading the players association strike.

Other one position veterans include receiver Bruce Coslet, defensive captain Royce Berry, an end who can't play tackle; tackle Steve Chomyszak who can't play end; linebackers Evan Jolitz, Tim Kearny and Al Beauchamp; running backs Doug Dressler and Lenvil Elliott.

Brown, going along with the two-position reasoning, last week had quarterback Ken Anderson kicking off and John Reaves punting.

Brown said the decision was based on the injuries suffered last season and a disappointing 7-7 season.

Williams accepted the cut stoicly. "I understand the situation. The situation is 43" on the roster.

Williams inexperience was against him, the Bengals said. The former All-Ohio High School football star was voted the most valuable player his last two seasons with Virginia Union.

The Bengals drafted him in the ninth round. His name and that of his father are wellknown in southwestern Ohio.

Lofell Williams Sr. is principal of Cincinnati Hughes High School but was more widely known as an AAU boxing coach who took a team on tour in the new African States for the U.S. Department of State during the 1960s.

Big quinella noted

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP)—Latonia reported only one ticket was sold for its largest Big Quinella payoff in two years, $6,815.10.

The unidentified ticket holder picked 5-7 and 5-7 as the first two finishers in the seventh and eighth races.

Browns have poor session

The new coach of the Cleveland Browns began to walk away toward the locker room, to which he had just banished the entire team because of their lackluster practice session Wednesday.

Suddenly, he thought better of it and turned back to Rucker, walking a few paces behind him. The coach said a few soft words to the veteran wide receiver, acquired in a trade with the New England Patriots last January.

Both men flashed smiles and went on, nursing their private thoughts.

Gregg was angry over what he called "the lack of concentration" in Wednesday's practice, only two days before the Browns play the Washington Redskins in the nation's capital.

Walking Wounded to aid Bengals

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — By the end of last season, the locker room of the Cincinnati Bengals could have been renamed Medical Center. The entire backfield was decimated and the linebacking corps had been in shock since Jim LeClair was forced to the football sidelines early in the year.

Looking back, Coach Paul Brown admits that just breaking even at 7-7 was an accomplishment.

"We lost more people with serious injuries than I can remember ever having happened to a team I coached," Brown said. "They really wrecked us."

What happened in the training room and, in some cases on the operating table, is going to be a major factor in how improved the Bengals can be this season.

"The season depends on all those guys that were injured last year. They have to come back for the season to mean something," said Brown, ticking off a list of injured players which included running backs Essex Johnson and Boobie Clark, center Bob Johnson, tackle Vern Holland and linebacker LeClair.

Brown lists Johnson as his principal question mark this season and he almost changed the question mark in the speedster's career to a period before training camp barely began. Johnson, who has been plagued with knee problems after an impressive 1973 showing, was waived by the Bengals, but allowed to return after releasing the Bengals of any obligation should he reinjure his knee.

Johnson is not the only question mark in the Bengals backfield where Clark spent half of last season on the sidelines with a broken forearm. The 1973 rookie sensation has reported to camp in better shape in past years, and Brown is hoping he will be able to return to the form that gained him 988 yards his first year.

There is no question at quarterback, except how deep is the well of talent that Ken Anderson can draw from.

Wide receiver Isaac Curtis was Anderson's favorite target last season, catching 10 touchdown passes in his second year. It was the combination of Anderson to Curtis that provided Bengal fans major excitement after the running game fell apart midway through the season.

Backing Anderson will be John Reaves, who came from Philadelphia in a trade for Stan Walters. Rookies Gary Sheide and Tom Shuman are battling for the No. 3 quarterback slot on the roster.

Brown knew before last season that his star defensive tackle Mike Reid might not be back next year. Reid, however made it official during the offseason, announcing that he would pursue a music career.

The Bengals have also moved to cushion the loss of Reid by re-enlisting the services of Steve Chomyszak who was with the Bengals prior to a year's tour in the World Football League with the Philadelphia Bell.

The Bengals' linebacking corps has been suspect ever since Bill Bergey went to the Philadelphia Eagles, and even Brown admits that "we have to improve in that area."

For upcoming football season

WSHS marching band members practicing 12 hours per day

The Washington Senior High School marching band is currently involved in a week-long band camp designed to either teach the students how to march and play at the same time or to at least maintain a standing position for 12 hours a day.

The band, which has been practicing every day this week through Saturday from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m. with breaks for lunch and dinner, is gearing up its sessions in anticipation for the first Blue Lions football game, Sept. 5 at Madison Plains High School and the first home game, Sept. 12 against Chillicothe.

Band director Dennis Wollam has been called a "perfectionist" by several of his students and is training the band that precision is the most important aspect of a marching band. Wollam, serving his first year at Washington Senior High School, was formerly band director at Westland High School, Columbus, for four years. He replaces Charles Shaffer who resigned.

The 88 members of the band, drill team and majorette corps more than once have found that a step out of place, hesitation in bringing up an instrument, or a note off key will cause all members to repeat the movement.

The band has also scheduled the week of Aug. 25-29 for any additional rehearsals they may need and will be practicing each Thursday from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. during football season. They are taking one day away from their hectic work schedule to attend the Ohio State Fair — but only as an instructional trip to observe the other bands in competition.

Judge fines shoplifters

Two Mount Sterling area men received fines and suspended jail terms on shoplifting charges heard in Washington C. H. Municipal Court Wednesday.

Tony Dunlap, and Paul Smith, both of Rt. 1, Mount Sterling, were arrested July 22 at Seaway, CCC Highway-W. Dunlap was charged with the theft of four packages of lug nuts and a surface level. Smith took four lug nuts.

Both men pleaded guilty to the complaints.

Acting Judge John Case fined each $100 and costs and handed them a suspended 10 day jail term.

Contract offer vote is slated

CEDARVILLE — The union committee of the Morris Bean and Co., with plants in Cedarville and Yellow Springs, will advise striking workers to reject the latest contract proposal offered by the company.

William H. Wakeley, president of Local Union No. 6931, United Steelworkers of America, said a meeting to vote on the "company's final contract offer" will be held at 9 a.m. Saturday in the Blue Moon dance hall in Xenia.

Local Union No. 6931 represents approximately 400 employes of the Morris Bean and Co. The workers have been on strike since April 1.

"The minor changes the company made in its wage and cost of living offers still leaves us far behind other recent contract settlements in this area," said Wakeley following a meeting Wednesday in the federal mediator's office in Dayton.

Several Washington C.H. area residents are employed by the Morris Bean and Co., which manufacturers iron and aluminum castings.

Judges to study Freguson Act

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A three-judge panel has been ordered convened in U.S. District Court to consider the constitutionality of Ohio's Ferguson Act which forbids strikes by public employes.

U.S. District Court Judge Timothy S. Hogan ordered the trial at the request of the International brotherhood of Electrical Workers on behalf of 18 Lebanon, Ohio, city workers fired under the act in December 1974.

Hit-skip probed

A car belonging to Jack Milburn, 604 Belle Aire Place, was struck by a hit-skip driver sometime Wednesday while parked in the alley beside Stop-N-Go, Fayette Center.

Washington C. H. police officers reported slight damage to Milburn's auto and are seeking the driver responsible.

A Frankfort man has been arrested by Washington C. H. police for allegedly passing a bad check in Washington C. H. on February 6.

Washington C. H. police officers reported Roger L. Sever, 33, Frankfort, passed the check valued at $25 at Brownie's Sohio service station, 1104 Columbus Ave. Some 13 letters were sent to Sever informing him the check had bounced, but all the letters had been returned, police officers stated. Sever is presently free on $1,000 bond.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported an incident of vandalism and a personal injury due to a dog bite.

The mailbox, nameplate and newspaper tube were damaged by vandals sometime between 7:30 p.m. Tuesday and 8 a.m. Wednesday at the Eugene Geer residence, 5286 Palmer Rd. Sheriff's deputies are investigating.

Timothy L. Anderson, 10, Milledgeville, was bitten on the right calf by a dog while riding his bike at 7:10 p.m. Wednesday. Deputies reported the youth was treated and released at Fayette Memorial Hospital.

Drug possession charge is filed

A 26-year-old Jeffersonville man is presently incarcerated in Fayette County jail on charges of possession of a hallucinogen and under a private warrant filed against him by a 20-year-old Jeffersonville woman he allegedly assaulted early Thursday.

Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson reported Deputy David L. Souther was dispatched to President's Square Apartments in Jeffersonville at 1 a.m. Thursday to investigate an assault complaint. The man allegedly responsible for the assault Kristen B. Simmermon, had fled the scene but Deputy Souther was able to locate Simmermon driving a car on Main Street in Jeffersonville. Deputy Souther stopped Simmermon and noted he was attempting to conceal something in the auto as he approached. Investigation revealed a pack of cigarettes on the seat, one of which appeared to be a marijuana cigarette.

Simmermon was taken to the Fayette County jail and held in lieu of $2,000 bond. The Sheriff's department did not release the name of the woman assaulted and it is not known whether or not she sought hospital treatment for injuries sustained in the beating.

Gas company seeks boost in wide area

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— The Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. is asking the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio for the same rate hikes for natural gas now being contested by Cincinnati and unincorporated areas of its southwestern Ohio service area.

The application, filed with PUCO Wednesday, would increase revenues for the utility by 19.9 per cent annually. Included in that amount, however, is a request for a $2.4 million or 7.1 per cent emergency increase. The total request would mean an increase in annual revenues for CG&E of $6.7 million.

The utility said the increases are in part an effort to unify rates charged to all customers. Many municipalities negotiate their own rates with CG&E which can appeal to PUCO.

A spokesman said three separate rates are now charged to the 104,019 customers in the 63 municipalities.

Cities and village included in the request were: Aberdeen, Addyston, Amberley Village, Amelia, Arlington Heights, Batavia, Bethel, Blanchester, Blue Ash, Carlisle, Cheviot, Cleves, Deer Park Elmwood Place, Evendale, Fairfield, Forest Park, Franklin, Georgetown, Glendale, Golf Manor, Greenhills, Hamersville, Harrison, Indian Hill, Lebanon, Lincoln Heights, Lockland, Loveland, Madeira and Manchester.

Others named were: Mariemont, Mason, Middletown, Milford, Millville, Monroe Montgomery, Morrow, Mount Healthy, Mount Orab, New Miami, New Richmond, Newtown, North Bend, North College Hill, Norwood, Reading, Ripley, St. Bernard, Seven Mile, Sharonville, Silverton, South Lebanon, Springboro, Springdale, Terrace Park, Trenton, West Union, Williamsburg, Woodlawn and Wyoming.

Dating service ousted by judge

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A dating referral service will have to locate well-matched couples in some other state, a Franklin County judge has ruled.

The company, International Dating Service Inc., operated chiefly in Cleveland, Toledo and Columbus.

Atty. Gen. William J. Brown, who asked that the company be banned from doing business in Ohio, said Wednesday it had not complied with a December 1974 court order to resolve all consumer complaints.
